NINE DIE FROM TWO DAYS' HEAT

Yesterday Was the Hottest This Year and Seven Succumb.

REACHED 89 DEGREES

Temperature Was One Degree Higher Than Wednesday and Many Are Prostrated.

RELIEF COMES TOMORROW

Pittsburgh and vicinity is paying the full penalty for the many cool days experienced in June. Yesterday was the hottest day this year, a maximum temperature of 89 degrees being reached. Seven deaths are reported and many prostrations. The list of deaths for the first two days in July in Allegheny county now number nine.

The average temperature yesterday was 83 degrees, while 76 degrees was the lowest the thermometer registered. This average temperature is an increase of nearly 10 degrees over the average temperatures for the day during the past 31 years. The list of those dead and prostrated from yesterday's heat follows:

The Dead.

JULIUS KUCANER, 68 years of age; died at his home in Glendale; prostrated yesterday afternoon.

MARY WILKINS, 4 months old, died at the home of her parents, No. 167 Thirty-fourth street.

SADIE JACKSON, aged 4 years, child of Peter Jackson of No. 3583 Butler street.

INFANT CHILD of Patrick J. Dougherty of New Homestead, died yesterday morning.

JAMES QUINN, aged 37 years, of Second avenue, at county jail where he was committed Sunday.

MRS. NELLIE CONWAY of Vincent street, found dead in bed at 10 o'clock last night.

The Prostrated.

WILLIAM OEFFNER a painter, of Sixteenth avenue, Homestead, overcome while at work on a high scaffold at the plant of the Mesta Machine Company, West Homestead; fell to the ground and was seriously injured; likely to die.

JAMES LARNED, 32 years, of East McKeesport, overcome while at work on the tracks of the Pittsburgh Railways Company near Hazelwood avenue; will recover.

JOHN SMITH, Henry street, Oakland, driver for Curry Grocery Company, overcome in Monongahela street, Swissvale; will recover.

HARRY MELVIN, a grocer of Walnut street, overcome while riding in a Bellevue car on his way to Avalon; taken to his home, will recover.

UNKNOWN SLAV, aged about 70 years, found in field near Munhall; taken to emergency hospital of Homestead steel works; will die.

The weather man offers no encouragement in the way of relief for today. He predicts a fair day, but it is likely that the hot spell will last throughout the entire day. Showers are predicted for tomorrow, and generally on the Fourth of July it rains some during the day.

Showers were predicted for yesterday, but they failed to materialize. The skies clouded over in the afternoon, and it looked for a while as though rain would fall, but it did not come. The cloudiness of the skies did little to alleviate the sufferings from the intense heat. Unless the rain comes tomorrow the hot spell is likely to be protracted, and the list of deaths from heat in this county may reach serious proportions.

The unknown Italian painter, who died at the West Penn hospital Wednesday night as a result of heat prostration was identified yesterday. He was Paul Bangray, aged 40 years of No. 3206 Mulberry alley. He was stricken at Thirty-fifth and Charlotte streets. He was married, and his wife and children are on their way over to this country.

STORM CAME AFTER HEAT

Loss of Life Resulted from Both Yesterday in Nation's Metropolis.

HURRICANE AND RAIN

People Were Blown About While Trying to Reach Sheltered Places.

MANY WERE PROSTRATED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

New York, July 2.—A terrific storm here today followed a period of intense heat. There were four deaths from the heat and a score or more of prostrations. Already three deaths, directly traceable to the storm, have been reported, and many persons caught in the fury of the wind were injured. At one time the gale blew at the rate of 72 miles an hour in the upper part of New York. Many places were struck by lightning, which played continuously for an hour or more. The dead are:

FANNIE KINSLER, a 6-year-old child frightened by the storm and blinded by the rain, ran directly under a swiftly moving wagon and was killed instantly.

JOHN DOMINICK, a dock laborer, was knocked into the East river by a plank which had been picked up by the wind, and was drowned.

CLARENCE HADDEN, 3-years-old, burned to death by embers of a bonfire blowing upon him.

A great section of the Manhattan field fence was blown down and there was almost a panic among the thousands of men and women who had gathered at the Polo grounds adjoining to witness the New York-St. Louis game. The Polo grounds were flooded with a foot of water and the attention of the officials and police was directed to getting the half panic-stricken baseball enthusiasts to a place of safety.

There were in reality two storms. The Bronx was the first to feel its effects, and the lower portion of that borough suffered most. A wind of extremely high velocity uprooted trees, smashed plate glass windows and blew pedestrians from their footing. Apparently the storm was in two divisions, one advancing down the valley of the Hudson river and the other approaching from Long Island sound, which was torn into a fury by the force of the wind. The two divisions met over the lower Bronx, with dazzling displays of electricity.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Nine prostrations, several of which were serious, resulted from the heat today. Though the weather bureau reported a maximum temperature of 96 degrees, thermometers in the street registered as high as 101½.

NEW CUMBERLAND, W. VA., July 2.—A Polander, who had been employed at the Mack Manufacturing Company's brick works, dropped dead this morning. He was overcome by the heat.

WASHINGTON, PA., July 2.—Mrs. Minnie Jones, wife of T. D. Jones, a prominent Canonsburg resident, early this morning drank laudanum. She was found in an unconscious condition. Physicians were summoned, but little hope for her recovery is entertained. Protracted ill-health and the intense heat are thought to have prompted the deed.

MARIETTA, O., July 2.—When Alonzo West closed his barber shop and went home tonight, he found his young wife prostrate on the floor, cold in death and their small child climbed up in her lap and trying to waken her. She had been dead for an hour and a half, as near as can be learned. She died from apoplexy, brought on by overheat.

A QUARREL IS SAID TO HAVE HASTENED J. O. BROWN'S END

Startling Testimony Expected to Be Shown at the Inquest Will Bear Out Theories Held by Inquisitors.

That Recorder J. O. Brown participated in a violent quarrel a few days before his death is expected to be shown upon the resumption of the coroner's inquest this afternoon. This and other testimony of a sensational character will be developed, if the general expectation of public opinion is fulfilled.

The inquisitors from the start have been working upon the theory that a quarrel took place, and his sudden death is in some way attributed to the consequence of that disagreement. If the theory is established it will be shown that threats had been made against the recorder's life and that he was in constant fear that he would be a victim of slow poisoning, or, perhaps, more violent methods of carrying out the attack upon his life.

The quarrel took place, it is said, within a fortnight before his death. To divulge every startling detail of this alleged ill-feeling is the attempt of the coroner in order to fathom the mystery of his death. Every witness that has been placed upon the stand, except the chemist and medical experts, have been closely questioned as to Brown's state of mind on the eve of his fatal illness. Other witnesses who will be placed on the stand today and next week will tell more of this episode, if all expectations are realized.

Another mystery that is expected to be unraveled is the statement which was dictated to Elias J. John a few days before the recorder's death. A carbon copy of this paper is said to be in the hands of Attorney Clarence Burleigh for future use in the case.

"It is a foregone conclusion that this case will go to court," said one of the physicians, who requested that his name should not be used in an interview until the close of the inquest. "I am surprised that some of the medical men who have been summoned here to testify have been so free with their tongues in talking off the witness stand. When all the testimony is in, evidence will be secured which will justify the jury in holding some one responsible for the death of J. O. Brown."

The hearing this afternoon will not last over two hours and an adjournment will be taken until next week. In the meantime the mass of evidence which has been collected by J. R. P. Brown will be sifted and the important witnesses will be called. The case is not likely to go to the jury until late next week.

CARNEGIE IS BACKING ROSEBERY

The Steelmaster Prepares Plans for British Technological School.

OFFERS TO SUBSCRIBE

[From a Staff Correspondent.]
[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

London, July 2.—Andrew Carnegie's deep interest in the proposed British technical school is made apparent by a telegram received today by a member of the London county council from the American library builder. The telegram came as an acknowledgment of the statement made recently by Lord Rosebery that it was proposed to raise a fund of $1,500,000 for the purpose; that the school would be located in London and that Mr. Carnegie had promised to give it his support in a very substantial manner.

In his telegram today Mr. Carnegie congratulated the council upon the progress that has been made toward the realization of the council's plans and renews his assurance of a liberal contribution.

The recipient of the telegram informs me that complete plans for the proposed school have already been drawn up under Mr. Carnegie's instructions. These plans have been revised several times until they have met Mr. Carnegie's ideas. It is understood that these plans are at the disposal of the county council and that Mr. Carnegie only awaits their formal approval to announce definitely the amount of his subscription.

Mr. Carnegie has not been slow to take advantage of every public and private opportunity to impress upon the British mind that higher technical training is necessary before the British can hope to compete with the United States in the manufacture of machinery and iron and steel products. In this Mr. Carnegie has had the cordial co-operation of Lord Rosebery, who also has taken advantage of many opportunities to impress this fact upon the public. It is due to the united and influential efforts of these gentlemen that the idea which promises fruition in the proposed school has taken hold upon the public and enlisted the support of the London county council.

CAPT. WHITE TO GO.

A Pittsburgh Salvation Army Leader Will Help Take Gospel to Feudists.

CLEVELAND, July 2.—(Special.)—Captain White of Pittsburgh has been selected as one of the detail that the Salvation Army under the direction of Commander Booth Tucker will send into the feud district of Kentucky to hold a series of meetings. The trip will begin at Huntington, W. Va., the last week in August and end at Bristol, Tenn.

During the trip, which is fraught with great personal danger, the usual army uniform of blue will be discarded for khaki suits. Sergeant Galliner of Cincinnati will be sent ahead to prepare the way. A series of meetings will be held at Jackson.

POPE LEO XIII. WAS INDISPOSED YESTERDAY

PARIS, July 2.—The correspondent of the Times at Rome telegraphed to his paper today that he had learned from an authoritative source that the pope was indisposed this morning.

SIR THOMAS' SAILORS SAVE YACHTING PARTY

Timely Action of Baronet Prevents Drowning of Three Women and Two Men.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—Five persons were rescued from a dismasted yacht by Sir Thomas Lipton's crews today after a squall had wrecked their craft, and in the nick of time. Three of the party in the wreck were women. The yacht was the cabin catboat Yankee of New Brunswick, owned by Jacob Ziegler. On board with him were Edward Ewing and Mrs. E. Smith and her two daughters, Edna and Emma, of New York.

The catboat, which was cruising near the Lipton fleet, was carrying a full mainsail, but no attempt was made to lower or reef when the storm clouds gathered. Suddenly the squall swept down and the fury of the wind carried away the mast clean to the deck.

With the force of the squall the sea was broken into a fury. The wreckage hung over the bow of the Yankee, threatening to capsize her. Mrs. Smith and her daughters shrieked and became hysterical, the man aboard saving them with difficulty from falling overboard.

Aboard the Erin, Sir Thomas Lipton, who had been watching the gathering storm, saw the mishap. Sir Thomas ordered the Erin's two launches to the rescue. It was difficult to get alongside the Yankee. Finally a line was made fast to the wrecked yacht and she was towed into the lee of the Erin.

The party were taken off to Sir Thomas' flagship. They were thoroughly drenched and were weak and faint with excitement. Sir Thomas made his impromptu guests welcome. He offered to send them to the Atlantic highlands in a launch when the storm had subsided, but Mr. Ziegler expressed a hope that the Yankee might be saved.

Quickly the Erin's carpenter and some of the crew overhauled the tangle of gear. The splintered mast was hoisted aboard and a new step cut. The stump was dragged out and the mast re-shipped and rigged within half an hour, and the Yankee was enabled to proceed under sail to Camp Lawrence, where the party is stopping.

BODIES BEYOND REACH

Workers at Ill-Fated Hanna Mine Handicapped by Presence of Afterdamp.

HANNA, WYO., July 2.—There was no change in the situation here today. No bodies were recovered and it was given out officially that no more of the victims would be taken from the ill-fated coal mine before tomorrow and probably not for several days, unless the bodies should be found in the main slope. The majority of the bodies are in the entries below No. 15 and cannot be reached at this time.

Great progress was made today in the work of bratticing the entrances and in extending the air shaft to the lower workings. More than 50 experienced miners are working in four-hour shifts.

The danger of another explosion is not entirely passed, for it is known there are large quantities of afterdamp and gases in the numerous entries and if a miner should enter any of these rooms with a lighted lamp an explosion would surely follow.

BARRED FROM OLD NASSAU FOR CHEATING AT EXAMS.

PRINCETON, N. J., July 2.—Eight students who took the entrance examinations to Princeton university last month, have been permanently debarred from admission on account of cheating in the examination. Word has been sent to this effect to the schools where the offense occurred and to the parents of the offenders against Princeton's honor system.

MANILA TO CHAT WITH OYSTER BAY

Pacific Cable to Connect Roosevelt and Taft on the Fourth.

WORK NEARLY DONE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Oyster Bay, July 2.—President Roosevelt is immune from the warfare which the Long Island mosquito brigade is waging against Oyster Bay with especial attention to Sagamore hill. While the insects are fiercely attacking the secret service men stationed at the Roosevelt hospital and are producing painful white bumps on the arms and necks of the other members of his family, the president sits late into the night on the veranda without being molested to any perceptible extent by the mosquitoes. The oldest inhabitants declare the mosquitoes were never before so large and aggressive.

Mr. Samuel Hinckley, an old college friend of the president, lunched with him today. The president is much impressed with the success which has crowned the efforts of the Pacific Commercial Cable Company to complete the trans-Pacific cable by July 4, as it was long ago promised they would. The relations between the government and the company in this great enterprise have been extremely agreeable and effective. The cable wires have been run into Secretary Loeb's office in the executive offices in the village and at a table will sit the telegrapher who will tick off the president's message of greeting to Gov. Taft at Manila on July 4. When Gov. Taft's answer is received President Roosevelt will write another message, one of greeting and congratulation on the completion of the great work, addressed to Clarence Mackay, president of the Pacific Cable Company, who will be at his office in New York. This message will be sent via San Francisco, Honolulu, Manila, Asia and Europe to New York, thus completing a circle of the world before it reaches Mr. Mackay.

COMING TO BE CURED.

Cleveland Business Man, Bitten by Mad Dog, Hastens to Pittsburgh for Treatment.

CLEVELAND, July 2.—(Special.)—S. H. West, a well-known real estate man of Cleveland, hastened to Pittsburgh tonight to be treated at the Pasteur institute. Last Saturday night his pet dog became suddenly unruly and bit him on the hand, inflicting an ugly wound. Then it ran to the street and bit eight other persons, mostly children. A physician examined the wounds and said the dog was not mad.

The animal was killed and Health Officer Friedrich had an expert examine the carcass. Today he pronounced it the first real case of rabies ever seen in Cleveland. The persons who were bitten will all be taken to Pittsburgh for treatment.

CANTON, O., July 2.—The McKinley National Memorial Association is preparing to distribute between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 souvenir certificates to contributors to the memorial fund, those for Ohio now being ready. The certificates will, so far as possible be distributed through the state auxiliaries. October 15 is the time limit set for receiving designs for the memorial.

FATHER SLAIN BY CRAZED SON

Awful Tragedy Resulting from a Case of Smallpox at Canal Dover.

PATIENT SHOT DEAD

DANGER OF AN EPIDEMIC

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Canal Dover, O., July 2.—Dr. James Dickson, 60 years old, a prominent physician of this city, was killed at his home here this afternoon by his son Bert, about 25 years old, and an ex-policeman. Dr. Dickson was under quarantine suffering from smallpox, and the tragedy, coupled with the fact that the son was arrested by officers without being disinfected, has thrown the official circles of the town into the highest pitch of excitement.

Mrs. J. W. Williams escaped from quarantine at Columbus about eight weeks ago and came to visit her father, Dr. James Dickson, at Dover, who claimed that she had fully recovered from the disease. She was later taken back to Columbus under arrest. Dr. Dickson was arrested on a charge of assisting her to escape, and was awaiting trial. About a week ago smallpox developed, and his home was again quarantined.

The son, who was also quarantined, refused to go near the room in which his father lay, and for several days past was badly excited. On one occasion he threatened to kill the attending physician. Tonight his mind suddenly gave way, and arming himself with a revolver he rushed into the sick room and shot his father in the head. Mrs. Dickson rushed to the front door and cried out for assistance. Passing pedestrians were startled at the sound of the shot and the cries, but all remembered that the dwelling was smallpox-infected, and none had the courage to venture near.

Mrs. Dickson then hurried to a telephone in the office and called the police station. Forgetting all precautions of quarantine or danger to the city in entering the house, the police rushed to the scene. Ascending the stairs the men saw Burt standing at the top of the steps, flourishing a revolver and threatening to kill all who came farther. Two of the policemen sprang up the stairs and seized his arm before he could fire. The maniac was quickly overpowered and taken to the city jail. Mrs. Dickson and the officers who made the arrest have been placed in a new quarantine, and the jail cannot be used by the city until it is fumigated. Burt when taken to a cell made no resistance, saying only: "Be good to my mother."

SMITH IN CHARGE

Receiver of United States Shipbuilding Co. Takes Steps to Protect Property.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Ex-Senator James Smith, Jr., receiver of the United States Shipbuilding Company, took formal possession of the affairs today.

"My moves today," said the receiver, "were made with a view to carrying out the orders of the court. I found it necessary to take immediate steps to prevent demoralization with consequent loss.

"My desire is to conserve the interests of the bondholders and keep this great business intact and place it at the earliest possible moment upon a sound financial basis. No interruption in the uniform progress of work is contemplated, as not only would the United States government but also the great maritime and financial interests be injuriously affected by anything that would delay the work of the plants."

DEMOCRATS TO FIND NO ISSUE

Gen. Payne Says That His Housecleaning Will Be Too Thorough.

STARTS ON VACATION

Repetition of Scandal Will Be Made Improbable by Changes in the Regulations.

AUDITOR ESTIMATES DEFICIT

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 2.

"We will investigate every branch of the postoffice department so thoroughly that there will be no room for a congressional investigation or anything left with which to make an issue of the postal scandals in the election," said Postmaster General Payne today on the eve of his departure for the Catskills, where he will spend his Fourth of July as the guest of Mr. Roswell Miller.

"The investigation is not at an end and I do not expect to be able to take my usual summer vacation," continued Mr. Payne. "The work is very difficult and requires examination into a lot of detail which takes up much time."

When asked what steps will be taken to reform the evils which have been disclosed by the postal investigation, Mr. Payne stated: "Of course there will be changes made and new rules as a logical sequence of this investigation. The announcement that an executive order has been issued changing the apportionment of free delivery service and routes from congressional district lines to population and states is somewhat premature. This is doubtless gathered from the fact that now all approved applications will be taken up in regular order."

Mr. Payne was in conference this morning with both Assistant Wynne and Fourth Assistant Bristow. The former will be acting postmaster general until Mr. Payne returns.

Auditor Henry A. Castle, auditor of the postoffice department, gave out an estimate today of the deficit of the postal department which shows that the expenditures exceeded the revenues by $4,617,262 against a deficit of $2,961,170 for the last fiscal year ending June 30, 1902. This deficit is ascribed by the postal authorities to the extensive increase of free rural delivery routes and the extension of the free rural delivery service. But it is likewise acknowledged that a considerable portion of this deficit may be justly ascribed to the frauds, gross over-payment for supplies and other irregularities now being covered by the investigation. There are now 16,600 free rural delivery routes in operation, and the income from these is said to be small as compared with the expenditures.

FOUND MANY DUPES.

Chicago "Banker" Is Arrested on Charge of Selling Lottery Tickets on the Quiet.

CHICAGO, July 2.—(Special.)—L. A. Gourdain, president, cashier, assistant cashier, teller and clerk, all in one, of the "Manhattan Exchange Bank," No. 180 LaSalle street, has been held to the grand jury on the charge of selling lottery tickets. Two thousand dollars a week is the sum the police claim has been taken in by Gourdain lately through a scheme he has of selling alleged oil lands in Louisiana and Texas.

In connection with Gourdain and the bank, the grand jury will investigate the Louisiana Trust Banking Company. Detectives have been secretly inquiring into the methods of the concern for several weeks. It is alleged that the lottery tickets have been issued in the form of certificates of stock in oil lands and that they were sent by express as patent medicine.

CHINESE HEAR OF CHANGES NEEDED IN THEIR COUNTRY

Reform Association of the Celestial Empire Want Local Mongols to Form a Branch and Work for Betterments.

A meeting of about 100 local Chinamen was held yesterday afternoon in the Pittsburgh Masonic hall, Fifth avenue, for the purpose of taking the preliminary steps toward the organization of a Western Pennsylvania branch of the Chinese Empire Reform association. The Celestials were addressed by Prof. Leong Kai Chen, vice president of the association, and Pow Chee, general secretary. Further meetings will be held Saturday and Monday.

The Chinamen accepted the doctrines of the speakers with enthusiasm. Prof. Leong made a spirited address in his native tongue and pointed out where the Chinese government is said to be going to ruin and made a patriotic plea for the Chinese-Americans to use their influence in bettering the condition of the people in their home country.

The Chinese Empire Reform association favors changing the whole fabric of the Chinese government and civil customs. Prof. Leong, however, was not radical in his address. He asked his countrymen to stand for the upbuilding of a civilization which would place a value upon the intercourse with the nations in the occident and the adoption of western commercial and industrial methods. He said great good would follow the adoption of the educational system of the English-speaking countries and in the exercise of a reformed code of civil and criminal jurisprudence.

RACE PROBLEM IS SIMPLIFIED

Booker T. Washington Says Extension of Lynching Zone Makes it National.

TWO BIG LESSONS PRESENTED

Present Trying Period Calls for Ripest Judgment of White and Black—He Considers No Legal Punishment Too Severe for Men of White Class.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, June 2.—Before an immense audience Booker T. Washington, head of the Tuskegee normal school, tonight delivered an address. He said that recent regretable events in connection with the race question went to show that lynch law is not confined to any one section of the country. These events, he said, tend to simplify the race problem by making it national. He appealed to the negro to be calm and to exercise self-control.

Among the other speakers was W. H. Lewis, assistant district attorney of Massachusetts, who was appointed several months ago by President Roosevelt. Mr. Washington said, in part:

"In the present season of anxiety and despair which possesses an element of the race there are two things I wish to say strongly: First, let no man of the race become discouraged or hopeless. There are in this country men who mean to see that justice is meted out to the race. One of these men is Judge Jones of Alabama, to whom more credit should be given for blotting out the infamous system of peonage than to any other man.

A Trying Period.

"Second, let us keep before us the fact that almost without exception every race or nation that has ever got upon its feet has done so through trials and persecution. No one should seek to close his eyes to the fact that the race is progressing through a serious and trying period of development, a period that calls for the use of our ripest thought and sober judgment.

"Let nothing lead us into extremes of utterance or action. It is, in the long run, the race or individual that exercises the most patience, forbearance and self-control in the midst of trying conditions that wins its cause. Let nothing induce you to descend to the level of the mob. In advocating this policy I am not asking that the negro act the coward; we are not cowards. The part we played in defending the flag of our country is sufficient test of our courage.

"The recent outbreaks of the mob emphasized two lessons, one for our race and one for the other citizens of our country north and south; for it is to be noted that the work of the lynchers is not confined to one section of the country. The lesson for us is that we should see to it that no effort be spared to impress on our own people that these crimes should cease. We should let the world know on all proper occasions that we consider no legal punishment too severe for the black or to any race, who outrages a woman.

One Law for All.

"The lesson for the other portion of the nation is to learn that both in the making and in the execution, the same law should be made to apply to the negro as to the white man. There should be meted out equal justice to the black man and the white man. Whenever the nation forgets or is tempted to forget its basic principle, the whole fabric of government for both the white and the black man is threatened with destruction. This is true, whether it relates to conditions in Texas, Indiana or Delaware. It is with a nation as with an individual; whatever we sow, that shall we also reap. If we sow crime we shall reap lawlessness."

SECRETARY ROOT ORDERS INQUIRY

Lyon Glove Contract Will Be Closely Inspected in Search of Fraud.

EXPLANATION IS OFFERED

Congressman Littauer Tells of Circumstances Which Prompted Letter to Lyon in Which Suspicious Phrase Is Used—Criminal Proceedings Barred.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Secretary Root today had a conference with Gen. Humphrey, quartermaster general, and Col. Patten, who has charge of the clothing supplies for the army, regarding the contract for gloves with E. R. Lyon, who, it is claimed, obtained his supply of gloves from the firm of which Representative Littauer of New York is a member. The secretary has directed that an inquiry be made into the whole subject with a view to ascertaining whether any officer made contracts in violation of the statutes and for such other information as may be obtained.

The papers in the matter of allegations about the contract for gloves have been referred to Judge Advocate General Davis, who will examine them to ascertain what action the war department should take. Some allegations have been made that the glove contract was let to Lyon even after a lower bid had been made, but this could not be verified at the department. While one section of the revised statutes prohibits contracts which will inure to the benefit of a member of congress, another section excepts a contract made with a corporation in which the congressman has shares of stock.

Outside the Limitation.

It is said at the war department that no matter what may be the outcome of this matter the statute of limitation will lie against any criminal prosecution, but this will not prevent civil proceedings for the restitution of money involved in the contract.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 2.—Gen. Ludington (retired) today said in reference to the glove contract between the government and Edmond R. Lyon in which the name of Congressman Lucius Littauer has been mentioned:

"I can throw but little light on the matter. The transactions occurred during the busiest part of the war, when I was loaded down with work. The bids were received by the depot quartermaster at Philadelphia and forwarded to my office, where they were opened and awarded to the lowest bidder, except in some cases where it was necessary that the goods should be delivered immediately.

"I know Lyon as a government contractor. Mr. Littauer I know also as a very pleasant and agreeable gentleman. I know also, as did everyone in Washington, that he was a manufacturer of gloves; but, of course, I never knew that he was interested with Mr. Lyon in business or that he had any connection with him."

Littauer's Statement.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., July 2.—Mr. Littauer's attention today was called to the letter which he wrote to Lyon on May 18, 1898, in which he stated:

"Do you think it advisable that I should call on Ludington in reference to any other than the standard gauntlets?"

Mr. Littauer explained that at that time Lyon had demanded the heaviest possible deliveries on the contracts he had placed with Littauer Bros., and they were unable to furnish sufficient quantities. Lyon asked that samples be sent him of any similar gauntlets which Littauer Brothers might have on hand or would be able to produce more rapidly than they could the United States army standard.

In his letter of May 18, Mr. Littauer, after detailing his stock on hand that would be available for such purposes, made the reference to Ludington as quoted. He said that he offered the suggestion in regard to seeing Ludington so that he might be able to explain to the quartermaster general that it would be impossible for his firm to furnish the contractor, Lyon, with a greater quantity of the standard gauntlet and that if the necessities of the government required more they would be compelled to take some substitute article. He never did speak to Gen. Ludington, however, concerning this matter, he declared.

WONDERFUL CURES BY CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Adherents of That Faith Testify to Benefits Received Through Treatment.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, July 2.—Of all the marvelous cures claimed for Christian Science, the one which caused the greatest sensation among the 8,000 persons at the testimony meeting in Mechanics hall last night, was told of by George Sanborn of St. Joseph, Mo., who said that one of his children swallowed an open safety pin, was treated with Christian Science and suffered no ill effects, although the pin remained in the body for 10 weeks.

With a three-minute limit placed on all testimonies, many stories of the cures worked through Christian Science were related. Cures of Bright's disease, rheumatism and other ailments, as well as restoration of eyesights, were narrated. At an overflow meeting in Exhibition hall 2,000 more persons listened to similar accounts of cures. When the presiding officer of the latter meeting requested all who had been cured by Christian Science to stand, two-thirds of the audience rose.

Henry Day of New York declared that he had numerous attacks of rheumatism, and at last the doctors said he had Bright's disease. He asserted that he had been cured through Christian Science. He was able to leave his bed after three treatments. In three weeks he was healed.

Mrs. McKay of Toronto, Canada, told of having a tumor. The physicians pronounced it incurable. Friends urged her to try Christian Science. In three weeks the tumor was entirely removed by Christian Science treatment and without any knife. That was five years ago. Mrs. McKay is between 60 and 70 years old.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., July 2.—Gov. Jelkes of Alabama has taken prompt and vigorous steps to prosecute the parties who participated in the lynching of the negro Driggs at Scottsboro, Ala., Monday night. An armed mob of 50 men marched to the Scottsboro jail and demanded the prisoner. The sheriff refused and drew his pistol. His daughter also ran to his assistance, but fled at the first shot, which was fired by a member of the mob.

The sheriff was wounded five times in the general shooting which followed and the mob secured possession of the keys and secured custody of the negro. They marched him to the outskirts of Scottsboro and hanged him to a telegraph pole. The members of the mob were not disguised and did their work in the boldest manner.

A few days previous to the occurrence Gov. Jelkes had given out an interview referring proudly to the fact that Alabama had not had a lynching in five years and of course when he received notice of the Scottsboro affair he was greatly incensed. He immediately ordered a thorough investigation with the result that five men are already behind the bars of the Scottsboro jail charged with murder.

BARRINGTON HELD.

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—The inquest into the supposed murder of James P. McCann was reopened today, by Coroner Kech, and many witnesses were examined. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of homicide, holding F. Seymour Barrington for the crime. The jury ascribed the death of the man, identified as McCann to knife wounds and gunshot wounds.

Mrs. Jessie McCann testified that her husband and Barrington had gone from the former's home together on the night of June 18, saying they were going to Bonfils. Barrington, she said, made every endeavor later to persuade her not to inquire into her husband's absence. Other testimony developed that Barrington had asked about the bullet holes in the dead man's head, before it was known that there were such bullet holes.

KOUNTZ'S STORY IS SENSATIONAL

SELF-DEFENSE WAS HIS PLEA

Witnesses Corroborated Him in Many Details—Physicians Testified Mrs. Kountz Said She Would Have Husband Fixed—Wife Barred from Court.

Self-defense was the plea of Dr. Walter P. Kountz, when his side of the case in which he is charged with killing John E. Walsh was opened in criminal court yesterday. A number of witnesses gave the dead man a bad reputation for peace and order, and several had heard the contractor make threats against Kountz, while others testified that Mrs. Kountz had threatened him, and even told her physician that she would fix him or have somebody else do so. The defendant's own story was sensational and an interesting resume of family difficulties, Walsh being charged with usurping Mrs. Kountz and driving the husband from the house.

Kountz claimed he shot through fear of Walsh, and after firing the first shot, lost all idea of what was going on until he came back and surrendered. His story was substantiated by other witnesses.

The conduct of Mrs. Kountz was fully developed during the examination and the question of Walsh's reputation for peace and good order dwelt upon by the defense.

Mrs. Kountz Barred Out.

When Dr. Kountz was on the stand at the afternoon session, Mrs. Kountz was endeavoring to gain admission to the court room. She appeared about 3 o'clock and made her way directly to the court room. As she was about to enter Officer Thomas Pender stopped her, and as she seemed determined to go in he placed his arm in front of the door.

"Madam, you can not go in," said Pender.

"But, I am Mrs. Kountz," exclaimed she, haughtily.

"I can not help that," said the officer. "I have had my orders and I must carry them out. I am sorry, but—"

Mrs. Kountz had turned quickly, and with a look of scorn she walked quickly down the corridor, the swish of her silken skirts resounding upon the marble floor.

Mrs. Kountz was attired in the same gown that she wore at the time she first made her appearance in the court room months ago, when she prosecuted Dr. Kountz for non-support. It was of light tan cloth, trimmed with white lace. Beneath a jacket to match she wore a white silk shirtwaist. Her bushy, dark hair was loosely done up and with her light summer straw hat of jaunty effect, she presented an extremely striking appearance.

No One Wanted Her.

Officer Pender said later that he had orders from all of the lawyers in the case to keep Mrs. Kountz from the court room.

The prosecution finished its case very rapidly after the morning session opened. Louis Huchel, a deputy coroner, testified to the bullet that was taken from Walsh's body. Sergt. Calvin Barclay of No. 4 police station told of the search he made when Kountz was brought in. He found no cartridges on him.

In opening for the defense Clarence Burleigh said they would ask for an acquittal. He said Dr. Kountz had not violated any law and had shot in self-defense. Giving a sketch of the married life of the Kountz couple he said Kountz suspected his wife from March 21. He found Walsh and Mrs. Kountz in a room on that date. He declared that after Kountz had left the Walsh house he went back, on hearing that Mrs. Kountz was ill, and Walsh put him out, threatening to shoot him if he returned. On another occasion Mrs. Kountz chased him with a revolver. On the night of the shooting when he met Walsh and Mrs. Kountz, the latter said: "Here he is," and Walsh said: "Now, you ——," and reached for his hip pocket. Then the shooting followed.

Dr. Kountz was put on the stand at once. He said he is 26 years old. He married Mrs. Kountz on June 7, 1902, at Hot Springs, Ark. They came to Pittsburgh and lived at the Beechwood hotel. On February 25 last they took a room at Walsh's house. On March 21 Kountz went home with his brother, Herbert. He found Walsh in his room talking to Mrs. Kountz. Walsh left the room. He accused his wife of being intimate with Walsh. She answered that she had married him to work him, and would kill him or have some one else do it. He left the house. His wife, he said, always carried a revolver.

Policeman in the Room.

The next day Kountz went to the house and found his wife in bed. He went again the following day, March 23. Dr. Rex was there. Mrs. Kountz's room was locked, and when Kountz finally got in he found his wife in bed and a policeman, whom he had seen going upstairs a few minutes before, sitting in the room. Walsh came in, said Mrs. Kountz was his wife, ordered him out and said he would kill him if he did not stay away. Walsh took hold of him, but he broke away and went down stairs. As he left the house Walsh said he would kill him if he came back. The policeman told him he had better stay away, as Walsh was a dangerous man.

The next day Kountz talked to Walsh at Sixth avenue and Wood street about getting his clothes from the house. He went after them that evening with a brother-in-law, and Walsh told him to send his brother or mother for them. March 31 he got a note from his wife and on account of that took Dr. Gardner to the house to see Mrs. Kountz. The latter took a revolver from under her pillow, got out of bed and pointed it at him. He left at once.

On May 9 Kountz said he came home from Wellsburg, W. Va. He took supper in town and went to his room in Forbes street. He left there at 7:30 to go to his parents' home in Wilkinsburg. He walked out Forbes street and up Northumberland avenue. He said he walked past the house because he could not help it; he loved his wife and wanted to see her.

Story of the Killing.

As Kountz walked along the street he ard some one say: "Oh, there he is." looked up and saw Walsh and his e. Walsh said: "You ——" and ched into his hip pocket. Kountz then ed his revolver and fired as fast as could. He did not know how many es he fired; he ran and hid behind the le tree because he was afraid of Walsh d his wife. He declared he shot to e his own life, and had carried a re- lver from March 22 because he had been d Walsh was a dangerous man. Mr. kson and Mr. Lobinger had told him lsh had been in court for beating two h with a monkey wrench, and the po- man had told him that Walsh was a gerous man.

c. Haymaker opened the cross-exami- ion and spent some time on questions t the early acquaintance of Kountz his wife, their marriage and removal Pittsburgh. This closed the morning sion, with Kountz still on the stand. the afternoon session Mr. Haymaker umed his cross-examination of Dr. ntz, and had the witness repeat a great deal of his testimony in chief. In reply to questions he said with his brother Herbert they saw Walsh sitting at the bedside of Mrs. Kountz.

"I accused her of being intimate with Walsh," he said, "and she denied it, and became angry. That was the first quarrel I had with her, although before that I suspected her of intimacy with Walsh. She manifested her affection for Wash by not caring for me. She seemed to care everything for him and would do anything for him. On these facts I based my suspicions.

No Place for Him.

"Walsh had passed out of the room when I accused her. I left the Walsh house because I did not think it the place for either my wife or me to stay. I called that night to take her to a hospital."

Kountz said he called again on her on Sunday to take her to a hospital. He said he didn't know what was the matter with her but had been told by the physician that it was inflammation. On Monday he called again and Walsh asked him in a boisterous manner what he wanted there. He replied he wanted to take "Margaret" to a hospital and Walsh replied: "She is not your wife; she's my wife. I'll take care of her. Get out of here instantly or I'll kill you." This, the witness said, was the first outbreak with Walsh.

Kountz said Walsh had told him three times he would kill him.

The examination then entered upon the court proceedings wherein Kountz was sued for desertion by his wife. The testimony was admitted after being objected to by the defense, and Kountz stated he had been ordered to pay his wife $5 a week. During the discussion Mr. Haymaker said they proposed showing Mrs. Kountz had been directed by the court to remain at the Walsh house, which would account for her presence there.

Obeyed the Court's Order.

March 31, Kountz said, was the last day he saw his wife, until he saw her in court in April. Then he had tendered her money, which she refused. He said he had paid according to the court's order every Monday morning.

Kountz said he had driven past the Walsh house several times during the separation, but the night of the shooting was the first time he walked past.

Kountz was asked if he had not replied after the shooting to a question asked by Charles Johnston, why he had done it: "I did not know why I shot them. I had to do it. I could not help it." Kountz said he could not remember saying that and replied "No, sir," to the question.

Kountz was asked if he had not said: "I'll hang for it," and he answered, "No, sir."

Dr. E. R. Gardner, a physician with an office in the Park building, testified that he went with Dr. Kountz to attend Mrs. Kountz professionally at the Walsh house, on or about the 31st of March. When they reached her bedroom Kountz, he said, told her he had brought the physician to attend her, and she replied she had Dr. Moyer for a physician.

A Wife's Loving Greeting.

Kountz then said, "Margaret, here is some money," and was about to lay it on the mantel. She replied she had all the money she wanted, and then jumped out of bed, holding a revolver and saying: "You G—— —— ——." She was very angry, the physician said.

On cross-examination he said she had opportunity to shoot if she wanted to before Kountz left the room, but she didn't.

Dr. Irwin J. Moyer, who was attending Mrs. Kountz, was called and testified he had been talking to her and she told him about Kountz offering her money and about drawing a revolver from under her pillow. She added, he said, she would be ready for her husband any time he came and that she would have him fixed, or something to that effect.

Herbert Kountz, secretary of the Columbia Bridge Company, and a brother of the prisoner, corroborated his brother's testimony and said that when they visited Mrs. Kountz's room and she was accused of intimacy, she said she had married "to work" him and would shoot him or have him put out of the way.

On March 23 he went with his brother to the house again, and on that date Kountz, he said, was ordered from the house with threats by Walsh. The witness had also been ordered out, and when on the sidewalk, the prisoner told the policeman that Walsh "was trying to keep him from his wife," and the policeman warned him that Walsh was a dangerous man. The witness said he advised his brother to be careful of Walsh.

Walsh Refused Admittance.

John H. Griffiths, a brother-in-law of the accused, testified he had gone with Kountz to the Walsh house to get the latter's clothes, and had been refused admittance by Walsh, who shook his fist and said he would fix Kountz.

Michael Noolan, John W. Harger, Owen McMahon, Edward Noon, W. H. Woods and Charles Barrymore, were called as character witnesses and said Walsh's reputation for peace and good order was not good. They detailed stories of his conduct with themselves and others.

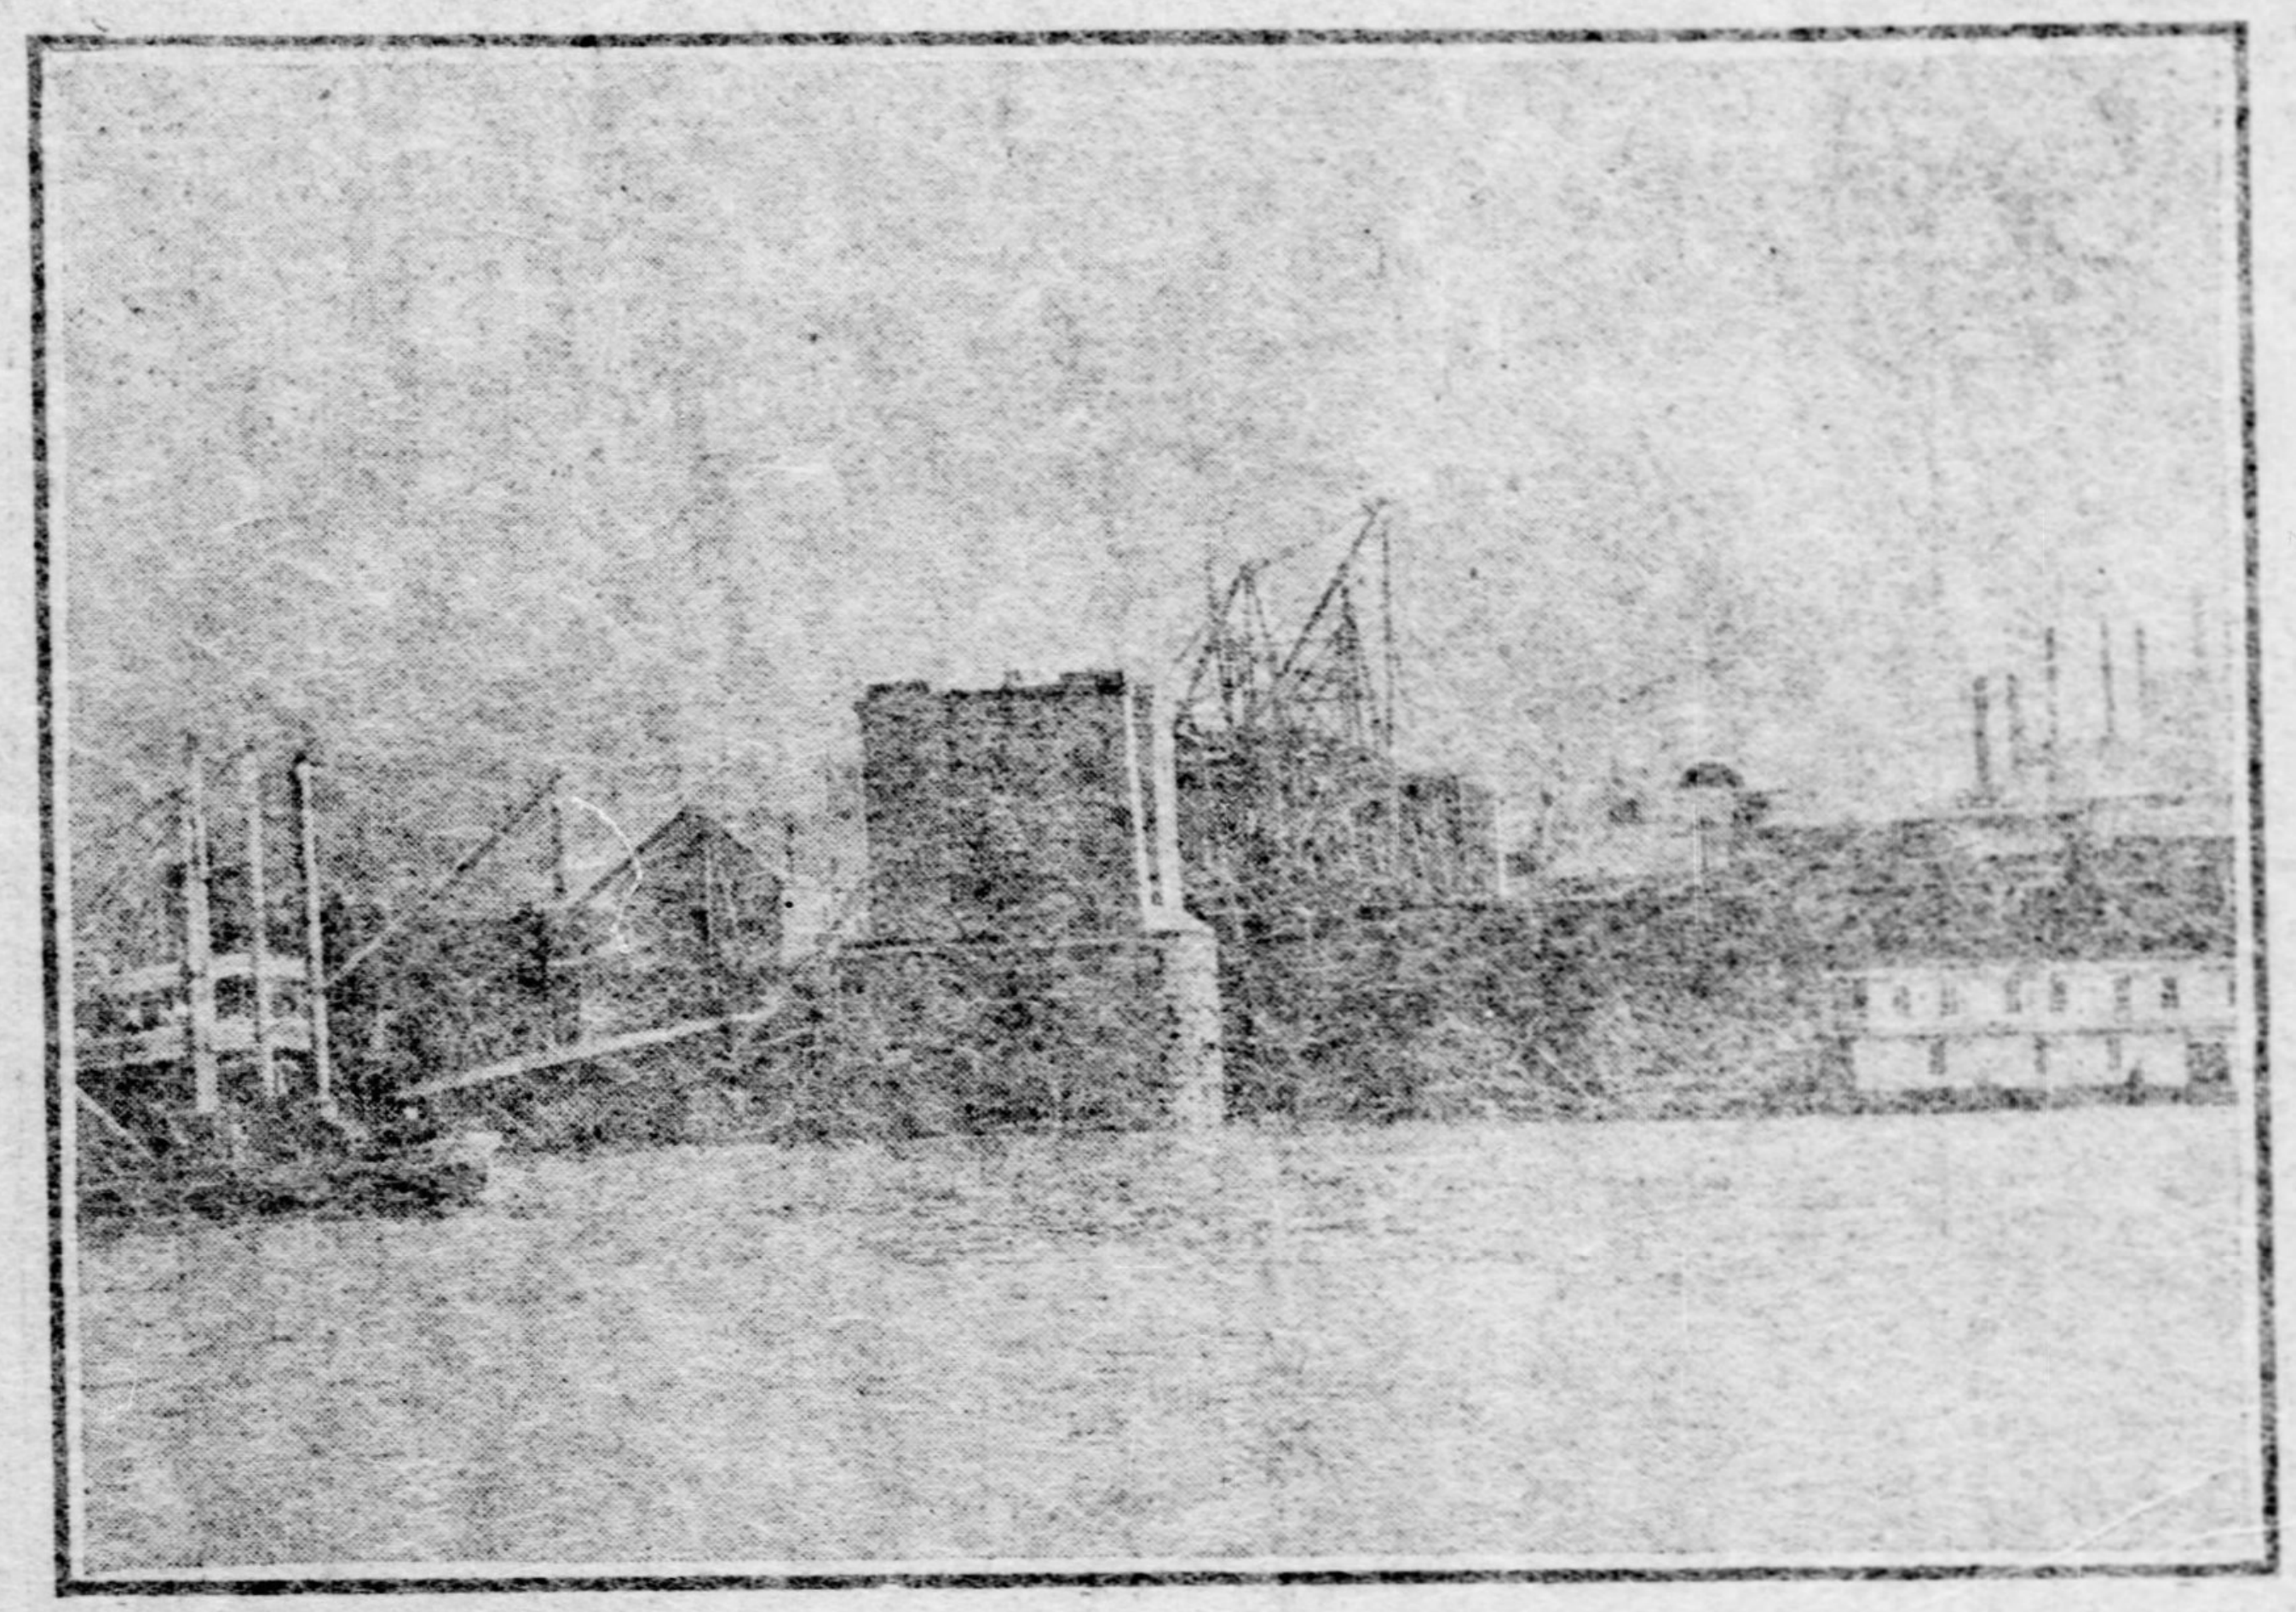
At this point the defense closed its case and the state called several witnesses in rebuttal.

W. H. Voscamp and Charles Johnston were called and said after the shooting they had heard Kountz say: "I did the shooting, but I could not help it."

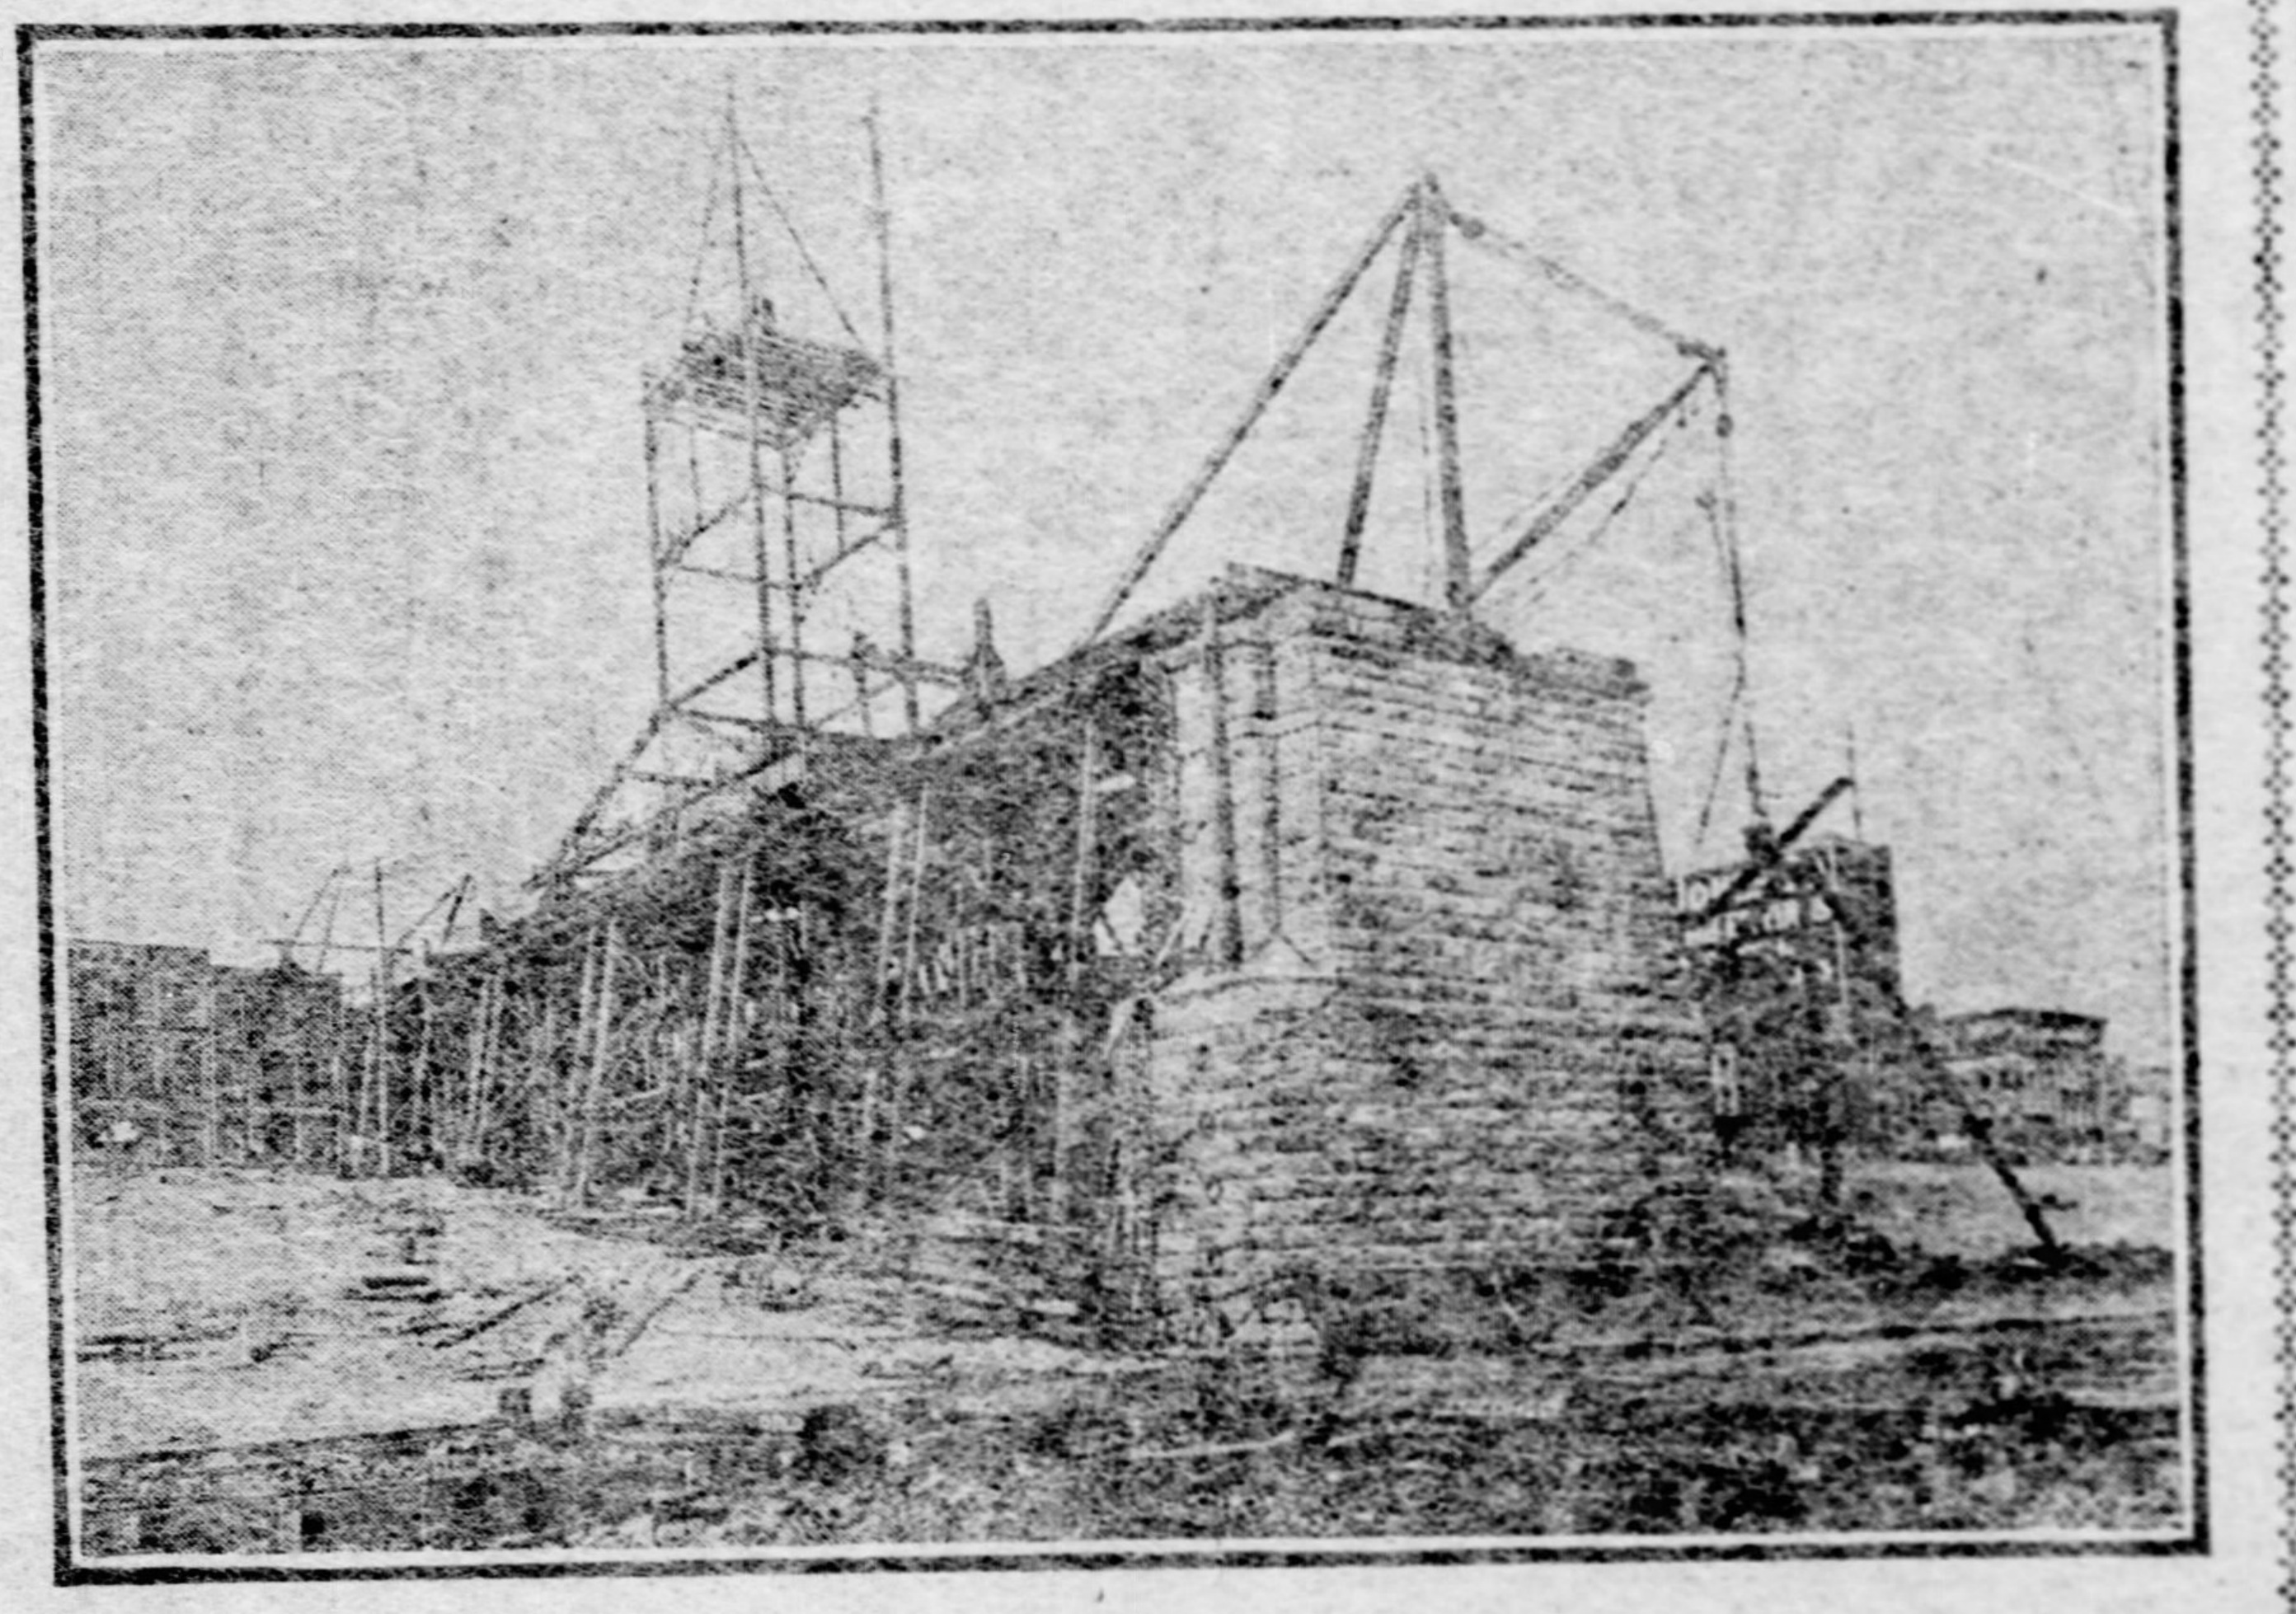
Johnston nodded his head in assent when asked if he had heard Kountz say: "I guess I'll hang for it."

W. F. Walsh was called and testified he searched his brother's clothing about an hour after the shooting and found no weapon.

WABASH BRIDGE BEGINS TO TAKE SEMBLANCE OF GREAT CANTILEVER STRUCTURE IT WILL BE



The South Channel Pier, Looking Toward Mt. Washington.



The North Channel Pier, Showing Much Progress.

RAPID WORK WATCHED BY SCORES ALL DAY

The work on the Wabash bridge across the Monongahela river has reached a stage at which it becomes interesting to sightseers. While for over a year the men building that structure were at work under the ground putting in the massive piers there was little to see, but now that the structural material has arrived and the actual bridge construction is going ahead there are to be found at every hour of the day scores watching the skilled workmen putting together the big bridge.

The picture shows the "traveler," or traveling crane, by which the steel that is to span the channel of the Monongahela will be lowered into place. The building of a cantilever bridge is at all times a difficult task, but the immense size of the bridge—about 1,700 feet long—makes it still more difficult. There is but one cantilever bridge in the world so long—the one over the Firth of Forth, in Scotland.

It is said on excellent authority that there is no reason why the bridge should not be ready for traffic late this fall. The steel is practically all rolled, the tedious work on the substructure is completed, and the false work for the superstructure is most all in place. It is now merely a matter of putting the great steel beams together.

The other big bridge of the Wabash extension, the one across the Ohio river at Mingo Junction, has made just about the same progress as this one and will be ready at the same time. It is also of the cantilever pattern, but not so long as the Monongahela bridge.

STREET RAILWAYS WERE INSPECTED

A Tour Made of the Lines Between McKeesport and Connellsville Yesterday.

A party of Pittsburghers and eastern capitalists interested in street railway transportation made a tour of inspection of the Pittsburgh, McKeesport and Connellsville system, which has just been completed. In the party were E. C. Converse, former president of the National Tube Company and now a director of the United States Steel Corporation; Alfred Jaretzki, of Sullivan & Cromwell, New York; J. S. Kuhn, president of the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings; W. S. Kuhn Thomas Elliott, the general manager.

The party was well pleased with the progress that has been made in connecting up the links of the system and particularly with the monster power house at Connellsville, which is one of the most complete and modern power plants in the country.

The improvements that were recommended and on which work will be commenced at once include the construction of a large number of switches and turnouts to provide for the operation of more cars and the erection of a number of substations on the divisions. Several sites between Scottdale and Uniontown, on one or two of which it is proposed to construct parks, were also inspected.

The Dawson division is now in operation as far as Vanderbilt, and the complete division will be finished in a short time. The road from Connellsville to Uniontown has been entirely completed and is in operation.

Between Everson and Scottdale all that is lacking completion is a bridge at Leuffer. It will be completed this month and this will couple up the entire system of about 100 miles.

FRIGHTENED LABORERS STRUCK FOR A RAISE

Falling Floor of Two Theaters Being Remodeled Endangered Their Lives.

A floor fell in shortly before 10 o'clock last night in the space between the Avenue and the New Grand theaters. A beam used to support the floor gave way while about 60 Italians were working underneath. The fall of the floor hurt no one, but the Italians rushed out into Diamond street and refused to go back to work. The foreman for the contractors, Lanahan, Cochran & Miller, requested them to do so, but they demanded $2 instead of $1.50 a day to go in again. This was refused them and finally all but 15 went back to work. The 15 held out for $2 a day and refused to work. They were told positively that they would not receive this and they stood about the entrance of the theaters in Diamond street and blocked the work of removing the debris for the widening of the street. Two policemen had to be called to send the Italians away.

INQUEST POSTPONED FOR SIXTH TIME

For the sixth time the inquest into the death of Frederick R. Collins, who was found dead at Center avenue and Alliquippa street on April 7, was postponed yesterday by Coroner McGeary. The continuation, as on the previous occasions, was on account of the absence of witnesses. Three of the witnesses who were to have appeared were in New York yesterday. The inquest will be held some day this [illegible]

VIGLAINTE BROUGHT BACK FROM NEW YORK

Joseph Viglainte, charged with absconding six weeks ago with $275 belonging to E. De Rigo, a wholesale grocer at No. 559 [illegible] avenue, by whom he had been employed, was brought back from New York yesterday by Constable W. J. Norris of Alderman McMasters' office. Viglainte made a hot legal fight to prevent being extradited, but was defeated in the New York courts. He was committed to jail in default of bail.

Will Build $8,000 Parsonage.

The congregation of the First Presbyterian church, Library street, Braddock, of which the Rev. William C. Reagle is pastor, at its special congregational meeting last night, decided to build a parsonage to cost $8,000. A three-story brick and stone building of 10 rooms will be erected. This is the congregation to which Mr. Schwab gave $22,000 two years ago, thereby freeing it from debt.

Big P. R. R. Atlantic City Crowd.

The Pennsylvania railroad sent out of Pittsburgh yesterday the first of its seashore excursions. The large addition to the regular traffic was noticeable all day long. In the evening when the Pullman cars of the excursionists were sent out the crowd at the station was particularly noticeable. About 1,000 persons took advantage of the rate. The tickets are good for 15 days and allow a Philadelphia stop off on the return.

THREE MEN INJURED IN ALLEGHENY FIRE

Pennsylvania Car Wheel Works in Preble Avenue Are Badly Scorched.

Fire in the Pennsylvania car wheel works, Preble avenue, Allegheny, did $20,000 damage and injured three men yesterday afternoon. The victims are:

JOHN F. HOY, chemist, burned about the hands and face by an explosion of chemicals in the laboratory caused by the fire.

JOHN BRENTON, watchman, burned about the face and hands, and beard burned off.

CHARLES SCOTT, foreman of the cupola department, overcome by heat while assisting the company's fire department. He was carried to the office, where he soon recovered.

Hoy had a narrow escape from death. The flames had cut off his exit by the stairway and he was compelled to jump from a second-story window.

The fire broke out about 4 o'clock in the charging department. The company's fire corps went to work, but the blaze communicated with the other rooms and an alarm was turned in from box No. 12. When Superintendent J. K. Hunter arrived he sent in another alarm. The fire was gaining headway, as the building is some distance back from the street and the firemen had difficulty getting water to it. The fire almost totally destroyed the laboratory and charging room, but was kept from the power plant, valued at about $500,000.

Superintendent W. E. Conley last night estimated the loss at $20,000, covered by insurance. The plant is owned and operated by the Pressed Steel Car Company. A number of men will be thrown out of employment for several days.

The street car line was tied up for two hours by the fire.

BIGELOW SAYS HE IS BOUND TO WIN

Scrappy Time Certain Tonight When Committee Takes Up Duquesne Way Bill.

DIRECTOR HAS A MAJORITY

Claims Most of the Citizens and Republican Members Have Adopted His Views—Stevenson Declares He Will Keep Up Fight to Last.

"They are all coming around to my way of thinking. The Duquesne way railroad ordinance will be put in shape by the corporations committee tomorrow night in the form that I have suggested, and will be ready to go to councils next week," said Director E. M. Bigelow yesterday.

"There are no differences between Mayor Hays and myself. We are perfectly agreed as to what amendments should be made," he continued.

"The corporations committee will not insert either the compensation clause or the amendment giving other companies the right to use the Pennsylvania's tracks along Duquesne way. The additional amendments mentioned in The Gazette will be made to the ordinance, but the committee will be against both of the other propositions."

Although Director Bigelow predicts that the Duquesne way ordinance will go through the corporations committee in the form that he desires, the indications are that there will be a very scrappy time at tonight's session. The members of the Hays-Stevenson faction are loading up with ammunition and preparing to make a very hard fight.

To all appearances, however, Director Bigelow has the best of it, for he will have a majority of the Citizens members of the committee at his back, and also probably a majority of the Republican members of select council. About the only members known to be pronounced in favor of a cash compensation and of the use of the elevated line by competing companies are W. H. Stevenson, Gebhardt Sahner and W. C. Reitz. George W. McNeil, chairman of the committee, favors compensation, but not the use of the road by competing lines. John A. Murphy of select council holds similar views.

Director Bigelow counts upon the support of the majority of the Republican members of the committee from select council and the following Citizens members from common council: John J. Hughes, Joseph Zeuger, Jacob Schuck, D. F. Crawford, Christian Beckert, Jr., D. J. Bole and W. H. Barker.

W. H. Stevenson said yesterday that he believed it would take several meetings of the committee to hear all the parties interested.

John A. Murphy expressed the opinion that Mayor Hays' influence would be quietly used in favor of compensation, and that if the ordinance did not contain a compensation clause he believed the mayor would veto it.

W. C. Reitz had a talk with Mayor Hays yesterday and afterwards stated that the fight for compensation would be kept up. He said that the Citizens councilmen were bound to exact compensation for the franchise to keep their pledges to the people.

CROWDED TENEMENTS ARE TO BE ABOLISHED

Director Moore Promises to Eradicate the Plague-Spots All Over the City—Will Enforce the Law.

Hundreds of foreigners in the downtown, Penn avenue, South Side and other districts of the city will be forced to find new homes in a few weeks, when Director Harry Moore's ordinance providing for the appointment of two tenement house inspectors is favorably acted upon by councils.

"I intend to enforce the state law to the letter," he said yesterday, "and every overcrowded house will be cleared out and the occupants compelled to find more room to live in. These houses are in almost every section of the city, more especially in the Hill district, out Penn avenue, on the South Side, and out Second avenue. There will be no such thing as a person renting four or five rooms and sub-letting to several families. I do not think it will be a hardship on families which will have to move. It will be for their benefit, although it may cost them more to live hereafter.

"These people are of the class that spend very little to live, and they huddle together like sheep. A week or so ago we found 23 persons living in five rooms. We took a diphtheria patient from one of these rooms that had eight occupants.

"Most of the smallpox is due to such conditions. These people will not report smallpox, for they fear the health officer will quarantine their houses and shut them up. The majority of them never have a doctor and they breed disease and spread it in all directions. The law provides regulations for light, ventilation, sewerage and other sanitary requirements.

"I think, though, that the most of the evil is due to overcrowding tenements, and I propose to scatter these people as soon as councils give me the inspectors."

Mr. Carnegie, who has been trying to give Pittsburgh a $5,000,000 technical school, is naturally interested in the London project to establish a school for higher technical education in England at a cost of $1,500,000. He has agreed to contribute. If the school suits him he might be induced to double its endowment. And it may be said that Mr. Carnegie's appreciation of the value of technical education is of the same piece as the business acumen that enabled him to accumulate his fortune. The future of industry is largely bound up in technical training, and England and the United States cannot afford to yield to Germany superiority in the field of technical education.

While the Pennsylvania railroad ordinance is being held up at the imminent risk of compelling the company to spend its money for an additional terminal above Eleventh street and a retention of the tracks in Liberty avenue, it is gratifying to note that select council is to proceed at once with the consideration of the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances, thus giving that company an opportunity to utilize the good building weather. This is a case, too, where the compensation is not all it should be, but because it is an extension of a right previously acquired and because the improvement will be of advantage to the city as well as the railroad the compensation offered is accepted. It is at least a decided step in advance. In the case of the Pennsylvania the compensation offered in the form of the freedom of downtown streets from obstruction is greater, proportionately, than the cash rental to be paid by the Baltimore & Ohio.

We are of the opinion that Russia is unduly sensitive in resenting the transmission of a mere petition of American citizens affecting the horrible massacre at Kishineff. The decision of the president to send that petition through official channels is neither an interference in Russia's internal affairs nor a demand for reforms. We suspect the sensitiveness of the Russian bureaucracy on this subject is only a cover for soreness caused by the protest of the United States against a Russian attempt to forestall an "open door" in Manchuria. American friendship for Russia has not cooled, but Russia can easily take a course that will lose the confidence of the American people in its disinterested motives and convince them that humanitarianism has no place in the Russian code.

Director Harry Moore gives assurance that as soon as the ordinances are passed authorizing the appointment of tenement house inspectors, under the recent act of the legislature, he will begin a systematic cleaning out of the plague spots. This is good policy. The result may compel some of the dwellers in the tenement districts to pay a few dollars more in rents, but it will be for their decided benefit. Director Moore truly says the crowded tenements are breeders of pestilence and it will be vastly better for those who dwell in them to be forced to pay their money for rent of more comfortable quarters than for doctor, drug and funeral bills. At the same time it is the duty of the city to put an end to the greatest pestilence of all, typhoid fever, by giving all of the people, rich and poor, a pure water supply. Speed filtration and clean out the foul tenements.

The news from Honolulu that the last section of the Commercial Pacific Company's cable has been laid has attracted no special attention since cable construction has become so common, but it is well worthy of celebration as the most difficult enterprise of the kind ever accomplished. The route followed traverses the greatest and deepest expanses of water on the globe. The cable directly connects the United States with Hawaii, Guam and the Philippines, heretofore reached only by cabling around the world the reverse way, across the Atlantic, through the Mediterranean, the Suez canal, the Indian ocean and the Chinese sea. The rate was $2 35 a word, and the national government has had to pay as much as $400,000 a year for the transmission of its messages. The Commercial Pacific is restricted by its charter to $1 a word from San Francisco to Manila or China and 50 cents to Honolulu, the last-mentioned rate to be reduced to 35 cents in two years.

Although the Iowa tariff plank was prepared by Senator Allison, it is known that it was originally drafted by Gov. Cummins and was toned down a bit by Senator Allison after repeated conferences with Gov. Cummins and other party leaders. It may therefore be regarded as being as conservative an expression of the Iowa idea as was possible in view of Gov. Cummins' determined support of it. Congressmen Cousins and Lacey in their convention speeches both declared themselves as opposed to tariff tinkering. Mr. Lacey practically repudiated the platform suggestion of tariff revision by saying that while he stood on the platform as a whole he would never consent to tariff tinkering so long as his vote counted in congress, and that he thought the Iowa delegation was with him in this. Notwithstanding these set-offs the platform declarations undoubtedly give the Iowa idea new significance, and it is a disturbing political portent.

Cold Common Sense.

We are glad to find the Dispatch getting down to argument on the franchise question. The subject easily lends itself to sensational treatment, although there never was a time when cold, common sense was more needed. The Dispatch begins to see that its computations as to the value of the franchise are beside the point, because the railroad already has it. The real issue is whether the tracks shall stay in Liberty avenue to the immense detriment of the city, or whether they shall be removed to Duquesne way, where they will be less detrimental in every way and in some respects actually advantageous to that section. The Dispatch is now endeavoring to evade that issue by arguing that it does not necessarily follow that the tracks will remain in Liberty avenue if the present opportunity for an exchange of franchises is rejected. It says:

> People who use that argument are ignorant of what has been carefully kept in the background—that the original grant of the Liberty avenue privilege preserved for the city the power to regulate the use of these tracks "as may be found necessary for the further protection and security of the persons and property of the citizens of said city."

Does any one seriously suppose that that reserve of power can disturb the company's possession of its franchise? If it could it would have been invoked long ago. A fund was once raised for that very purpose and two of the ablest lawyers in the state were employed to institute any proceedings for which a basis could be found, but a year's close watch failed to catch the company at fault. The company can move its trains over Liberty avenue to its freight depot at the Point until doomsday without legal infringement upon the "protection and security of the persons and property of the citizens."

It is simply silly to pretend that the railroad company will ever be coaxed or shamed or harassed into giving up their present franchise. They know when they have got a good thing, and if they were asleep the figures the Dispatch publishes as to the value of such franchises would wake them up. If a franchise giving the privilege of building a costly elevated road, subject to various restrictions, is worth $50,000 a year, what then is the value of right of way over a parallel route to the same destination through the same district, without a cent to pay for roadbed? The more valuable franchise is the one which the company has now. Of course, the company is actuated by its own interests in offering the proposed exchange, but that is the city's opportunity, and the true policy is to grab it quick.

Some perception of the folly of acting as if we could coerce the company is beginning to dawn on the minds of the compensation advocates, and intimations are now forthcoming that the rental demand will be dropped if the company will agree to making the Duquesne way branch a union road, over which every railroad company may operate. Such a stipulation would be practically worthless even were it accepted. The railroad which builds and operates the road will control it, and even if other roads had a legal privilege of entry it would be practically worthless. Two bodies cannot occupy the same space at the same time. The company in control would, in practice, have permanent occupation. Joint use of a connecting road at Philadelphia was once attempted by the Pennsylvania, the Reading and the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore railroads. The road was built and operated by the Pennsylvania road at the joint expense of the three roads, and all three had equality of legal right in its use, but the arrangement would not work in practice and could not be made to work and was abandoned. It is absurd to expect that the company will accept a fractional franchise for the whole franchise it now has, and apart from that the proposition has no practical value.

Another Record Broken.

Now that June has gone and we have almost forgotten the freakish weather that she brought the statistician has gotten busy, with the result that June is revealed as having smashed several records, besides the weather bureau's historical charts running back to a time when there wasn't any weather bureau. Chief among the broken records, and the one in which the general public will doubtless feel most interest, is the marriage license record. The clerk in the Allegheny county register's office, who looks after confirming the work of Cupid, says he has not yet completed his official tables, but he is able to say that June of this year went 124 licenses ahead of last June, and as there were more than 1,300 licenses issued last June, it will be easy to see that loving swains and willing damsels were not slow about availing themselves of the proverbial month for marriages this year. But Allegheny county is not alone in this record-breaking matrimonial increase. Philadelphia, another chief Pennsylvania city, reports the issuing of 1,902 marriage licenses during the month of June, a wholly unprecedented number and 278 more than were issued during the same period last year.

It is not the purpose of this article to draw deductions of a complex social or economical kind from these broken records. There is no need for such conclusions. The facts stand for themselves and prove that marriage in Pennsylvania at any rate, is growing each year more popular. And no wonder. Prettier, livelier girls, or girls more fitted to grace the home of the rich man or help the poor man grow rich than the Pennsylvania girls cannot be found on top of the green earth. When these conditions exist together with manly, sensible, industrious young men, who are much too clear-headed to be decieved by the croakings of the marriage pessimists, the fact that each recurring June breaks its own marriage license record is not very great matter for surprise after all.

A Death-Dealing Hold-up.

At the time the matter of securing a pure water supply was taken in hand by the appointment in June, 1896, of the municipal commission to report plans, the deaths from typhoid fever in this city amounted to 175 for that year. Since then the toll of death exacted by this plague has kept on increasing: 184 in 1897, 218 in 1898 and 342 in 1899. Money was voted for the construction of the sand filtration plant in 1900, plans were completed and ordinances were prepared for the letting of the contracts. Those ordinances have been held up in the joint council committee on filtration, which has never reported upon them. But while committeemen delay the plague keeps gathering in its victims—464 in 1900, 416 in 1901, 459 in 1902. The deaths for six months of the present year which have elapsed number 250. Usually deaths increase during the last half of the year, but if they simply equal the first half the deaths from typhoid fever during 1903 will be 500, an average of between nine and ten persons a week carried off by a disease that declines at once to a small mortality factor as soon as sand filtration is introduced.

But besides the waste of life there is the waste of the health, time, energies and means of the people. A man is taken away from his work and prostrated for weeks, losing his earnings and running up doctor's bills, and for weeks after he has recovered his health is delicate, his physical vigor low. The number of cases officially reported in Pittsburgh last year was 3,339, but the actual number was doubtless greatly in excess of that. All physicians do not report cases, and many who do make returns report only severe cases. Attacks may cause fever and prostration when they are so mild as to cause no anxiety as to the result, and such cases are not generally reported. Experienced sanitarians calculate typhoid fever mortality at 10 per cent of the persons attacked by the disease. Thus the present death rate indicates that nearly 14 persons are brought down by typhoid fever every day the committee holds up the ordinances. All these ravages of death and disease are preventible, and their maintenance as an incident of the game of politics is literally just as Dr. Holland described it to be, "a system of wholesale murder."

Mr. Stevenson's Views.

In another column we give space to Councilman W. H. Stevenson, replying to an editorial of yesterday. We are glad to note the gentleman adopts as his own our view that councils of today "should legislate with an eye single to the future greatness of Pittsburgh."

Mr. Stevenson asks, "what use to the railroad company the Liberty avenue tracks would be if such a freight depot (one above Eleventh street) was established?" We can only reply that they will be of the same use as at present. The depot above Eleventh street would be designed only for the traffic that cannot be conveniently handled at the Point. The Jenkins switch would remain; the meat packing houses would continue to receive their cars by that route and the merchandise for the lower town would be handled as now. The obstruction to general traffic would remain.

Mr. Stevenson further suggests the abandonment of the entire warehouse project at the Point in which several millions have been invested and the imposition of restrictions by councils to destroy the usefulness of the Liberty avenue tracks to the railroad company. Does he suppose that such a policy of assault would be mildly submitted to by the Pennsylvania railroad? If he does, he should momentarily recall the destruction of the Western Union Telegraph Company poles along the Pennsylvania right of way. The city would hardly profit by open warfare. The Gazette would willingly see the railroad retire from the Point district, if the railroad would retire, but it will not. Such being the case The Gazette takes the unsentimental but thoroughly business view that the offer of the railroad to give up the franchise it holds is in the nature of large compensation for the franchise it seeks to obtain. It is a compensation of such large value to the city that it is inestimable.

Superintendent McTighe's attention is called to the fact that there is an ordinance forbidding teamsters from driving alongside of trolley cars while passengers are getting off or on. The police should be instructed to arrest the drivers who habitually break this law by driving their horses between the curb and the side of a car from which passengers are alighting. It is a piece of dangerous impertinence which no amount of "congestion" can excuse.

Advice for the Fourth: "Don't stand around."

MR. STEVENSON PLEADS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Sir: In your editorial of this morning's Gazette, you make the following statement, "The mistake made in granting the franchise in Liberty avenue 50 years ago cannot be rectified now."

As you admit a grievous error has been made in the past, do I understand that The Gazette would condone the action of councils in perpetuating the crime by giving the right of way in Duquesne way to the Pennsylvania railroad forever?

You also say, "councils 50 years ago could not perceive the present conditions," but you must admit, in view of the wonderful advancement made in Pittsburgh the last decade, councils of today, should legislate with an eye single to the future greatness of Pittsburgh as a manufacturing and commercial center.

You also say, "Suppose the Pennsylvania railroad should be compelled to establish a new freight depot above Eleventh street, does any one suppose it would relinquish its right in Liberty avenue on that account."

May I ask what use to the railroad company the Liberty avenue tracks would be if such a freight depot was established? The Duquesne freight station is used only at the present time for the delivery of miscellaneous goods in small lots. Most of the car load and heavy freight business of the Pennsylvania railroad is now being done at the freight station in Grant street and at the other freight depots, that have been installed in various parts of the city.

It costs money to haul freight down Liberty street, especially since the elevation of the Pennsylvania company's tracks. If the entire project of the public warehouses at the Point should be abandoned and restrictions imposed by councils, which according to the ordinance granting the right of way in Liberty avenue, they have power to do, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company would have absolutely no use for the tracks in that thoroughfare, consequently the city of Pittsburgh would get back what belongs to it, and which did not cost the Pennsylvania railroad a dollar.

This whole matter is purely a business proposition, and in your anxiety about Liberty avenue it seems you are losing sight of the fundamental principle, which is incorporated in not only the Citizens platform, but also the Republican platform of last February, namely, "Taxation of corporations." We have at this time an opportunity to carry out the pledges of both political parties and increase the revenue of the city so that the burden of taxation, which now rests almost entirely on property, shall be relieved. We do not wish to take any chances on a general franchise tax, which must be tested in the courts, but at this time if a compensation clause is incorporated in this contract, giving the right to the Pennsylvania railroad to use the wharf for an elevated track (which I very much doubt we have the legal right to do) every dollar so obtained will lessen the burden of taxation, and no time is better than the present for all parties to sink political differences and consider the entire question from this standpoint. Yours truly,

July 2, 1903.

W. H. STEVENSON.

Roosevelt and Russia.

Russia has notified all the powers that no interference will be tolerated in the Kishineff case, and yet the president has decided to send a petition which the Russian government has officially declared it will not receive. This raises an issue of the gravest import. Among all the nations of the world the United States will stand alone as favoring a new policy of intervention in the domestic affairs of a sovereign power. By the same sign the Catholics of the United States might have asked the interference of the president years ago between the pope and the government of Italy, or his protest against the way in which the monastic orders were treated in Mexico, or, at a later date, in France. The president, as usual, has decided on a courageous course. As an individual, he is right; as the head of the government, he is wrong.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Alabama's Brave Sheriff.

The sheriff at Scottsborough, Ala., who actually fired on a mob of lynchers seeking a prisoner in his custody, deserves encomiums throughout the country. He did his best to protest his charge, warning the advancing men that he would fire if they came closer. The crowd evidently knew the man, for a volley was the answer given to his threat. The sheriff was wounded, but he pluckily emptied two pistols before he was borne down. Unfortunately, the name of this brave official is not given in the dispatches. If there were more like him there would be fewer lynchings. For even if the mob persisted a strong public sentiment would soon arise against the shooting down of sheriffs and other officers in the discharge of their duty. The mob is an aggregation of lawbreakers in intent. It is doubly guilty when it attacks the man who has been sworn to protect the prisoners entrusted to his care.—Washington Star.

Inexcusable Rashness.

IDI-YACHT-IC FIGURING.

They say that Shamrock Third was First,
And Shamrock First was Second—
If that be true, we feel the worst
That ever could be reckoned.

You see, if Shamrock Third is First,
And Shamrock Third is Second,
One need not be in doubt immersed
For there the winner beckoned.

'Tis thus: The First, they say, was Third,
The Second was the First one—
It takes more than an idle word
To prove which is the worst one.

The argument we would advance
Unless ere this we've spilled it,
Is that the Fourth will have a chance
To win before they build it.

For, Shamrock Third is now the First,
The First is Second—therefore
The Fourth, ere launched, should have dispersed
The others—that's the wherefore.

The Quiet Observer.

ERASMUS WILSON.

Be noble! and the nobleness that lies
In other men, sleeping, but never dead,
Will rise in majesty to meet thine own.
James Russell Lowell.

What are you going to do about it?

About the glorious Fourth, of course. There isn't anything else in sight to speak of.

And then you ought to give yourself to your country one day in the year at least, and this is the day set apart, dedicated to that service.

Your country does not propose paying you wages for the services you render on this day, but it will credit them against the debt you owe it. Nor will you be taxed heavier on this day than on another, nor required to bear a heavier burden, but you are expected to celebrate by making merry, lest you forget.

That's the word—"lest you forget."

But is it worth the candle? Will it pay to burn powder, shoot crackers, explode dynamite and unfurl the old flag to every breeze?

The day, not merely the fourth day of the seventh month, but the Fourth of July, an institution rather than a date. It is worth all it cost, and what has it not cost in blood treasure and suffering?

It is the Sabbath of the nation, the day of remembrance and of atonement.

* * * * *

Whatever else you may do be sure to look out for poisonous fire crackers, and particularly for those that cause lockjaw, or tetanus. That there are crackers, torpedoes and bombs that cause this terrible disease there can be little doubt, and that they have been here is fully attested by 12 fatal cases of lockjaw following injuries inflicted by fire crackers and other explosions on Decoration day.

That so many fatal results did not follow injuries from the old style fire cracker is well known to all; nor did it appear that tetanus was more likely to follow such injuries than any others.

However, since the makers of fire crackers have taken to using high explosives in order to get more noise out of their crackers, there has been a marked increase in the number of accidents, and owing to the violence of the explosion the injuries have been more serious and more frequently followed by lockjaw.

* * * * *

The fulminate of mercury, which is now generally used in percussion caps and to set off dynamite and other high explosives, is thought to be the guilty thing. If it isn't a bad thing it is not because it hasn't bad stuff in it, or rather that it isn't the result of a bad combination, to wit: mercury, nitric acid and alcohol.

In action it is as quick as lightning and so sensitive that it will go off upon the least provocation, such as the heat caused by a burning fuse, sharp pressure, or slight friction. This renders it particularly efficient as a detonator or exploder of other explosives. A mere speck of it in a bunch of powder, or dynamite, or nitroglycerin, or any of these powerful explosives, is sufficient to set them off.

This fulminate is used to some extent in the manufacture of toy torpedoes and various kinds of detonators, but fulminate of silver is more generally used for making detonating, or cracking powder, paper torpedoes and cracking matches on account of it being far more sensitive than the fulminate of mercury.

There can be little doubt that these fulminates are largely responsible for lockjaw following injuries caused by explosion of fire crackers.

* * * * *

Lockjaw, or tetanus, is now held to be caused by a germ (bacillus tetani), which is found mostly where horses are kept, or where refuse from stables is mixed with earth.

This being true, and it is vouched for by those who can speak with authority, the germ is likely to be everywhere and anywhere, for the dust of streets and roads is more or less mixed with material from stables, so that every injury received anywhere is liable to develop a case of lockjaw.

This we know is not true, leaving us to conclude that the wound itself must offer special inducements to the bacillus tetani in the way of favorable conditions for its development. That the peculiar poison is mercury and silver fulminates form, in connection with the tissues of the body, a suitable nidus, or culture, for the germ is not only possible, but highly probable.

This same poison may get into wounds and sores not caused by explosives of fire crackers, being in the smoke and carried through the air. It is well, therefore, to protect all wounds and sores from the smoke caused by these poisonous explosives.

Too much care cannot be observed in selecting and using fire crackers, for lockjaw is a terrible thing and usually fatal.

* * * * *

Next to avoiding the lockjaw microbe, or any other pestilential microbe, the most important thing is to throttle it, or better still, to destroy it. Of germicides there is no end, but they do not all work the same on all microbes, so that it is difficult to get an all round microbe killer, unless you take corrosive sublimate, but that is not safe to use except under direction of a physician.

Probably the most reliable and safest germicide and general antiseptic, is dioxide of hydrogen, or hydrogen peroxide, as it is commonly called; for destroying pus or matter collected in sores, cleansing wounds, and purifying diseased tissues, it has no superior, and probably no equal. It is non-poisonous, and may be safely used in mouth, throat, nose or taken internally.

That it will prevent the development of the lockjaw microbe there is no reasonable doubt if the wound is well cleansed and kept clean with it. Being safe and cheap it might be well to keep some on hand, the same as camphor, paregoric, and other favorite house remedies. One part to four of water, is about the proper strength for common use, but where the poison is more virulent it should be used stronger, even to full strength.

* * * * *

There are several prescriptions of dioxide of hydrogen, each having advantages in particular case. Hydrozone is one of the more popular and useful of these, as it contains more or less ozone, which is in itself a great destroyer of bacteria and disease germs. It is claimed for hydrozone that as a germ destroyer it is even more efficient than straight hydrogen dioxide, but this is for the chemist and physician to determine. It is more stable, probably, which is an advantage, for the dioxide mixture should not be made until ready for use.

With either of these simple preparations at hand, or promptly used after an injury from poisoned explosions, or cuts or wounds that have been exposed to the smoke or gases from these explosions, the danger of lockjaw will be reduced to a minimum.

Not being patent medicines, but "straight goods," these things are not held at fancy prices, nor are they subject to being cornered.

However, it is always best to consult your doctor, or your druggist, about their use, at least until you become well acquainted with them. While they will not curl your hair they will take the color out of it, leaving it a chemical blonde.

* * * * *

We hear a lot of talk about the national observance of the Fourth of July, but it seems that the nationalists can't get together. "The Boston Post" sized it up very neatly in a recent editorial, of which the following is a part:

"If there is any tradition of Independence any more sacred than another, it is the license to burn gunpowder. The scent of the Chinese firecracker is like the aroma of incense before the altar of liberty, so inseparable is it from the associations of the day. Generations of youthful patriots have found it their inspiration. It is not simply the noise that inspires them; it is the way in which the noise is made. Every cracker touched off with smouldering punk is the simulacrum of a flint-lock musket in the hands of a soldier of the Continental army, fired at the advancing Hessians of King George. The boys are fighting over again the battle of Bunker Hill, the resistance of Concord and Lexington, the final success of Yorktown. Let them have their way; they are the priesthood of the patriotic cult, celebrating its mysteries through forms whose significance they may not comprehend, but nevertheless preserving the traditions.

"It is in the innovations brought in by erratic fancy and modern commercialism that the irrationality of the celebration of Independence day is to be found. Bells and gunpowder are not only appropriate but essential to the day. But the blast of fish horns has no possible relation to patriotism, and the practice which has grown of late years, of a parade of hoodlums and callow youth of both sexes through our streets, making the night before Independence with this instrument, should be suppressed as incongruous and intolerable. This is a matter of local police administration. The toy pistol can be and should be suppressed. In fact, a rational celebration of the Glorious Fourth is entirely compatible with a preservation of the traditions and with a considerable degree of license accorded the youthful celebrants."

Talked of in New York

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, July 2.—There was a big rush to Coney Island this afternoon. The eight-hour working day prevails in New York and on a hot evening the temptations of the seashore are stronger than those of dinner or anything else. There are several ways of getting to Coney Island from Manhattan, and all were at the disposal of the seeker for coolness this afternoon. You may take a boat from the foot of Twenty-second street, or at the battery, as well as at an intermediate point along the North river, and having paid 25 cents for the round trip, you may have music both ways, and a dance if you care for that kind of diversion. Today the water route was the popular one by long odds. By trolley the fare is 10 cents either way, or on one line if you can find it, 5 cents each way. As for the diversions at Coney there is Luna park, which is a new place of amusement, and is actually the Buffalo exposition over again, leaving out the big buildings. Then there is the Johnstown flood, a realistic exhibition, particularly interesting to Pittsburghers, and all the miscellaneous fun of Surf avenue and the Bowery. It would be impossible to enumerate everything that can be seen, heard, eaten and drunk for "a nickel a throw," as the Coney Island habitue has it. One must go to realize it all. Bostock's animal show is there for one thing, however.

Proverbial Dreyfuss Luck.

I take the following from a sporting paper here. So far as I know, it is correct, but I do not vouch for it personally: Barney Dreyfuss' Pittsburgh ball team found the Brooklyns such easy marks on Monday that Mr. Dreyfuss thought he would take a day off and visit the races. Next to getting the best of a baseball wrangle, Dreyfuss likes to have a bet on the "ponies." Talking about racing afterward, Dreyfuss said: "I had a very agreeable surprise yesterday. I saw Prince Silver Wings entered at Washington park. Having seen the colt run at Louisville, I thought he was worth a bet. I wired a friend at Pittsburgh to place a good bet for me. Last night he wired me the amount won, saying that he got 20 to 1. I did not expect more than 8 to 1, but, of course, I did not object." That is the Dreyfuss luck.

Off on Mission to Rome.

Monsignor O'Connell, rector of the Roman Catholic university at Washington, and Archbishop Keane of Dubuque, Ia., who was formerly rector of the university, sailed today for Rome on the French liner La Savoie. Their errand is to see the pope, if possible, and to arrange with the vatican authorities for measures looking to the greater prosperity of the university. They want his holiness to ask that a collection shall be taken up in all Roman Catholic churches all over the United States annually for 10 years for the benefit of the institution. Archbishop Keane also expects to arrange for the establishing of a new archdiocese at Omaha, of which Bishop Scannell of that city will probably be placed in charge as archbishop.

Col. Ammon Kept in Suspense.

Judge Geigerich is taking his time in considering the application of Col. Robert A. Ammon's counsel for a certificate of reasonable doubt. In the meantime the colonel sits in his cell in the Tombs, anxiously waiting to hear his fate. And yet there is not much anxiety to be seen in his face or demeanor.

Detected in Cheating the Poor.

Commissioner Woodbury, in arranging a nice fish market for the peddlers of the East Side, did not know that they were driving rather sharp bargains with their customers. But the mayor's secretary, James B. Reynolds, who is head of the marshal's office, is a wide-awake young man, and he has taken the trouble to examine the scales and weights of the dealers in the new fish market, as well as of those who are still selling about the streets. The result is that 65 fish peddlers have lost their licenses. Their weights were wrong and their scales had been fixed, so that they were giving short weight right along. Some of these enterprising gentry have been selling nine ounces for a pound, and others have been selling short all the way from four to eight ounces in a pound. It was about time there was an investigation. Their customers are poor people as a rule who could not afford to lose half their purchases every time they bought a fish dinner.

Shirt Waist Man Abroad.

The shirt waist man was abroad today. An individual with a red-and-white striped garment of that kind, set off with puffy, short skirts, was parading Broadway early and you could tell him for a shirt waist man a block away. That was what he wanted, doubtless, for on his back was a placard reading: "Buy your shirt waists of Brown. He has lots more like this of mine." It is to be doubted whether the specimen shown would be likely to induce many persons to become customers, unless "Bath House John" from Chicago happened to be in town.

Free Show at the Erie Ferry.

One of the free sights of the city which is attracting large crowds of spectators daily is the work on the new pier of the Erie ferry house at the foot of West Twenty-third street. Not only are there pile drivers, sand barges manned by scores of picturesque Italians, directed by Irish foremen with a no less picturesque vocabulary of profanity, but there is a real diver, with helmet, weighted boots, air tubes, life line and all the rest of the romantic paraphernalia which makes him look like a character out of a Jules Verne romance, who goes down at regular intervals to the noisy admiration of most of the boy population of "Big Bill" Devery's Ninth district.

Devery Refuses to Quit.

"Big Bill" Devery is not seen around the pump very often but he was there this afternoon. He had run down from Averne to see his faithful followers and to distribute among them hopefulness and beer. Devery is not out of the mayoralty fight because the courts have given him one or two hard knocks. He intends to show Tammany Hall something before the campaign has progressed very far and he is chuckling over the dock board revelations, because he sees how they are touching some of his enemies in the organization. "There will be something doing as soon as the hot spell is over; mark that," laughed the "chief," as he took a fresh black cigar from his pocket and leaned harder against the pump.

The Chamberlain Tariff Policy.

Mr. Chamberlain's tariff policy is of worldwide interest. If it should be adopted both Germany and the United States would have to take cognizance in their own tariff policies of its operations, says the Washington Star. But the argument in favor of a partial revision of the Dingley law does not rest in the slightest degree upon Mr. Chamberlain's proposition. It was formulated before that was announced, and it rests upon conditions that are now in existence. Whether Great Britain goes upon the protection tack or not, the tariff schedules applying to certain American industries should be lowered in the interests of a fair and equitable scheme of American taxation. Figures fixed for starvation times will easily bear revision in times of flush and plenty. The year of the lean kine was 1897. The year of the fatted kine to date is 1903.

The Gazette Almanac.

FRANK A. PARKER.

July is starting out bravely in her efforts to dry up the tears of June. While showers are promised, there is likely to be more sun than rain during the coming week, and a few chances may be taken by the summer picnickers, who are willing to take a little dampness in their portion of the joys of a day spent under the trees.

In Ole July.

"These are great days for the hot weather pitchers," said the baseball fan enthusiastically.

"You bet, and I just had mine filled," replied the man with the "growler."

And Such Is Fame!

Yesterday afternoon a distinguished-looking gentleman stood alone in front of the Grand Opera House in Fifth avenue.

For 15 minutes he stood there watching the throng of hurrying people.

Not one of the passers-by touched his hat as a mark of respect to greatness, not one gave a sign of recognition, and not one even so much as turned to look.

The distinguished-looking gentleman was as much lost as though he were in the wilds of Alaska rather than in his own state, a state that has twice given him its highest honor.

It would have been worth while to have been able to read the thoughts of the Hon. Robert E. Pattison of Philadelphia as he stood unnoticed on the busiest street in Pittsburgh yesterday.

Would I were the ice man,
How I'd like to sit and sweat,
Thinking of the weather
And the dividends I'd get.

It Is to Weep.

The Czar had just finished reading the morning's news from Washington.

And such is friendship, he said, regretfully. Didn't I sell 'em Alaska when I needed the money and did not know what it was worth?

Didn't I always throw out bouquets to Uncle Sam when he was the upper dog in the fight and had no chance of being defeated?

Was there ever a time when I wasn't his friend when it didn't cost me a cent?

And now, to think that he would begin to stir up trouble, and just when I am busy nailing up the open door of Manchuria, too!

It is too much, too much!

Welcome, welcome, little rain drops,
Last month we thought you a bore,
But these hot days you are greeted
With a parched cry for more.

Both in Same Fix.

Two chummy young Pittsburghers who are in the fix of having no home and therefore "board around" are in the habit of making appointments to meet each evening at some particular restaurant at dinner time. They go from one hostelry to another from day to day in an effort to find something new and extra fine to the palate, consequently they are known in most of the city's restaurants, though not so well as are the regular customers.

One evening early in the week, Tom went broke. That didn't worry him particularly, as he knew Charley would be there with the goods at dinner time, and there was no danger of hunger staring him in the face. So he went down to the appointed place, and there was Charley waiting for him. Each ordered a good substantial meal, and they had a very pleasant hour together.

"Will you have this all on one check, or shall I make it in two?" inquired the waiter.

"Better put it on one," replied Tom.

As the waiter disappeared Tom turned to Charley.

"I'm dead broke, old man," he said. "I'll have to let you settle for this."

"The deuce you say," exclaimed Charley. "I'm in the same boat, and was depending on you to settle the check."

Then both had the saving grace to laugh.

"You know the cashier better than I do," said Charley. "Take the check up and fix it. We can dig up by tomorrow evening."

"I'm in an awfully peculiar fix," explained Tom to the cashier. "Invited my friend to have dinner with me this evening, and in changing my clothes forgot my purse. Will you kindly hold this check till tomorrow evening?"

Certainly, she would, and the two boys sneaked off together, feeling like criminals, but at least with full stomachs.

The check was paid the next day.

Cuba Alarmed.

The intimation of the German government to the Cuban representative at Berlin that it will soon be time to take up the German claims against Cuba naturally arouses intense interest in Havana, says the Philadelphia Press. The Cubans did not know that any such claims were in existence, and they do not know yet on what they rest. But they are undoubtedly war claims growing out of the destruction or injury of German property during the insurrection against Spain.

The Cubans do not feel that they can be held responsible for any such claims, as the Spanish ruled Cuba at that time; but remembering the course of Germany in the Venezuelan claims Cuba may well feel troubled. Discussion, one of the Havana newspapers, advises, under the circumstances, that the Cuban government should ratify and carry into effect as fast as possible the treaties and agreements with the United States. That is very sensible advice. Cuba would be much less able to cope with any foreign government than Venezuela, and without the support of the United States it would be powerless. If Germany presents war claims France and other nations may be expected to do the same thing. There is no ground for them, but the course Cuba has pursued so far has not been of the kind to make the United States unduly active in its behalf. The Monroe doctrine would be enforced, but that did not prevent war against Venezuela. Cuba should bestir herself if she desires the cordial support of the United States.

IT IS TO SMILE.

You did your share of shooting.

EAGLE TO SCREAM AS LOUDLY AS EVER

Greater Pittsburgh Will Celebrate the Glorious Fourth With Old-Time Vim.

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETE

Program at Schenley Park Will Be Fully Up to Those of Previous Years—Judge J. J. Miller to Be the Orator—Traction Company Prepared to Handle Crowds.

The Fourth of July celebration at Schenley park tomorrow will be fully up to the standard of former years, notwithstanding the failure to obtain the presence of Senator Marcus A. Hanna to deliver an oration. The patriotic exercises in the morning, the sports in the afternoon, a grand display of fireworks at night, besides a large number of other amusements during the day will be sufficient to attract thousands of people to the park. The sports will be more than ordinarily interesting and the fireworks will consist of many novel features in pyrotechnics.

Judge J. J. Miller of the orphans court will probably be the orator, and Assistant City Solicitor L. S. Levin will read the Declaration of Independence. A chorus of 20 or 30 colored men will be an attraction at the morning exercises. In the afternoon there will also be a balloon ascension, tight-rope walking and four bands playing.

Fireworks Display at Night.

The following is the program of fireworks at night:

Salute of 21 18-inch aerial maroons; grand illumination with 100 lights changing color five times; ascent of 10 mammoth magnesium balloons, pyrotechnic star cloud, batteries of aerial saucissions, display of 21 Pain's 24-inch bombs, eruption of Sinbad's jeweled cave, flight of 6-pound rockets, ten devil-among-the-tailors, device, "The Pigeon Cote;" Italian bombetties—1903 novelty; ten Pain's aerial novelties, showers of meteors; 10 "Eagle screams" rockets; flight of 20 shells, bursting into American roses, living fireworks, "The Cock Fight," "The Prize Fight," men enveloped in fire; jeweled cannonades, explosion of 10 batteries, magical illumination, aurora borealis effect, great silver clouds, mass of electric fire, 10 30-inch shells, primroses, violets, pansies, laburnum, passion flower, heliotrope, etc.; "The Day We Celebrate," batteries of cracker mines, 21 Schenley bombs, flight of electric rockets, "The Flying Machine," fac-simile of Paris sensation, comic device, "Jumbo" and "Tiny Tim."

Special arrangements have been made by the Pittsburgh Railways Company for handling the Fourth of July crowds. While no transfers will be given tomorrow, owing to the delays it would cause, no extra fares will be charged on the all-night cars.

Traction Car Arrangements.

Last year all the Monongahela division or yellow cars were turned back at Craig street, it being impossible to run them in Forbes street owing to the crush around the entrance to Schenley. This year the crowds, it is thought, will not be so large and cars of the yellow line will run down town as usual. A special line of trippers or extra cars will be run between Kennywood park and Craig street to carry the Craig street and Murray avenue transfer passengers.

Special cars will be put on between Calhoun park and downtown and Calhoun park and McKeesport. A crush at that park is expected. Extra cars will also be put on all other divisions and routes. If the crowds justify it, trippers between Schenley park and downtown, and between the park and East End will be run. These cars will bear a sign, "To Schenley Park Only." For the benefit of strangers all Fifth avenue and Forbes street cars running past the entrance will carry signs reading, "This Car to Schenley Park."

New Line of Cars.

It is probable that a new line of cars, to be known as the Shady, South Highland and Fifth avenue, will be put on. To help carry the Southern park crowds, trippers will be put on to run between the park and Forbes street. Hilltop people will be given better facilities for getting to Southern by the Knoxville hilltop cars being run through to the park, instead of stopping and turning at the Mt. Oliver borough line. This will be continued every Sunday during the season.

The new tracks now being laid in Forbes street will be temporarily connected tonight and a double track will be used on that street tomorrow and Sunday. The Center and Negley and the North Highland cars now running via Fifth avenue, will be put back in Forbes street. Long strings of cars will be massed at the entrance to Schenley park for the crowds after the fireworks, and all cars will be kept running as long as there are people to carry.

LOCKED UP AND FINED.

Braddock Hotel Man's Mistake and Revolver Started a General Fight.

Thomas Lawlor, a hotel keeper at Braddock avenue and Robinson street, Braddock, saw Roger McGowan, a neighbor, in the back yard of the hotel, yesterday afternoon. Lawlor became suspicious, drew a revolver and marched McGowan to the police station. McGowan broke away just as the police station was reached.

Sergt. James McClelland was so angry at the excitement Lawlor had stirred up that he ordered the hotel man arrested. A boarder of Lawlor's tried to keep his landlord from captivity and started a general fight, which ended in both landlord and boarder being locked up and fined.

Hotel Clerk Held Up and Robbed.

Simon Foster, aged 29, of Philips lane, Baldwin township, was held up and assaulted early yesterday morning by two men. Besides having many bruises and a black eye he is minus two teeth, a diamond pin, a diamond ring and $65. Foster is employed at Beach's hotel, Carson street, South Side. While on his way to take a Southern avenue car he was attacked and robbed by two men. Foster says he can identify the culprits. Foster is about to be married shortly and intended to buy some things for his future home yesterday.

Boys Go to Juvenile Court.

John Freeman, aged 15, of No. 59 Boston street, and John Mullin, aged 12, No. 11 Maurice street, were delivered juvenile court by Magistrate E. C. yesterday. On Wednesday Miss Kibuska was in Craft avenue when boys, by cutting the chain at- to her chatelaine purse containing zed the purse and ran. PLEA FOR A GOOD NIGHT'S REST AFTER A NOISY, GLORIOUS FOURTH

Newsboys' headquarters, No. 342 Third avenue, received the following letter last evening from the Rev. S. Edward Young, D. D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian church:

To My Friends, the Newsboys, and Their Friends and Others:

You and I have right now the chance of our lives. We will prove that we are the greatest patriots who ever blew their fingers off, and the gentlest philanthropists whose names are not on the hospital tablets. What's the proposition? Listen! Get out your cannon-crackers, your mines, rockets, flower-pots,—every rachet-rouser—quick! Whoop things up! Blow things up! Make the town think 40 thunderstorms and 60 earthquakes have hit 50 cyclones with 13 battles of Manila bay thrown in. Patriots? I reckon we are! But say, fellows, we will do the philanthropic act, too. One poor chap is sick on our block; has fever dreadfully bad, won't sleep a wink all day and his fever will be worse at night. And there's an old lady, somebody's mother or aunt, and she will be nearly crazy with headache and nerves like 10,000 pin points. What say you? Let's put on brakes at one minute to 10 and stop plump with a jerk one minute past 10 and choke off any "bloke" who punches a torpedo on the sidewalk before 6:30 the next morning. May be we'll have fever some Fourth of July, or rickety nerves, or our mother will be dying, and we can say, "Kids, be good to us like we were to you." We newsies have the influence; we and the other boys; and, if we say it's "mum" after 10 at night, mum it is. What's your answer? You'll run your block! All right; I'll run mine. Yours for a rip-roaring Fourth.

S. EDWARD YOUNG.

FIREWORKS FOR HOME DISPLAYS

Private Citizens of Greater Pittsburgh Will Spend $20,000 for Illuminations on Fourth.

NEW CANNON IS POPULAR

Supply of Fourth of July Canes Has Been Exhausted and Blank Cartridge Ammunition Is in Unprecedented Demand.

A glorious celebration of the Glorious Fourth will take place in Greater Pittsburgh tomorrow, notwithstanding the official display will fall below the magnitude of last year. Private displays of fireworks will be a feature of this observance of Independence day, and in consequence downtown dealers have had their hands full in looking after the throngs of purchasers that have crowded their stores.

"In the point of individual patriotism no local Fourth of July will eclipse the one just approaching," said a Pittsburgh fireworks dealer yesterday. "It is almost impossible to meet the demand for sky-rockets, fire crackers, Roman candles and other staples to be used in home displays. Individuals will club together and have picturesque set pieces, so that there will be no danger of a lack of noise or that the great anniversary of the declaration will pass unheeded. The residents of Oakland are planning a jubilee of their own. A. R. Peacock's residence in North Highland avenue will be the scene of a private display of fireworks and throughout the Fifth avenue and Squirrel Hill districts the people will show their patriotism by setting off rockets on their lawns.

Improvement in Fireworks.

"There are few novelties in fireworks, but the old-time sky rocket, the Roman candle and the flower pots have been improved upon, and the people are buying more expensive pieces than during previous years. Chinese lanterns were never in such demand or were offered in such attractive designs. Some people who do not enjoy a noisy Fourth will decorate their lawns and porches with the fantastic paper lanterns so dear to the heart of the demonstrative celestial.

"But don't imagine that we'll not have noise. Pittsburgh will spend at the very least $20,000 for its private fireworks displays, and that sum, which is greater than has ever before been expended on this kind of patriotism, will permit the fiery eagle to scream to his heart's content."

"This is going to be a great year for cannons," said "Old Hoss"—C. M. Hostetter—in W. S. Brown's gun store yesterday. "Last year the Winchester Arms Company introduced a breech-loading cannon using 10 and 12-gauge shotgun shells, and we can hardly wrap them up fast enough. One purchaser got 300 blank shells with his gun, and says he will fire minute guns for five hours.

Opening of Vacation Season.

"The Fourth of July is being universally recognized now as the inauguration of the vacation season, and the sporting goods houses have a wonderful run on fishing tackle, tennis and golf outfits, baseball requisites and firearms. This is a great year for fishermen, and hundreds will spend Saturday's holiday on some quiet stream. Never before has the demand been so great for high-class fishing tackle. Many of our Fourth of July fishermen will spend the season at Brownings dam, in Maryland. Next week you will hear from them. Somebody is sure to send back a prize catch. Up to date James H. Stewart of the Pennsylvania company has caught the best fish—a 21-inch trout that weighed three and one-half pounds.

"The small towns throughout this end of the state are getting in line to celebrate the day. In some places amateur artillery companies are being formed and are buying small brass field pieces for the firing of salutes. Local dealers have been shoveling out blank cartridge ammunition for a fortnight. The supply of Fourth of July canes has become exhausted by the wholesalers, and few of the retail dealers will be prepared to meet the demand for this convenient noisemaker."

JUMP OF 50 PER CENT.

Downtown Realty Values Have Increased That Amount Within Three Years.

Downtown realty has increased in value 50 per cent in three years, according to the testimony of H. Lee Mason before the board of viewers yesterday at the Virgin alley widening hearing. Representatives of the Trinity and the First Presbyterian churches and H. W. Oliver were heard.

A. U. Bean and J. T. Buchanan valued the First church property at $40 and $60 a square foot, respectively. Mr. Oliver asks $34,719 16 for damages to his leasehold in the rear of the Third National bank, Wood street, a strip 40 by 240 feet.

Mr. Mason, a vestryman of Trinity church, did not make a lump claim for damages, but said that the chapel houses would have to be rebuilt if the street was widened. He said that a rough estimate of the cost of rebuilding would be $92,000, and that the church would be darkened considerably, as the new chapel house must be built along a part of one side. He considered that the property was worth today between $50 and $55 a square foot, based on the fact that property had increased 50 per cent in the past three years, and that three years ago a portion of the church property was sold to Mr. Oliver for $36 a square foot.

The hearing will be continued today.

ITALIAN POSTOFFICE FOR WEBSTER AVENUE

The first Italian postoffice in the United States will be opened soon in the heart of the Italian colony, in Webster avenue. Gioacchina Leona, a banker and merchant, will have charge. He was appointed yesterday. The mail for Italians has been coming through the general delivery and the similarity of names and the unfamiliarity of the clerks with the language caused a great amount of trouble. Congressman H. Kirke Porter became interested in this scheme and it is mainly through his efforts that the sub-station will be established.

SUFFERING WOMEN.

MRS. EMMA MITCHELL.

Tired, Nervous, Aching, Trembling, Sleepless, Bloodless — Pe-ru-na Renovates, Regulates, Restores—Many Prominent Women Endorse Pe-ru-na.

AMERICA is the land of nervous women.

The great majority of nervous women are so because they are suffering from some form of female disease.

Mrs. Emma Mitchell, 520 Louisiana street, Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"Peruna has certainly been a blessing in disguise to me, for when I first began taking it for troubles peculiar to the sex and a generally worn out system, I had little faith.

"For the past five years I have rarely been without pain, but Peruna has changed all this, and in a very short time. I think I had only taken two bottles before I began to recuperate very quickly, and seven bottles made me well. I do not have headache or backache any more, and have some interest in life. I give all credit where it is due, and that is to Peruna."—Emma Mitchell.

By far the greatest number of female troubles are caused directly by catarrh. They are catarrh of the organ which is affected. These women despair of recovery. Female trouble is so common, so prevalent, that they accept it as almost inevitable. The greatest obstacle in the way of recovery is that they do not understand that it is catarrh which is the source of their illness. In female complaint, ninety-nine cases out of one hundred are nothing but catarrh. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located.

Chronic invalids who have languished for years on sick beds with some form of female disease begin to improve at once after beginning Dr. Hartman's treatment.

Among the many prominent women who recommended Peruna are: Belva Lockwood of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Col. Hamilton of Columbus, O.; Mrs. F. E. Warren, wife of United States Senator Warren of Wyoming.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

GRANT OF WHARF GOES THROUGH

B. & O. Ordinances Approved by Corporations Committee of Select Council.

FINNEY GETS ALL HE ASKS

Measures to Be Passed at Special Session of Councils Next Week—Another Committee Decides Against the Removal of the Finn Dock.

The grant of the Monongahela wharf, between Smithfield and Grant streets, to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company for passenger and freight stations was approved by the corporations committee of select council yesterday afternoon and may go to select council for passage next Monday. President John S. Lamble stated yesterday that he would probably call a special session for that day. The ordinance contains a $10,000 yearly rental clause.

President Lamble attended the meeting of the committee yesterday and objected to the portion of the ordinance which fixes the east side of Grant street to Smithfield street as the boundary of the ground to be taken by the railroad company. Mr. Lamble and Chairman John Upperman claimed that the extension of the depot over to the east side of Grant street meant the vacation of Grant street below Water street. They insisted that Grant street was opened clear to the river, but Robert Finney, general agent and the engineer of the railroad company, argued that Grant street ended at the top of the wharf.

President Lamble withdrew his objection when he was assured that the plans provided for an opening from Water street under the depot to the wharf between Grant and Smithfield streets.

The committee also approved the ordinance of the Morningside street railway, to connect the Butler street and North Negley avenue lines, and thus furnish a shorter route to and from the East End and the Butler street terminus. This ordinance provides that the company shall give the city a $5,000 bonus.

The application of the Conley-McAfee company for a switch privilege from the Allegheny Valley road across Smallman street to their property at Twenty-third street was also approved.

The surveys committee of select council met and approved the vacation of 12 streets in the Twenty-third ward for the extension of the Baltimore & Ohio yards at that point.

The joint committee appointed at the suggestion of Mayor Hays to consider the proposed removal of the Flinn dock on the Duquesne way wharf met yesterday and decided that the dock should not be removed, but be kept open for public use. This, however, will not remove the objection of the mayor that the dock is too small to permit general use, and that it should be either enlarged or removed. The committee decided that the dock could not be extended and that the motto should be, "First come, first served."

There is a fight between the two big coal companies to obtain the use of the dock, and by the committee's decision the one that first lands its barges alongside will be able to shut the other out until it has unloaded.

MAN LOST HIS WIFE ON THE RIVER BANK

John Bulmer Saw a Negro Near the Place and Fears Foul Play.

Glassport is wrought up over the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. John Bulmer, 58 years old. She lives in Clairton, and went to Duquesne Wednesday and drew considerable money from the bank. It was late when she and her husband started for home, and the only way to get to Clairton was to take a car to Glassport and cross the Monongahela river on a skiff ferry. Mr. Bulmer went to find a ferryman, leaving his wife standing on the railroad tracks at Glassport. He returned in a few minutes, but could not find his wife.

A searching party was organized, but no trace of the woman could be found. Mr. Bulmer says there was a negro near the place when he left, and he fears foul play.

More Drinking Water in Schenley Park—Ice-Filled Tanks in Wilkinsburg.

The recent agitation over the lack of drinking water in Schenley park on the part of many of its visitors, has met with some success. There is a new pump beyond the Serpentine road, and three new hydrants have been placed in the neighborhood of the conservatory.

Those interested in the enforcement of the blue laws in Wilkinsburg are taking steps to counteract the effect of the closing of the drug stores. Three large tanks will be placed at important points in the borough and will be filled with water. In each will be placed on Saturday night 200 pounds of ice, and this, it is expected, will meet the requirements of the borough. Some druggists are having petitions signed calling for a more liberal interpretation of the blue laws.

DAVIS IS CALLED LIAR AND COWARD

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., July 2—(Special.)—A. F. Vanderventer, candidate for governor, stung by Gov. Davis' refusal to answer a challenge to a joint debate, has written a letter in which he charges Davis with stealing several counties from him in the last campaign by fraud. He brands the governor as a liar and a coward and says that he is afraid to have the writer expose the governor's record to the gaze of honest people. He reissues the challenge for a joint debate and dares the governor to meet him any place that he may designate.

NAVAL STATIONS TREATY IS SIGNED

United States and Cuba Reach Agreement After Prolonged Negotiations.

ISLE OF PINES SURRENDERED

New Republic Will Have Perpetual Sovereignty Over the Island, but Interests of Americans Are Safeguarded. Ratification by Cuba Will Be Prompt.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLES TO THE GAZETTE.]

HAVANA, July 2.—The treaty covering the naval and coaling station bases and the treaty placing the Isle of Pines wholly under Cuban sovereignty were signed today at noon.

The senate committee on foreign relations is delaying the ratification by postponing action on the treaty, signed February 16, conceding the two naval stations to the United States. The reason the committee gives out is that it is desirable to await the report of the joint commission of United States and Cuban engineers which is now engaged marking out the site for the large station at Guantanamo.

President Palma and the administration senators maintain that all the treaties will be ratified before the adjournment of congress.

The occupation of the naval and coaling stations will be perpetual, the rental price being purely nominal and based on the cost of acquiring the stations and sites by the Cuban government, the United States advancing any money necessary for the purchase of private lands at Guantanamo and Bahia Honda.

The Isle of Pines treaty was signed last. While turning over the island to the absolute sovereignty of Cuba the treaty safeguards the rights and privileges of the American residents on the island as though they were on American territory. Property and judicial and educational rights are especially guaranteed, as well as the conveniences for reference to and the registration of property and other public business. It is pointed out that the American land holders are better off in respect to taxation than they would be under United States sovereignty.

There were practically no difficulties or delays in reaching an agreement on the subject of the Isle of Pines treaty, but the naval station's lease was the subject of long and tedious negotiations.

Preliminary surveys of the land in fact already have been made at Guantanamo and the Olympia has been retained in Caribbean waters to be ready to land men and begin the work as soon as the authorization comes from Washington. About $100,000 is immediately available for the beginning of the work at Guantanamo and will be used probably in the construction of a wharf, barracks for a marine guard of perhaps 100 men and a small hospital. What will be done with Bahia Honda is yet uncertain, though the chances are that it will be used chiefly as headquarters for marines.

NO MORE SUBSIDIES FOR WHITE STAR LINE

England Aims Blow at Morgan's International Mercantile Marine Company.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, July 2.—The announcement was made in the house of commons yesterday that the government would on April 1 next give notice of the withdrawal of the annual subsidy of $110,000 paid to the White Star line. The lobby reporter of the Daily Mail says: "Initially the blow is aimed at the American combination, but it would have a reflex action all around."

Nothing was said in the debate in the commons with direct reference to the government subsidy of the Cunard line. Rumors were revived in Liverpool yesterday that the White Star line will shortly recede from the International Mercantile Marine Company, and that Mr. Bruce Comay has been conducting negotiations in New York with a view to the re-establishment of the status quo of the White Star line.

SWEET MUSIC TO HANNA.

Ohio Tenth District Senatorial Convention Praise Senator and His Record.

COLUMBUS, O., July 2.—(Special.)—The Republican senatorial convention of the Tenth district, held here this afternoon, nominated Thomas H. Ricketts, a Columbus attorney, and Renick Dunlap, a farmer of Pickaway county, for the state senate. The resolutions adopted pay the following tribute to Senator Hanna:

"We especially indorse and commend the able, honest and conscientious record of the Hon. M. A. Hanna in the United States senate. He has proved himself the peer of the greatest of American statesmen, the earnest champion of industrial peace, the sincere advocate of the welfare and rights of labor as well as capital, broad in his sympathies and opinions, comprehensive in his grasp of the affairs of state and lofty in his patriotism. His distinguished services merit the approval of his state and we pledge the nominees of the convention, if elected, to enthusiastically vote for and support his re-election."

BIG COAL DEAL.

Large Block of Ohio Territory Purchased by National Hocking Company.

ZANESVILLE, O., July 2.—(Special.)—One of the largest deals in the history of Ohio coal operations has just been completed, the purchaser being the National Hocking Coal Company. The company has acquired territory embracing more than 29,000 acres, at a cost of $406,000. The block of territory which this company has just acquired extends from the north end of Roseville eastward to Connellsville and then southward to Federal valley. It is from two to four miles wide and 20 miles long. Wabash railroad switches will go through the center of the property. More than 12 miles of railroad switches running north and southeast from Crooksville will traverse the territory. The company states that the work of developing the territory will be begun at once.

DEATH RATE IS LOWER, BIRTH RATE HIGHER

NEW YORK, July 2.—(Special.)—The vital statistics for the first half of the current year show a marked decrease in the death rate over that of the corresponding period of last year and an increase in the number of births. There were 34,855 deaths, indicating a death rate of 13.67 per 1,000; births 46,408, against 40,392 for the first half of 1902.

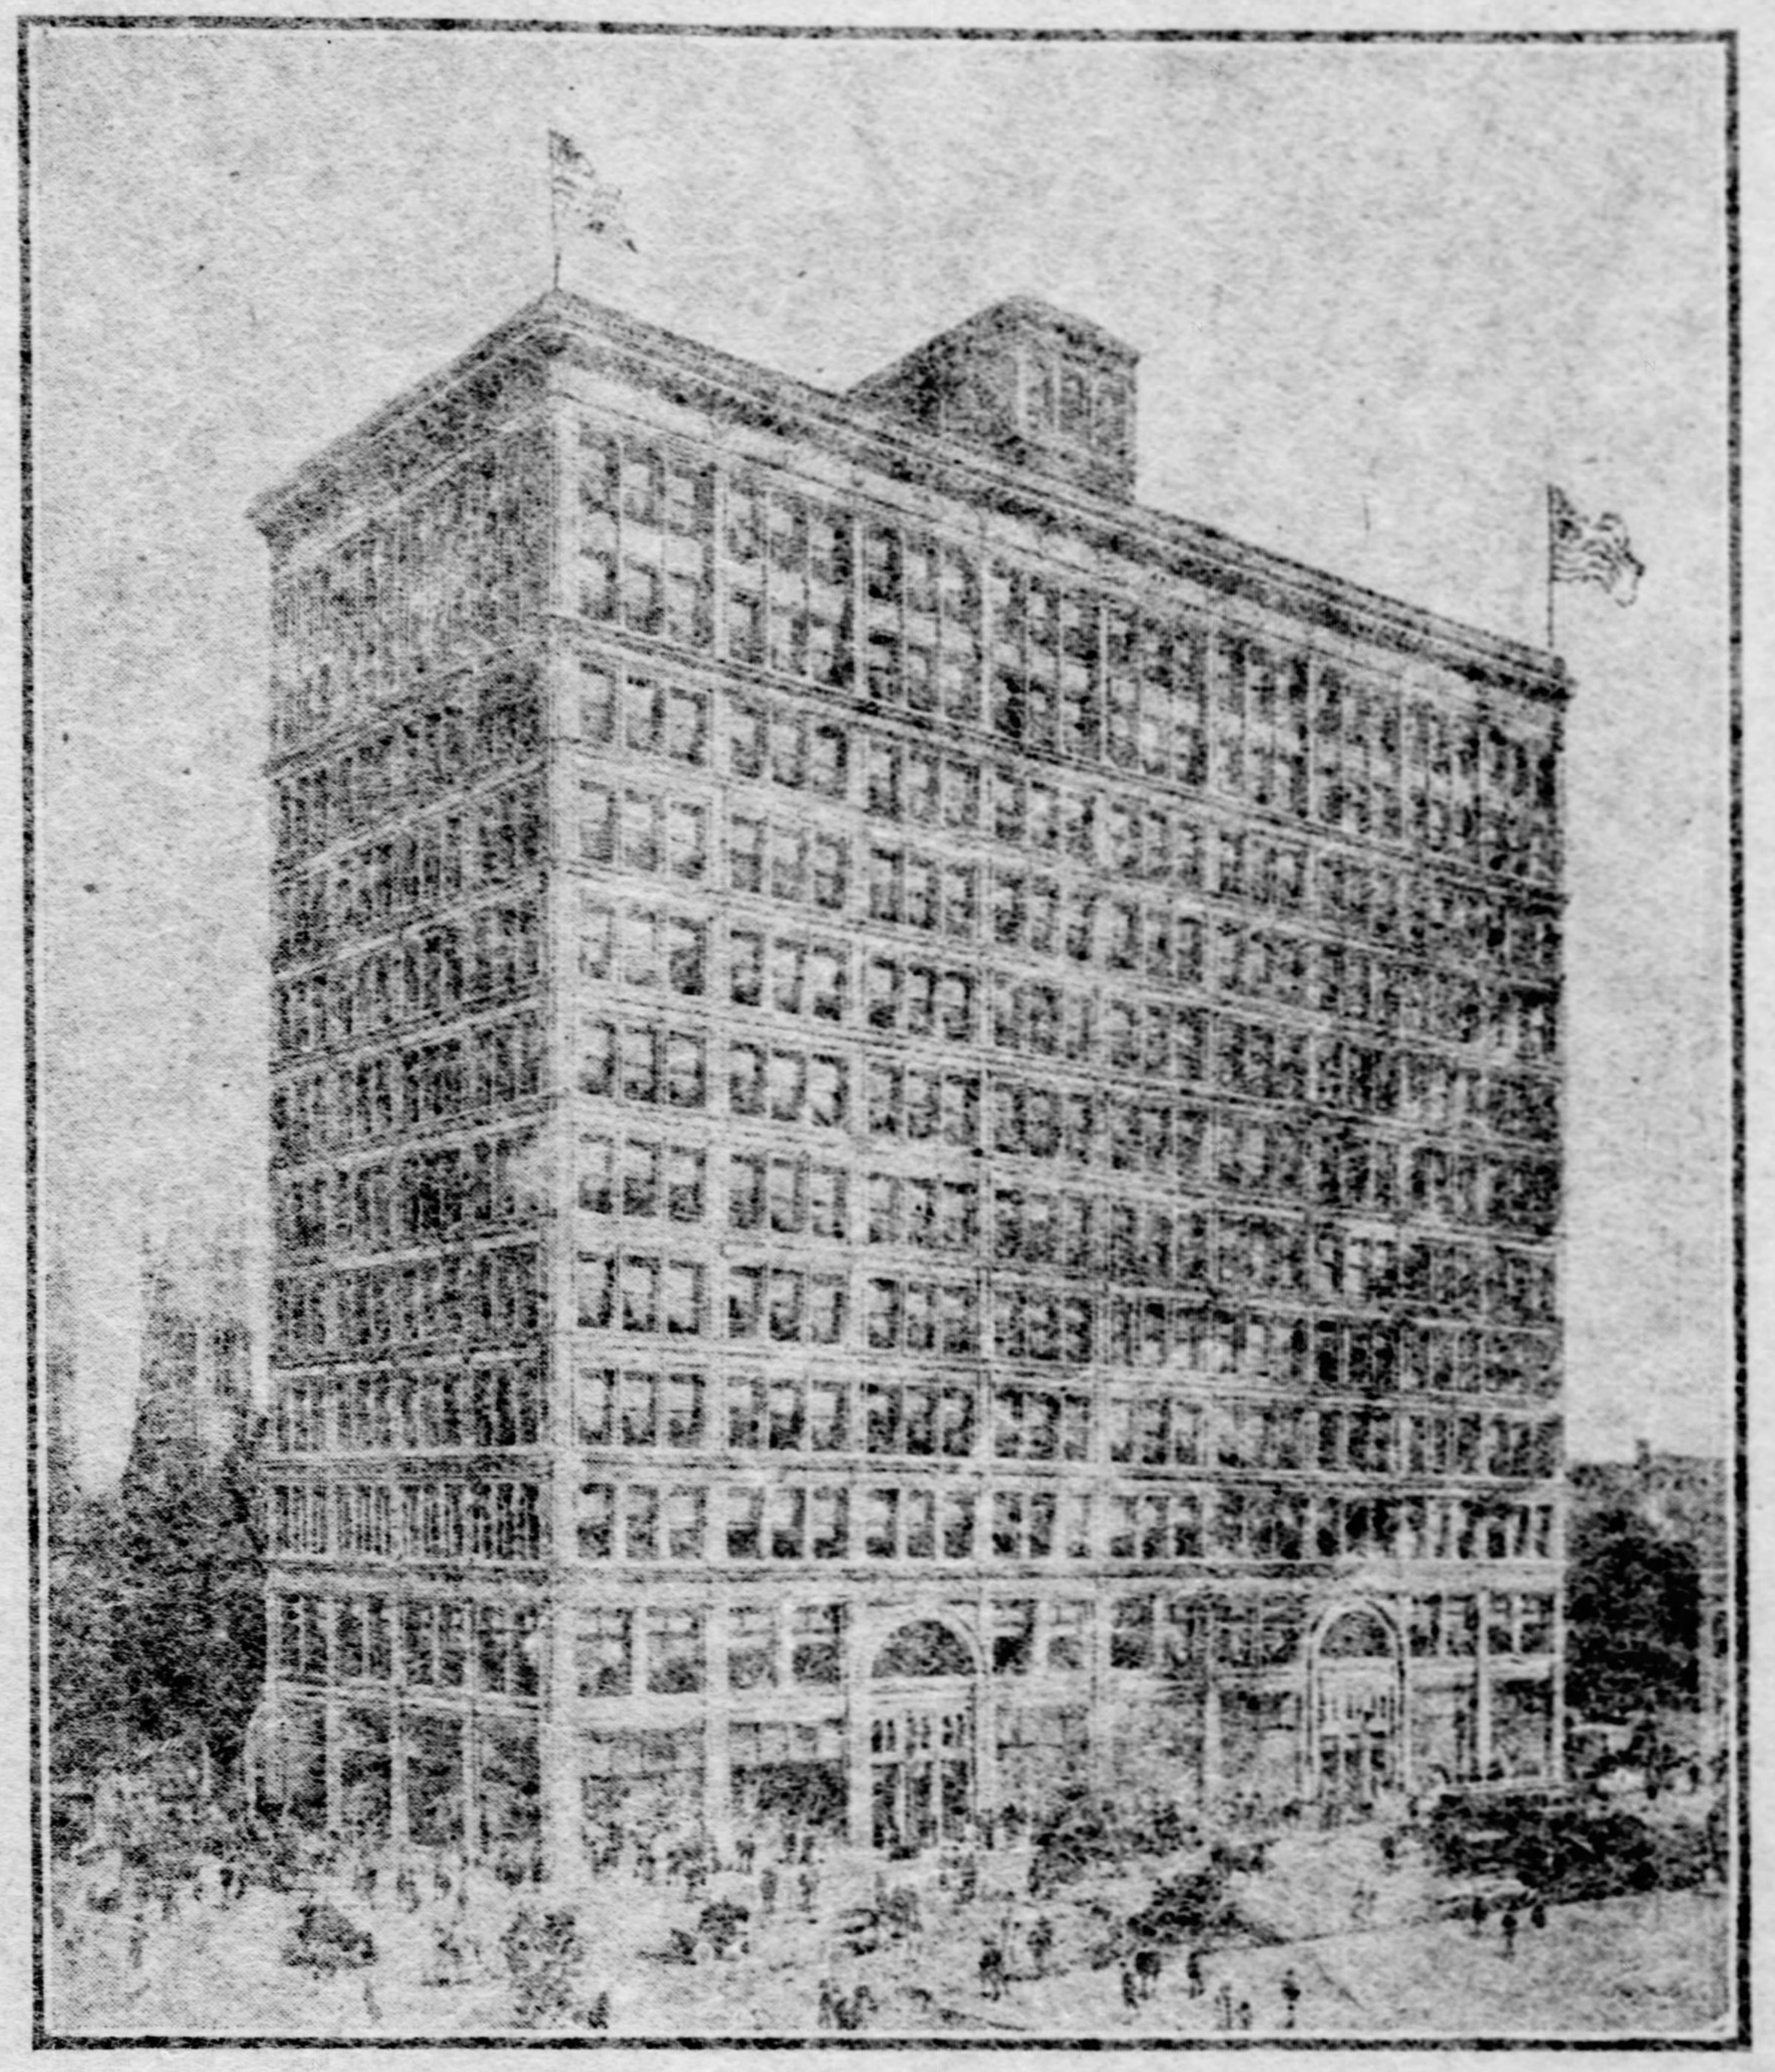
MAMMOTH DEPARTMENT STORE FOR PITTSBURGH



The 12-story store building which Henry W. Oliver is erecting in Wood street for James McCreery & Co. of New York, will be in many respects the finest structure of its kind in the country. The above cut is a photo from a water color perspective which Architects D. H. Burnham & Co. of Chicago have just prepared. The frontage in Wood street will be 240 feet, extending from Virgin alley to Sixth avenue. The ruins of the First Presbyterian church are nearly removed and the work of laying the foundations will be started in a few days. This will be the first large building in the city to have a white enameled tile front, which, it is claimed, is much more durable than stone and is always much more beautiful. In the basement of the store building will be a spacious apartment for loading automobile delivery cars, another innovation in Pittsburgh department stores. On the top floor will be large a cold storage room for furs. The building is being erected under the supervision of Architect H. L. Wass of this city.

CONCILIATION BOARD HELD A SECRET MEETING

Grievances of Miners Were Presented and Taken Under Consideration.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WILKESBARRE, July 2.—The board of conciliation met again today in this city, and while some grievances were considered, no conclusions were reached, and the meeting adjourned this afternoon. Another meeting will be held on Thursday. The session today was secret.

Most of the session was taken up with the matter of computing the 10 per cent advance; whether it shall be on the net or gross earnings. This grievance was submitted by John Fahy of the Ninth district, in addition with several others, and he presented figures of the earnings of the men in that region to prove the merit of their contention. The figures of Mr. Fahy were not complete, and as the other side questioned some of the deductions this question was set aside until the next meeting, when the statistics needed will be supplied and an effort to reach an agreement.

President Dettery of the Hazleton district submitted a list of the grievances of the miners in that region. They set forth the various matters complained of. Under the rules these grievances must be submitted to the operators, and secretary Nicholls was instructed to mail copies to each of the companies affected so they could make answer and explain the matters complained of.

EXPRESS MESSENGER WAS IMPRISONED FOR THEFT

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—William Murphy, the messenger of the United States Express Company, who confessed to the larceny of $20,000 entrusted to his care, was today sentenced by Judge Martin to one year's imprisonment. When Murphy was tried sentence was suspended. It was stated Murphy had been promised immunity if the money was returned. Murphy returned the stolen money. Counsel for the company protested against the suspension of sentence, denying that immunity had been promised. Murphy was then brought into court and sentenced.

M'TIGHE SAYS HARPER WAS TOO FAMILIAR

Despite his claims that John P. McTighe, superintendent of police, had often offered to let him use his his horse and buggy, Harry Harper of Dinwiddie street was arrested yesterday on a charge of stealing. He made no denials about taking the horse and buggy from the stable in Ann street and was returning it when arrested yesterday. McTighe said Harper had become too familiar and he could not tolerate it. During the recent political fights Harper has been one of McTighe's strongest lieutenants and his amazement when arrested was the greatest. He will be arraigned for a hearing at No. 2 police station this morning.

FINAL PROPOSITION WAS NOT ACCEPTED

Boiler Makers Reduce Demands to $3.68, but Manufacturers Would Not Grant It.

Striking boiler makers yesterday decided to make no more effort to settle the wage scale. The executive committee met the manufacturers yesterday, and offered to reduce their demands from $4 to $3.68 a day.

The boiler makers have been on strike since May 1. The manufacturers offered $3.78 for nine hours, but the men demanded $4 for eight hours. Yesterday's proposition of the manufacturers was $3.40 for eight hours, or $3.78 for nine hours. The committee refused the offer, claiming they will not accept anything less than $3.98 for eight hours.

The inside men, who struck June 1, have not been called in conference with the manufacturers. They were getting $3 a day, and came out for 10 and 15 per cent advance. The ones entitled to the 15 per cent are the foremen and layers, who were not given an advance last year, when the men secured a nine-hour day, instead of ten. The manufacturers informed the outside men that they would not recognise the inside men hereafter.

The Building Trades council has offered its financial and moral support. The boiler makers will be given work in other branches of labor. The ornamental iron workers will give work to a large number, and the sheet metal workers and the tinners will furnish employment to several.

OBJECT TO ATTORNEY.

Bricklayers' Executive Board Gives Decision on Stonemasons' Arbitrators.

"Will not agree to attorney on arbitration board. No objection to such acting as one of the committee of five to state the case in dispute."

The above was a telegram received at the bricklayers' headquarters from the executive board of the Bricklayers' and Masons' International union in reply to a message sent by Thomas Preece, special deputy, informing the board that the stone masons had appointed Robert Reineman, a Pittsburgh lawyer, as one of the three to serve on the arbitration board.

The executive committee of the Pittsburgh district of United Mine Workers has formally protested to the stone masons against the appointment of Mr. Reineman. The board insists that only a labor union man shall serve as arbitrator. The stone masons refuse to name a person in Mr. Reineman's place.

The question was brought up at the meeting of the Iron City Central Labor council. The stone masons were considered in the wrong and it was suggested that they name some person to take the place of the attorney.

Mr. Preece said last night: "On the 13th day of this month our three arbitrators will be here and ready to do business. If the stone masons have not three men of national reputation in the labor movement, we will not consent to proceed, and will call the matter a closed incident. We will then fight the stone masons to a finish."

WEAK PLACES FOUND IN THE IMMIGRATION LAWS

Commissioner Sargent Will Recommend More Stringent Legislation to Congress.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Frank P. Sargent, commissioner general of immigration, is completing his annual report of immigrant arrivals, violations of the contract labor law and other matters affecting his office for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903. The summary will show that the high tide of immigration to this country has been eclipsed by this year's record. It is estimated that the number of immigrants arriving last month is over 130,000, making a total of 885,245, or more than 100,000 in excess of the highest record.

Commissioner Sargent's report will be an important contribution to immigration literature and will contain valuable recommendations to the president to be transmitted to congress for the reform of existing evils of the immigration system. Commissioner Sargent will set forth that additional and more stringent laws are necessary to exclude the undesirable immigrants.

Not much objection was raised to the great immigration tide which began in the early 80's and continued for 10 years because a large fraction of the number were Germans who have become good citizens. But the immigration movement now is of a much lower standard, consisting of the peasantry of Austria, Hungary, Italy, Russia, Finland, Servia, Bulgaria, Greece and other southern European countries where internal troubles and hard times are driving natives to this country. Commissioner Sargent's review will show that the majority of the arrivals are of Hungarian, Italian, Russian and Greek descent.

New B. & O. Line at Fairmont.

The Baltimore & Ohio is about to build a detour line along the Monongahela river, opposite Fairmont, W. Va., to be known as the Palatine branch. West of Fairmont the Fairmont, Morgantown & Pittsburgh branch joins the Wheeling division, connection being made by a bridge over the river and into the immense new yard that is being constructed to take care of the Fairmont region coal. It was thought wise to extend the Fairmont, Morgantown & Palestine to a point east of Fairmont on the Wheeling division to afford an additional connection in case of congestion in and about Fairmont, and other emergencies. The line will be about three miles in length. The Wabash railroad has already bought its needed property at Fairmont, so that it will not be affected, an official says, by this new line.

CASSINI CALLS ON LOOMIS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Acting Secretary of State Loomis has been notified that the petition in behalf of the Russian Jews will probably be delivered at the state department or at Oyster Bay in about a week. The document is being sent from one city to another in order to secure the signatures of the representative Hebrews and American publicists in every section of the country which can be easily reached.

Without delay and immediately upon the receipt of the petition by the United States government it will be dispatched to Mr. Riddle, United States charge at St. Petersburg. It will be accompanied by a note of transmittal instructing Mr. Riddle exactly what disposition to make of the petition; for there is no intention here to place any undue responsibility on the charge in this matter. The department does not at present expect to publish that note, so that its nature is a matter of speculation, the weight of opinion being that Mr. Riddle will be instructed to inquire of the Russian government whether it is willing to receive a petition, the nature of which will be plainly indicated by him. If there is a negative response Mr. Riddle will so notify the state department and that probably will end the efforts of the department in connection with the petition.

The president, through Secretary Hay, informed his Jewish callers that he could not tell what reception the petition would meet with at the hands of the Russian government and should the petition fail of reception after Mr. Riddle's efforts it would absolve the president from further pursuit of the matter.

Meanwhile, and until the petition is received here, there is nothing more to be done, it is said. Through the newspapers, in an unofficial but quite adequate manner the governments of the United States and Russia have acquainted each other with their attitude in the matter.

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, called at the state department today to present Theodore Hansen as charge during the absence of the ambassador. The count expects to sail from New York July 7, accompanied by the Countess Cassini and his personal attendants. The count's stay at the department was very short and after the formal introduction of Mr. Hansen he conversed briefly with Acting Secretary Loomis, touching upon the matter of the petition in an informal way.

Both parties parted in the greatest good humor, which was a source of gratification as it will probably be their last meeting before the ambassador sails for Europe.

OFFICERS NEED REST.

American Sailors Visit Copenhagen, Denmark, and Are Kindly Received.

COPENHAGEN, July 2.—Many officers and men of the United States European squadron, now at anchor off Kallundborg, visited this city today. Excursions to points of interest were organized, and the visitors were the center of attraction for the populace, which evidenced in every way a kindly feeling for the Americans.

The officers of the American warships unite in expressing their appreciation of the courtesies extended to them at Kiel, but they say they are much in need of a rest after the extended round of German hospitality.

WAS A RECORD-BREAKER.

Past Fiscal Year Witnessed Big Increase in Coinage at Mint.

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—The fiscal year of the United States mint here, just ended, was a record-breaker in the number of coins, medals and dies struck, and the increase in the production was accomplished without any material increase in expenses.

According to the report made by Superintendent Landis to the treasury department at Washington the coinage was 16,378,760 pieces greater than the previous year, an increase in medals of 7,032 pieces and an increase of 209 dies. About $360,000,000 worth of coined bullion was counted and weighed as follows:

Gold coins, $56,000,000; gold bullion, $46,000,000; silver dollars, $92,000,000; silver bullion, $22,000,000. Besides this there was a large amount of subsidiary silver, nickel and bronze.

For the United States government 161,894,295 pieces were coined; for the provincial government of the Philippines, 14,479,994 pieces; for the Colombian government, 1,350,000 pieces, and for the Venezuelan government, 750,000 pieces.

DEMOCRATS DID NOT OBEY ORDERS

County Convention Insisted on Recommending Brennen for the District Attorneyship.

AGAINST BIGELOW'S WISHES

Former Governor Pattison Addressed the Delegates and Declared That a Change in National Government Is Needed.

The Democratic county convention yesterday nominated Cornelius Casey of Sharpsburg for jury commissioner, went against T. S. Bigelow's wishes and indorsed W. J. Brennen for district attorney, passed a resolution for a committee of five to confer with "other parties" in regard to nominating candidates for the fall campaign, heard an address by ex-Gov. Robert E. Pattison and afterward discussed possible trouble with the Citizens party. It was the quietest convention held in years by the Democrats.

The meeting, which took place in common council chamber, was called to order at 11:30 o'clock by County Chairman Thomas B. Alcorn, and then it was announced that former Gov. Pattison and W. Beasley, a Philadelphia lawyer, were in Controller John B. Larkin's office. A motion was made that they be invited to attend the convention, and Mr. Larkin, James A. Clark and W. E. Howley were appointed a committee to escort the two to the floor of the convention. Mr. Pattison, by request, made an address to the delegation which was enthusiastically received.

Pattison's Hope for Success.

He said he hoped for Democratic success at the next national election and declared the slogan of the party will be the old Tilden cry of "Turn the rascals out." He declared that a change is needed, the postoffice scandals being pointed out as one portion of the crookedness that he alleged is rampant in the government. Mr. Pattison eulogized the Democracy of the state and paid a warm tribute to Controller Larkin and to James M. Guffey. He said the Democrats had much to cause them to be hopeful and declared the people wanted the party of Jefferson to give them a clean and honest government.

A resolution of thanks to Mr. Pattison was unanimously adopted and the convention got down to business, which had nearly all been outlined at a meeting held the evening before.

County Commissioner James A. Clark was elected temporary and later permanent chairman. The following secretaries were elected: W. M. Turner, Wilkinsburg; John J. Tobin, Thirteenth ward, Pittsburgh; Richard G. Horan, Twenty-third ward, Pittsburg; J. W. Sloan, Nineteenth ward, Pittsburgh; Bert Baughman, Twenty-first ward, Pittsburgh; Robert Beck, Allegheny, and P. H. McGuire, Homestead.

A committee on resolutions, composed of C. A. Abbott, McKeesport, chairman; James McKay, Allegheny; Peter Burke, North Fayette township, and William McNeill, Hampton township, was appointed by Chairman Clark.

The nomination of Mr. Casey for jury commissioner was made by B. H. J. Carnegie, who himself had been after the place but withdrew. The nomination was made by acclamation. Thomas B. Alcorn was nominated for county chairman by Henry Meyer and had no opposition. W. J. Brennen and George S. Fleming were chosen members of the state central committee.

The following resolution, presented by W. J. Brennen, was unanimously adopted:

Resolution on Fusion Adopted.

Resolved, That a committee of five, which shall include the chairman of this convention, be appointed by the chairman of this convention, which committee is hereby authorized to confer with other parties with a view of placing in nomination worthy and capable candidates for the offices to be filled at the fall election, and to make and certify such nominations not made by this convention as the said committee or a majority of the same may deem wise or expedient to be made and certified for sheriff, district attorney, prothonotary and director of the poor of the county of Allegheny, and fill any vacancies that may happen by death, resignation or otherwise among the candidates named by this convention or the said committee, with authority, if the said committee deem it wise and expedient, to authorize the chairman of the county committee to recall this county convention to consider such questions as may be properly brought before it when reconvened.

Mr. Brennan will not be a member of the fusion committee.

A resolution to do away with minority representation in the county conventions in the future, also presented by Mr. Brennan, was adopted, as follows:

Resolved, That rule 9 of the rules governing the Democratic party in the county of Allegheny, which went into effect the first Monday of April, 1901, be amended by striking out the second paragraph of rule 9, which reads as follows:

Minority representation. In the election of delegates to the county convention as aforesaid, each delegate in said convention shall vote for not more than two-thirds of the delegates to be elected to the county convention and the delegates having the highest number of votes, not exceeding three delegates for each delegate that the said representative district is entitled to in the Democratic state convention shall be elected.

Denounced Salus-Grady Bill.

The Salus-Grady law was denounced, as also were the legislature and governor who were responsible for it.

Controller Larkin made a speech on fusion, in which he said in part:

"I am for fusion; an honorable division of honors and emoluments and then, an honorable discharge of the duties resulting from fusion.

"Nothing can be gained in this county or in this city without fusion, but it must be a fusion based on good faith and a desire to honestly give the people, who alone have made fusion successful, the kind of government promised to them. Any other kind of fusion is an abortion, and better that the Democratic party had continued struggling hopelessly up the hill and despairingly fallen down again in its effort to do right, than to succeed by intrigue and then deceive the people.

"The present friction within the Citizens party's ranks and yours is healthful; the outgrowth of the independent spirit that gave it birth, and of its disposition to compel obedience to the pledges made to the people, and those not impressed with the warning are hunting trouble with a lime light and will find it to their disadvantage."

They Want Brennen Named.

A resolution instructing the fusion committee to use all honorable means to bring about the nomination of William J. Brennen for district attorney was unanimously adopted. This was directly against the wishes of the leaders of the Citizens party and especially Thomas M. Bigelow. The latter wanted to allow the Democrats to name one jury commissioner and the prothonotary for next fall's election, but objected to the district attorney, whom they wanted to name themselves. The resolutions for fusion had originally read to onfer with the Citizens party," but were anged to read "with other parties." is is significant and means that the mocrats will put up a stiff fight to me Brennen for the nomination for dis ct attorney, although Thomas M. Bige says they will not be allowed to do so. fter adjournment the delegates were guests of the new nominee for jury mmissioner at the Monongahela house, ere they had a luncheon.

r. Pattison was in this city on legal iness and went back to Philadelphia evening. Before getting on the train aid:

think there will be a good chance for Democrats at the next presidential tion. Reform in public affairs is badly ed. It is likely an eastern man who bring all branches of the party to r, will be nominated. Judge Parker w York or Senator Gorman of Mary would make good nominees. I do not look for so many votes among the smaller parties at the next election as there have been in the past. Men are beginning to see that in most cases they throw away their votes unless they vote for one of the two big parties, and show a disposition to cast their ballots where they will do some good."

CLAIMING A HUSBAND WITH ANOTHER WIFE

Queer Matrimonial Tangle Developed by a Suit for Desertion by a Woman Who Says Henry Eckhardt Married Her.

Maintaining that she had been married to Henry Eckhardt, who as stoutly asseverates that he was never married to anybody but his present wife in Ford City, a woman giving the name of Mrs. Elizabeth Eckhardt has brought suit against Henry Eckhardt for desertion before Alderman James V. McMasters. Mrs. Eckhardt lives at No. 14 Yale street, Allegheny. She told the alderman that she was married to Eckhardt on December 8, 1900, by Alderman August Wolff of East Ohio street, Allegheny. The only Alderman Wolff known in Allegheny is George Wolff, who was an alderman with an office in East Ohio street at the date mentioned.

Constable James J. Finney found Eckhardt at Ford City with a young German woman, to whom, he said, he was married about two years ago, having met her on the steamship on his return from a trip to Germany. He admitted that he knew the woman who had sued him, but said he was not married to her. He gave bail for his appearance in court whenever wanted.

The Mrs. Eckhardt of Yale street said last night that she had employed an attorney, and, according to his instructions, she would not discuss the case. She insisted, however, that she had been married on December 8, 1900, by Alderman Wolff in the presence of numerous relatives and friends, but she would not say where. Constable Finney looked through the marriage licenses and found a license taken out on December 8, 1900, for Henry Eckhardt and Elizabeth Bolton. Mrs. Eckhardt said that the name was wrong in the license, for her maiden name was Walter, but the alderman in marrying her used her right name. Constable Finney could not find any record of the return of the marriage by the alderman.

Ex-Alderman George Wolff said last night he had no recollection of having married a Henry Eckhardt; if he had he would have made the proper return to the marriage license office, but he would not have married a man to a woman with a name different from the one given in the marriage license.

WILL HAVE VAUDEVILLE IN ALLEGHENY PARKS

Director Thomas B. Scandrett of the department of public safety of Allegheny has enlarged his Fourth of July celebration scheme and will have other attractions besides fireworks. Among other attractions Lawrence, the magician, will appear. There will be a band concert in the afternoon, and in the evening there are to be fireworks on Monument hill and a band concert in West park.

AUTOMOBILE EXPLODES AT DUQUESNE GARDEN

An explosion that practically wrecked an automobile, caused much excitement among the crowd entering Duquesne garden just before the performance of "The Bohemian Girl" started last evening. Charles Young of Allegheny with four young ladies occupied the machine. No one was hurt.

PERSONALS

Tatsuo G. Ogawa and S. Emanary of Japan have been commissioned to take charge of the government's exhibit at the world's fair in St. Louis. Besides representing the government they will look after the interests of 75 manufacturing firms, among them being Mogi, Emanary & Co., importers and exporters of silks, porcelain goods and ivory cuttings. They will visit local industries today and tomorrow before leaving for St. Louis. They are stopping at the Duquesne. Speaking of their mission Mr. Emanary said: "The Japanese exhibit at the St. Louis fair will greatly exceed any previous one. Over $4,000,000 worth of goods will be on exhibition. This will consist principally of silks. At the Japanese exhibition at the Pan American exposition $1,500,000 worth of goods were shown. There were 50 manufacturers represented, while at the St. Louis exposition $4,000,000 worth of goods will be collected and 75 firms represented. Among the exhibits will be a collection owned by the mikado. It will be made up largely of household effects and will be valued at $200,000. In this collection will be a set of claysonne, which consists of enamel on silk, the fabric being patented some time ago. An ivory cutting to be exhibited will be prepared by G. Toyama, the famous cutter, recognized the best in the world. It will represent the symbol of Japan and will be life-sized. The value is $25,000. Still another interesting exhibit will be a suit made for the mikado out of satsumma wear, which is somewhat similar to precelain. The mikado has consented having the suit placed on exhibition at the request of the president of the St. Louis exposition."

R. Wittfeld, private counsellor of the Prussian minister of public works, accompanied by Philips Pforr, engineer of the Union Electricitaets, arrived in Pittsburgh last evening and registered at the Duquesne. They are here on an inspection of the United States electric railways. They visited New York, Boston, Albany, Buffalo, Chicago, Indianapolis, and will visit Baltimore and Philadelphia, from where they will sail for London, England. Mr. Wittfeld said: "About 10 years ago the Prussian government purchased all the railroads, and electric lines. It now controls all transportation facilities. We were commissioned by the government to study the modern ideas of electrical appliances, principally of street car lines. We have many interurban lines, but many more are projected. In Berlin we have an overhead railroad, known here as a belt line. It is operated by steam engines. The government intends to change the power to electricity. Our inter-urban facilities in several cities are not meeting requirements. Upon our report will depend greatly what methods of improvements will be adopted and what projects will be accomplished. We visited Paris and several cities in Germany. These countries have good street railway service, but nothing compared with those of America. We will visit the Westinghouse interests before leaving."

W. A. Shoemaker, the New York broker, who claimed he represented a syndicate which intended renting the Pittsburgh water works, spent yesterday in the city, stopping at the Duquesne. Mr. Shoemaker said the uncertainty of the money market and the political opposition to the syndicate securing control of the water plant had prevented, in a measure, the syndicate making a formal proposition to city councils. He thought, however, that the syndicate will be ready to take the matter up in earnest within a few weeks. He left last night for Buffalo.

The Rev. Henry D. Linsay, D. D., of the North Presbyterian church, Allegheny, has been nominated for the presidency of the Western Theological seminary and the Rev. David S. In the Suburbs HOMESTEAD—General Manager Dodge of Kennywood park was fined $25 and costs by Justice George W. Giles last night. The ministers of the Turtle Creek valley instituted the suit.

BRADDOCK—Members of the First Presbyterian church at Braddock yesterday decided to erect a parsonage on the lot adjoining the church building in Library street. The building will cost $10,000.

SWISSVALE—At a meeting of merchants held in the office of Dr. J. Madison Linn, the burgess, last evening, plans were outlined for an immense street fair and carnival to be held in the borough next fall.

DRAVOSBURG—The new State bank, capitalized at $75,000, will open for business Monday. The officers are: President, S. S. Crump; vice president, James Wilson; cashier, M. L. Baum; solicitor, J. H. W. Simpson.

SEWICKLEY—About 50 Free Masons yesterday organized the Doric lodge. The officers are Conrad Stalzenbach, worthy master; Thomas Woods, senior warden; William G. Davis, junior warden; Joseph T. Nevin, treasurer, and Charles Adams, secretary.

M'KEESPORT—A steel manufactory is seeking a site for a large plant, and Pittsburgh capitalists who represent the company have been offered a 10-acre plot of ground free. The new mill would employ about 500 hands, among whom will be a large number of skilled workmen.

HOMESTEAD—Miss Jennie Kelley, 20 years old, of Eighth avenue, was seriously injured by falling from the running board of a car on the Pittsburgh Railways lines in Homestead yesterday. She was about to step from the car when it was suddenly started and she was thrown to the street.

EAST PITTSBURGH—Work was started by the Pittsburgh Meter Company on a large addition to its plant yesterday. It is to be a three-story brick, with a frontage of 80 feet in Braddock avenue and extending 200 feet back. It will be completed within three months and 200 additional men will be employed.

TURTLE CREEK—Strong protests are being made against council granting permission to the Pennsylvania Water Company to build a 16-inch main through the borough. The company charges the borough $50 for each fire plug. Citizens have asked council to refuse permission unless the company furnishes the borough free water for fire protection.

SAND METHOD IS ALONE POSSIBLE

Dr. J. Guy McCandless Declared That the Filtration Bond Issue Is Conditioned.

HE SCORED THE "MURDERERS"

For 11 Months a Councilmanic Committee Has Pigeon-Holed the Ordinance While Citizens of Pittsburgh Suffered and Died from Typhoid.

"To adopt any other than sand filtration would mean that the whole plan would have to go before the people again. The bonds which have been authorized were expressly for sand filtration," said Dr. J. Guy McCandless, a member of the original commission and later director of public works, yesterday.

"It was only to further the cause of filtration of the city water supply that I accepted the position of director of public works," he said. "When I took up the task I had the specifications for the first part of the work prepared and bids received. The contract for the first part was about to be let to Gillespie & Co., of New York for about $200,000 less than we had even hoped we would be able to have the work done, when W. B. Rodgers and George W. Guthrie, representing I know not whom, took us into the United States court and made the claim that the work could not be carried out in sections. They agreed that under the new charter all had to be provided before any could be done, and this claim was upheld.

Cost of the Work Larger.

"Then I had the specifications for the whole prepared. The cost of materials and labor had increased, and that meant a corresponding increase in the cost of the plant. That was the reason for the enlarged estimate. When the complete plans were shown to councils there was attached an ordinance authorizing the bond issue for the larger amount. This was referred to a special committee. That was 11 months ago, and so far as I know there has not been a meeting of that committee since.

"In the meantime the people have been suffering from the lack of water free from disease. It is up to the councils to bring out the ordinance and let the work go on.

"There is no doubt about the advisability of the plans that have been made. The best experts in the country have made them. The work they did is a monumental one and their report is a reference book everywhere that the subject is studied.

"Now that all the plans are prepared I do not know that it would be against the ruling of the court to start that part for which the money is available. The work can in this way be hastened, and that is very necessary."

Every One Favors the Plan.

"Every physician in the city and all others who take an active interest in the public health are eager for this work to start. I have never yet met a man who did not favor a bond issue for any amount that may be necessary to cover the cost of this work. It is a public task that should justly be met by a bond issue. The enjoyment of the filtered water will be as much in the generations to come as in the present generation, and the people of the future should bear their proportionate share in its cost.

"The city's site for the plant at Aspinwall occupies about 100 acres. The part needed at once for the proposed 20 filter beds is about 20 acres. The capacity of the plant can be increased whenever needed simply by adding new filter beds at comparatively small cost. The rest of the plant has a capacity great enough at the outset for all of Greater Pittsburgh, and there is room for making the filter beds also extensive enough for all that area that will eventually come into this city. The South Side will thus receive its supply.

"By all means let us have this work started at once and hurried through. All that Dr. Holland says of the delay is too true. The situation in Pittsburgh is unbearable."

WALTHER RIDDLE TALKS ON FILTRATION METHODS

He Says Mechanically Filtered Water Produces Too Much Scale for Boiler Use.

Walther Riddle, who was chemist of the commission appointed in 1897 to investigate various filtration schemes, favors the sand process. Mr. Riddle said last night:

"The sand filtration will be cheaper, both to the city and to the people. In our experiments several years ago we found that softer water results from sand filtration. This makes it more desirable than water filtered by the mechanical process and it requires the use of less soap. This argument, of course, appeals to the homekeepers.

"To manufacturers and those operating boilers for any purpose the sand-filtered water is better, as we found that water purified by the mechanical process formed twice as much scale on the boiler tubes as the sand-filtered water. Thick scale formation makes a larger fire necessary under boilers and incidentally runs up big fuel bills.

"As far as has been tried on a large scale the sand filtration has proved the best and most efficient method known. This was stated in the report of the commission to councils in 1897. There is an electrical method of filtration that is proving successful in Germany. It appears to me to be in advance of either the sand or mechanical processes."

INSIST ON KNOWING BOROUGH'S STATUS

A statement—that is what the Esplen borough council wants in regard to the borough's financial condition, but it failed to satisfy that desire at last evening's meeting. Only four members were present at the meeting. They had asked for a statement from the board of overseers of taxes and one from the First National bank, according to Chairman L. J. Deidrich, but none appeared and the councilmen were indulging in threats of sending solicitors after the disobedient officers in consequence.

Pity the woman who thinks she needs a fire for washing. The right way, the easy way is with Fels-Naptha soap, and no boiling or scalding.

TWO DROWNED WHILE BATHING

Victims' Friends Almost Met the Same Fate While Attempting to Rescue Them.

MOTHER'S SORROWFUL NEWS

Heard of the Death of Her Son While Making Inquiries at the Morgue. There Were Three Other Cases for the Coroner.

A man and a boy were drowned while bathing in the local rivers yesterday, and a companion of each of the victims had narrow escapes from the same fate while attempting to rescue them.

John Trepo, aged 25, an Austrian laborer living in Strawberry alley, McKeesport, fell off a float in the Monongahela river at the foot of Market street, McKeesport, last night, and was drowned. He and John Wagner, an Austrian, went swimming off a float. Trepo took a dive and did not rise to the surface again. Wagner went after him, and he himself was nearly drowned. W. J. Merritt was standing on shore and saw Wagner struggling in the water. Merritt jumped in with his clothes on and saved Wagner as the latter was going down the third time. Hope of saving Trepo was abandoned, and at midnight his body had not yet been recovered. Trepo had no relatives in this country.

John Kearney, 14 years old, of No. 3807 Fifth avenue, was drowned in the Allegheny river at Brilliant station yesterday afternoon about 2:30. He, with two other boys, Lawrence Elmore of DeSoto street and Beverly Fox of No. 3811 Fifth avenue, went to the zoo in Highland park yesterday afternoon and after playing around some time started out to take a swim in the river. Kearney could not swim. He waded out beyond his depth and the swift current carried him into a hole. Fox attempted to save his playmate, but was almost drowned in the endeavor. Several larger boys were swimming nearby and they tried to rescue Kearney. The current was swift and the body was carried away. It was recovered later and removed to the morgue.

The boy's mother missed him at supper time and went to the police station in search of him. Then thinking that some accident had befallen him she went to the morgue. While she was at the morgue the telephone call came in announcing that her son had been drowned and that the body had been recovered.

Mrs. Bridget Tracy, aged 63, of 3232 Second avenue, died last night in the Passavant hospital of injuries received Sunday by being struck by a train on the Baltimore & Ohio road near Brady street.

Florence Pitzer, the 3-year-old daughter of William Pitzer of Hawkins avenue, North Braddock, died yesterday morning of burns received a week ago.

Paullo Roccho, 22 years old, an Italian coal miner of Castle Shannon, died at the Homeopathic hospital yesterday morning of injuries caused by a fall of slate in the mines of the Castle Shannon Coal Company June 24.

ASSAULTED TWO WOMEN.

Negro Beats Them When He Found They Had No Money and Makes His Escape.

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 2.—(Special.)—Jerry Rogers, colored, broke into the home of the Misses Tweedy and Moore, near Smithfield, last night to steal, and when detected assaulted the two women, possibly fatally injuring one. Rogers had been employed by them and had heard the village gossip that the women had a large amount of money in the house. A week ago he was caught in the attic of the cottage hunting among old boxes. He was discharged.

Last night they were awakened by the crash of glass as the negro jumped to the floor of the room. He crossed to the bedside and gripped their throats. When they told him there was no money in the house he dragged them from the bed and choked them. A desperate fight followed. Miss Moore seized a chair and knocked Rogers down, but he rose and hit her on the shoulder with a club. She fought on and he hit her in the face, rendering her unconscious. Her shoulder was dislocated and several teeth knocked out. The elder lady begged of the negro to take all their household valuables and leave, whereupon he turned on her and knocked her senseless with a blow on the head.

While the women lay unconscious Rogers searched the house and made his escape unmolested. The women did not recover consciousness until nearly dawn, when Miss Tweedy went to the nearest house and roused the neighbors. A mounted posse of 200 men are searching for him and if he is caught he will be lynched. Miss Moore's condition is serious.

NO LONG VACATIONS.

On Account of Great Improvements Pennsy Officials Will Remain Near Home.

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—(Special.)—A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, will leave Philadelphia for his summer home at Bar Harbor on Monday. Mr. Cassatt will remain away until fall, but will come to this city whenever extraordinary business needs his attention.

It was emphatically denied today that Mr. Cassatt would go abroad this summer. The New York tunnel, the Washington depot, with the other great improvements being made by the company, will require his being in close touch with his office for the next six months.

No other general officer of the company, it is said, will go to Europe this season, as the company has too much work on hand to dispense with their services for any length of time. Most of the general officers have taken cottages at Maine or New Jersey resorts.

To Investigate Labor Dispute.

At the meeting of the Iron City Central Labor council yesterday a committee was appointed to investigate the dispute between the Boot and Shoemakers' union and the salespeople. The salespeople are affiliated with the Knights of Labor and the Boot and Shoemakers union with the American Federation of Labor. Action on changing the constitution was deferred until the next meeting, July 15.

EXPRESS RATES ARE SENT UPWARD

Companies Make New and Uniform Advance on Certain Kinds of Business.

ARE WORKING IN HARMONY

New Agreement Went into Effect July 1 and is Being Enforced All Over the Country—It Affects All Articles Weighing Less Than Four Pounds.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, July 2.—Announcements of a heavy advance in merchandise rates were sent out today by express companies. The new schedule went into effect July 1 by joint agreement, and henceforth the shipper of packages weighing less than 50 pounds will have to bear the burden of the increase.

While the express companies insist that they have no association or joint agreement the unanimity with which they acted in lifting the rates shows that each knew what the other was doing. The announcements do not contain the signatures of the different companies, but all the companies are demanding the same new graded scale.

The houses having large mail order business in which packages are shipped by express will suffer heavily under the new schedule. These firms send out catalogues twice a year, thousands of them going by express, for which they pay 8 cents a pound. It is estimated that the express companies alone carry more than 1,000,000 of these catalogues, many of them weighing as much as three and four pounds. The increased cost under the new schedule will be two cents per catalogue, or $50,000 a year.

While the large firms of this character are affected the heavy increase really falls on the general public. For instance, under the old schedule a one-pound package could be taken to nearly any point in the United States for 25 cents. Now it will cost 30 cents west of Dodge City, Kan. Two-pound packages will cost 35 cents, instead of 30 cents, as under the old scale. Advances will be found in the same percentage up to 50 pounds.

The companies were careful in making up their new schedule so that it does not show any heavy increase on the face. For instance, on 100-pound lots—the basis of the schedule—the rate is the same as it always has been. But for small packages the companies kept under the government rates—the government being their only competitor. The government charges 16 cents for four pounds of merchandise, while the express companies charge 25 cents in certain limitations. But on the one and two-pound packages the express companies offer the inducement of $10 insurance. In this way the express companies have been able to secure the business from the public notwithstanding the competition of the postal system.

WILL MAKE HOWE-BROWN WORKS STILL LARGER

Frank B. Smith, president of the Crucible Steel Company of America, denied yesterday the report that the Howe-Brown mills at Sixteenth street, will be sold to the Pennsylvania railroad. That plan was considered, he said, but it is off. The company proposes instead to make extensive repairs to the plant.

Car Knocks Down a Wall.

Car 614 of the Center and Negley avenue line jumped the track at the curve at Euclid avenue and Bunker Hill street, about 6:30 o'clock last night, and running across the street, crashed into the stone retaining wall at Highland park. Part of the wall was knocked down and the front of the car demolished. The half dozen passengers were badly shaken up, but not seriously injured.

You've read in McClure's how our great cities are run strictly for graft. Some are worse than others.

Philadelphia is the worst of all.

A city where "macing" great corporations is the principle of government; a city where every public work is a ring job; a city whose last mayor openly boasted that he was going to get all he could out of it; a city where the citizen can't vote, and isn't even allowed to protest.

That's Philadelphia

HEAVY EXPORTS OF WIRE AND NAILS

Pittsburgh Mills Break Record for Foreign Shipments During June.

ALL COUNTRIES ARE BUYERS

Australia, South America and Europe Are Unusually Heavy Purchasers—Mexico and Cuba Also Buyers—Bridge Material Also in Demand.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, July 2.

Pittsburgh mills made record-breaking exports of wire, wire nails and pipe last month. Almost 12,000 tons were shipped to various parts of the world from the plants of the American Steel and Wire Company and National Tube Company, branches of the United States Steel Corporation. More than 7,500 tons of wire and wire nails were exported.

Five thousand and ninety-one tons of wire were sent abroad. Australia, South America and Europe were the principal purchasers. The exports to the first-named country were particularly heavy, 2,639 tons going there in eight lots. Seven hundred and thirty-seven tons went to South America, 446 tons going to the Argentine Republic, 124 tons to Brazil and the balance in about equal proportions to Chile and Uruguay. To Europe 684 tons were shipped.

The United Kingdom took 485 tons in 25 lots. One hundred and eight tons went to Glasgow, 121 tons to Manchester, 105 tons to Liverpool, while the balance was distributed between Hull, Bristol, Dublin, Belfast, London and New Castle. The exports to the continent represented a total of 201 tons. Christiania, Stockholm and Copenhagen were the ports to which shipments were made.

Four hundred and fifteen tons were shipped to Mexico. Cuba took 129 tons. One hundred and twenty tons went to South Africa. Shipments of wire were also made in June to China and Japan, Maderia, Colon, Manila and Porto Rico.

The exports of wire nails last month amounted to 2,685 tons. Twelve hundred and forty-seven tons went to China and Japan. Seven hundred and eighty-six tons were shipped to Europe, the United Kingdom taking 725 tons. The shipments there were principally to Liverpool, which port took 229 tons; to London, which was sent 217 tons, and to Manchester, where 132 tons were forwarded. New Castle, Manchester, Glasgow, Belfast and Bristol were also made shipments. On the continent the ports of entry were Constantinople, Copenhagen, Amsterdam and Holland. Two hundred and ninety-five tons went to Australia. One hundred and fifteen tons were shipped to South Africa. One hundred and eighteen tons were sent to South America, Argentine Republic and Chile. Exports of wire nails last month were also made to Malta, Madras, Mexico and Cuba.

The exports of pipe made up a total of 4,200 tons. These figures represent an increase of more than 35 per cent when compared with the shipments made to different parts of the world during May. The principal June exports of pipe went to Europe, where over 2,000 tons were forwarded. The shipments to the United Kingdom aggregated 724 tons.

The American Bridge Company's Pittsburgh plant shipped to foreign countries last month 630 tons of structural steel. Four hundred and twelve tons went to South Africa. China and Japan were shipped 135 tons, while one lot of 103 tons went to Colon.

GRAND ARMY WILL FIGHT LEE STATUE

HINT OF A DAVIS MEMORIAL

Alleged Purpose of the State of Mississippi to Thus Honor President of the Confederacy Arouses the Veterans to Action.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 2.

The opposition to the placing of a statue of Robert E. Lee in Statuary hall at the capitol has led to a movement in the Grand Army to have congress enact legislation to prevent the placing in the capitol of a statue of any person who has at any time borne arms against the United States government. Recently there have been reports that the state of Mississippi would place a statue of Jefferson Davis beside that of Robert E. Lee and now the Grand Army is thoroughly aroused. Lincoln post of Washington has just adopted resolutions which are identical with those adopted by hundreds of posts throughout the country. These resolutions are as follows:

"Whereas, It is generally known throughout the Grand Army and the country at large that a movement is in progress which originated in the state of Virginia and which received the indorsement of the legislature of that state by the passage of a bill to place in Statuary hall in the capitol of the United States a statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee, and

"Whereas, There is nothing in the record of Gen. Lee which would designate him to be thus honored, except the distinction he gained above his fellow Virginians in his efforts, prolonged through four years of war, to destroy the government of which said capitol is emblematic,

"Therefore, Be it resolved by Lincoln post, department of the Potomac, That said post regards it as an act of desecration to put in the capitol of the nation the statue of any man, however great his personal virtues or unsullied his private life, who devoted his energies and talents to the destruction of the government of the United States.

"And be it resolved, further, That congress, at its next session, be memorialized by the members of the G. A. R. to so amend the statues of the United States as to prohibit the placing of any statue, bust or painting in Statuary hall of any person who has ever borne arms against the government of the United States.

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted by letter to the department commander of this department with the earnest request that this matter be carried to the national encampment, soon to be held at San Francisco, looking to united action by the Grand Army of the Republic."

Whenever a proposition has been made to place a statue of any of the confederate leaders in the capitol it has been violently opposed by members of the Grand Army. When the great stone arch, known as "Cabin John Bridge," just above Washington, was completed the names of the cabinet officers under President James Buchanan was carved upon it. The bridge had been built during Mr. Buchanan's administration, of which Jefferson Davis was secretary of war. At the beginning of the civil war Davis' name was obliterated and it has never been replaced. Various efforts have been made to have Mr. Davis' name restored but the prejudices growing out of the war have been sufficiently strong to prevent this.

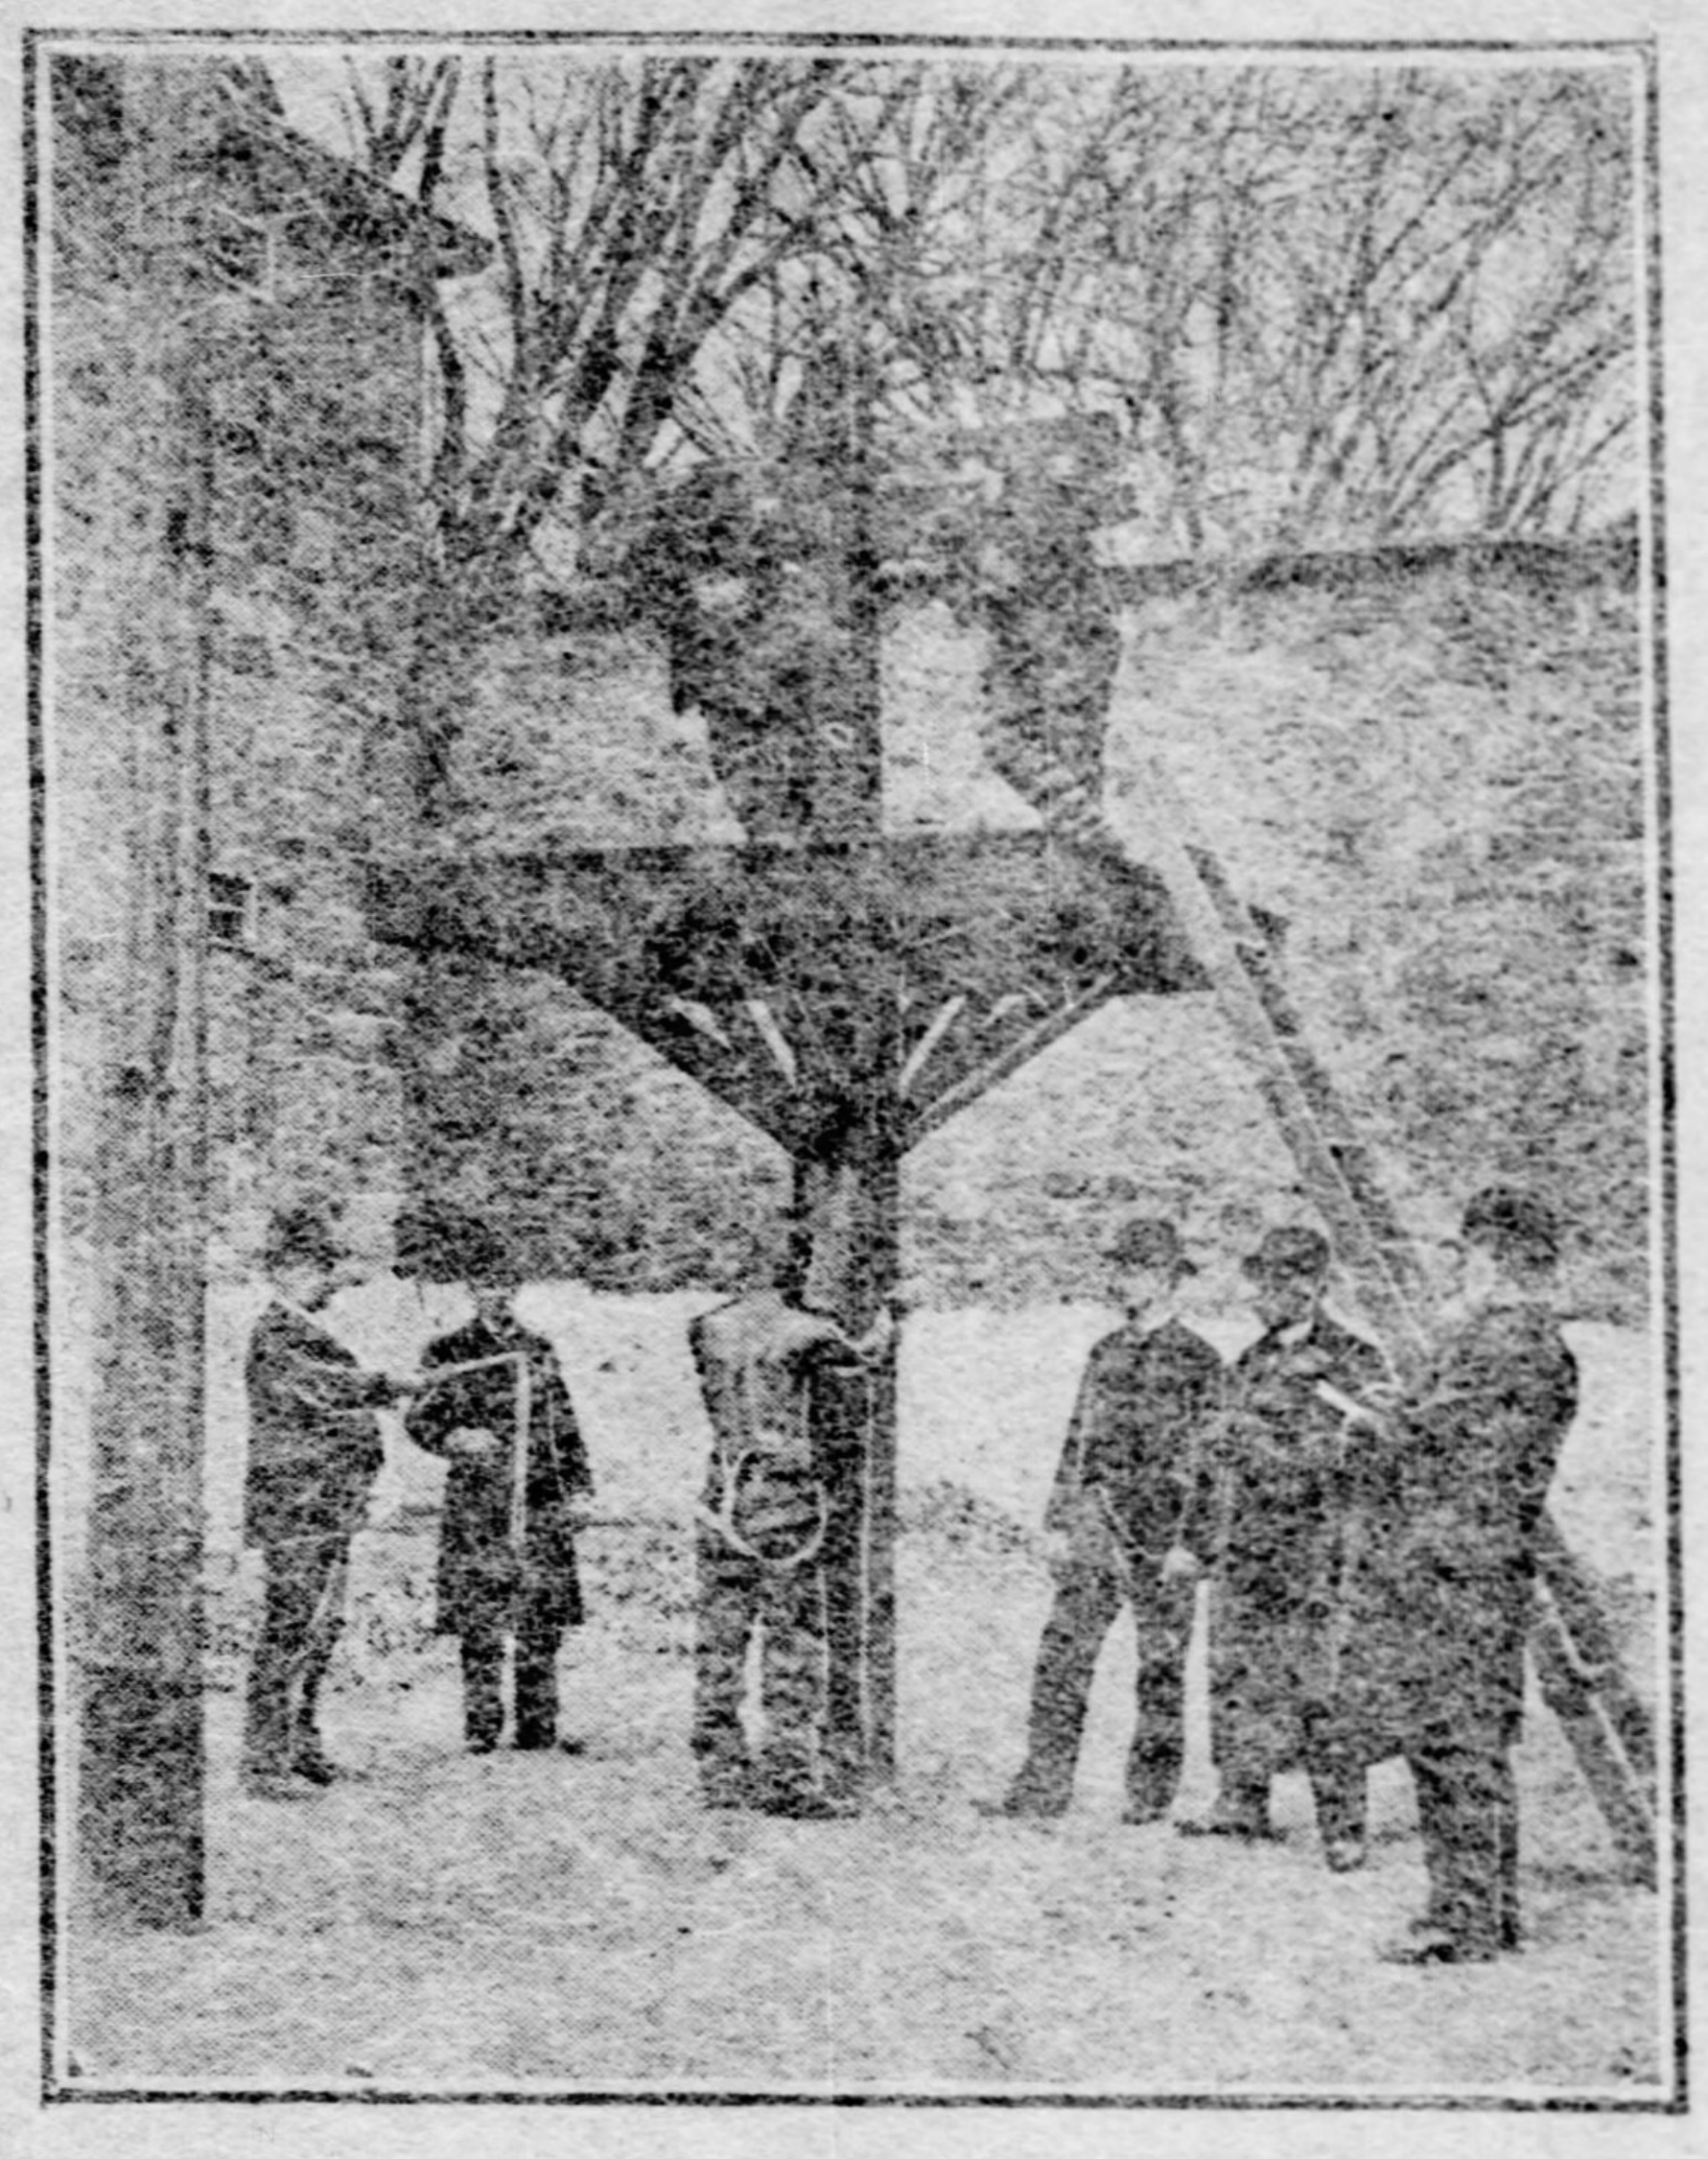
OFFICIAL WHIPPING POST IN DELAWARE



Punishing Thieves and a Wife Beater.

Whether at the hands of an angry mob, as in the case of the recent death of George White, the slayer of pretty Nellie Bishop, or by a regular decree of the courts, the lawbreakers of Delaware are almost certain to have punishment meted out to them. One of the methods used by the courts in their maintenance of the law and order of the land is the use of the whipping post and pillory. These instruments of torture which some regard as savoring of the days of the Spanish inquisition, are used to punish two offenses only—that of wife-beating and theft. They are also operated only in three counties, at New Castle, the capital of New Castle county; at Georgetown, the capital of Sussex, and at Dover, the county seat of Kent county, and the capital of the state.

The picture represents a scene in New Castle county, where White was burned at the stake. The whipping post and pillory are in the jail yard and the back of one of the negroes has been bared to make ready for the application of the cat-o'-nine tails. The man at the right of the picture is the chief of police of Wilmington. He is prepared to keep a tally of the number of lashes. The blacks were found guilty of theft, while the white wan was a wife-beater.

PERU, IND., July 2.—This city was struck by a cloudburst at 5 o'clock this morning and rain fell in sheets for an hour. The water backed up to the Wabash railroad tracks and entirely submerged North Point. The greatest damage was at Elmwood, where 250 families live.

That suburb was under six feet of water in some places and in some of the homes the water stood two feet deep on the lower floors. In Cass county immense damage was done by the storm. Near Logansport several buildings were wrecked. The storm was also severe around Wabash.

DIGGING FOR SUPPOSED BURIED ROBBERS' HOARD

BELLEFONTE, PA., July 2.—(Special.)—John Showalter, the wounded robber, has so far recovered that he has been removed from a ward in the Bellefonte hospital to a cell in the jail. It was feared he would attempt to escape. There is still a belief that the four robbers now in jail have buried money in or around the Faust barn, where they were captured. No large sum was found on them. Every day parties of men and boys dig every available corner around the old building. So far, however, only an old silver-mounted dirk knife has been found.

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

Philadelphia at Exposition Park.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—Wilhelm's pitching, backed up by faultless fielding on the part of the champions, notwithstanding Brooklyn's big bunch of errors, which cut little figure in the run getting, allowed the Pirates to win this afternoon's game at Washington park, Brooklyn, in hollow fashion, at the same time increasing their already comfortable lead over the Giants, owing to the postponement of the game at the Polo grounds between the New York and St. Louis teams.

It was a long-drawn-out game. Just before 4 o'clock a terrible wind and dust storm came up, which delayed the game for some minutes, and with the score a tie in the third inning it commenced to pour, driving the players and spectators to cover. After waiting a few minutes the rain ceased and play was resumed.

The fielding feature of the game was Beaumont's quick return to the plate of Flood's double, on which Jacklitsch tried to follow Jennings across the plate, but he was easily caught at the plate by Phelps. This was the only time, outside of the last inning, when Wilhelm let down, that the Hanlonites gave any sign of becoming troublesome.

Garvin pitched good ball, except in the fifth inning, when the visitors got to him and piled up a "block of five," both Sebring and Wagner putting the ball against the fence for a brace of doubles. Sebring and Wagner also cut a big figure in the run-getting column.

In the second inning, after Wagner worked Garvin for a base, Kruger struck out. Leach singled over second, placing Hans on third. Ritchey's infield hit forced Leach at second, but Wagner scored. In the fifth they made enough runs to win the game. Wilhelm got in the road of a pitched ball. Beaumont bunted and was safe on Garvin's throw, Wilhelm going to third, from where he scored on Clarke's single. Sebring scored Beaumont on a double and Wagner duplicated the hit, sending in Clarke and Sebring. Kruger was an easy out at first. Leach sent Wagner home on a long fly to Dobbs.

Sebring scored in the seventh after getting free transportation to first. He stole second and scored on Strang's wild throw over Doyle's head of Leach's tap. Sebring got another in the ninth after singling and reached third on Strang's bad throw of Wagner's hit. Kruger followed with a single, scoring Sebring.

Brooklyn got its first run in the second. Jennings was hit in the ribs by Wilhelm and Jacklitsch and Flood followed with hits. Not until the ninth could Brooklyn score, when they piled up three runs. Ahearn, who won the game yesterday, batted for Garvin and beat out a hit to Wagner. Strang singled and Sheckard doubled, scoring Ahearn. Strang scored on Dobbs' out. Jennings went out at first on a hit to Leach, Sheckard scoring on the play. Score:

HAHN'S FINE WORK.

Held the Boston Batters Safe and the Reds Won.

BOSTON, July 2.—The masterly pitching of Hahn shut out the home team today, while Cincinnati scored two runs by bunching hits in the sixth inning. The game was prettily and at times brilliantly played in the field, Cooley, Dexter, Tenney and Dolan making difficult running catches. The score:

HERRMANN IN LINE.

CINCINNATI, O., July 2.—(Special.)—The [illegible] of President Pulliam to President Herrmann['s] letter protesting against the action of [illegible] in regard to player George Davis, has [been r]eceived by Herrmann and practically dis[poses] of the case so far as Cincinnati is con[cerned].

[Pulli]am declares that the majority of the [illegible] have acquiesced to the move, and [illegible] join Herrmann in his protest, so there [is nothin]g left for Herrman to do but allow [Davis to] play against the Reds in Cincinnati. [Pulliam']s reply is a voluminous one, setting [forth] the features of the contention, and [seeking t]o show that he acted justly, but [he] declines to make it public in view [of the fact] that Pulliam himself did not see [fit to do] so. FAST TENNIS GAMES PROMISED NEXT WEEK

The Best Experts Are Entered and Fight for Championship Will Be Warm.

The fight for the local tennis championship, which begins on Monday, July 6, at the Pittsburgh Field club, promises to be the most interesting in the long and eventful history of these contests.

This tournament, which is for the single championship of Western Pennsylvania, has been held 14 years consecutively without a break, a fact which shows the firm hold tennis has in this locality, and which also proves the event to be one of the oldest athletic fixtures anywhere in the country. The championship has been held in past years by the following: M. A. Christy, S. W. B. Moorhead, C. A. Buch, Thomas Ewing, A. S. Pier, C. L. Childs and Dr. T. W. Stephens.

This year there is keen rivalry for the honor. Childs, G. D. Edwards, Moorhead and Stephens, who will defend his title against the winner of the tournament next week, are all in daily practice at the Field club. The frequent rains have kept the turf courts in fine condition, and they were never in better shape. Besides the above the entries so far received include such strong players as E. Englert, McNulty, C. K. Weiler, E. Sunstein, Iams and others. It is expected that there will be a list of about 25 in all.

Entries close Saturday, July 4, at midnight, with S. W. B. Moorhead, 405 Keystone building. Entries for doubles will be received also on Monday. Play begins at 4 p. m. Monday next. Players unable to play early may arrange to report not later than 5:45 p. m.

GERMAN DRIVER WON.

The Big Auto Race Was a Fast Affair—Second Place in Doubt.

LONDON, July 2.—(Special.)—A dispatch from the New York Herald's correspondent at Ballyshannon, Ireland, says that M. Jenatzky of the German team has been declared the winner of the automobile race for the Coupe Internationale. He covered the course of more than 368 miles in six hours 36 minutes and 9 seconds.

It will not be announced till tomorrow who was second in the race, since Baron de Knyff and M. Forman, both of the French team, finished so close together that it will require further calculation of their time allowances to decide between them.

The most remarkable features of the great race were its practical immunity from serious accidents and the wretched showing by the American teams. At Ballyshannon, which is the headquarters for the race, no news had been received tonight of anyone being injured except one of the contestants, the English crack Jarrott, and his chauffeur. Jarrott had a miraculous escape from death and now lies with a broken collarbone and a badly bruised body. His chauffeur also has a fractured collarbone, besides a broken leg. The accident occurred through the steering gear of the favorite English car getting out of order when going at full speed. Instead of turning a corner the automobile ran straight into the bank at the side of the road and was smashed clean in two. How the occupants escaped death is more than they themselves can explain. Stocks, another Englishman, had his car disabled through the same cause, but was not hurt.

The poor showing of the American competitors is generally attributed to the excessive lightness of their cars. Owen, who made the best showing among them, when the race was over said he could not blame the roads. "I guess the reason I was beaten is the same as that of the other fellows who were defeated by the daring German."

OPENING RACES IN THE FIRST HENLEY

WERE SOME EXCITING EVENTS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—The first American "Henley" under the auspices of the newly-organized American Rowing association was held this afternoon over the national course on the Schuylkill river in Fairmount park. A comparatively small crowd was out to see the races. The association hopes to make its annual affair the classic rowing event in America. Its plan is copied closely after the famous English "Henley." The distance—one and five-sixteenth miles—is the same as the English distance, and the rules are practically alike. The regatta today was not as fully representative of the American oarsmen as the stewards of the association had hoped it would be. Out of the 27 entries in the 10 events, 17 were from Philadelphia, four from Boston, two from Detroit and one each from Baltimore, New Haven, San Francisco and Canada. The weather was clear and very hot and the river was quite smooth.

The greatest interest was manifested in the eight-oared shell race between the Argonauts of Canada, Yale freshmen, a mixed crew from the University of Pennsylvania, and the Union Boat club of Boston. The Canadians won easily by four lengths. They took the lead at the start and were never headed. Yale and Pennsylvania furnished a beautiful race for second place. Yale lead Pennsylvania over half the course, when the Pennsylvanians drew upon the New Haven lads, but could not hold them, and Yale finished second by nearly a half boat length.

In the first single sculls Ernest George of Boston defeated Robert P. Blake, also of Boston. A. W. Paper of San Francisco was also in this race. Shortly after the race started he stopped rowing and claimed he was fouled by George. The stewards reserved their decision, but Paper later withdrew his claim of foul.

The closest race of the day was between the University of Pennsylvania and the Ariel Boat club of Baltimore in the four-oared shell event. The Ariels were even with the Pennsylvanias to a point near the finish, when bad steering lost them the contest by two feet.

W. A. Meikleham of New York and William Innis Forbes of Philadelphia refereed the races. While one referee was taking a race down the river the other was getting the next crew started. Following is a summary of all events not made up exclusively of local men:

Eight-oared shells—Won by Argonaut R. C. of Toronto, Canada; Reiffenstein, J. N. Mackenzie, W. D. Phadisty, Pharmenter, Kent, Hamber, D. R. Mackenzie, Wright, Reed, coxswain. Second, Yale freshmen; Heckscher, Swenson, Morse, Scott, Whittier, McMahon, Weeks, Whitney, Muzzy, coxswain. Third, University of Pennsylvania; Boars, Yorke, Shoemaker, Drayton, Bogardus, Williams, Zanes, Shisler, Register, coxswain. Fourth, Union Boat club, Boston. Time, 6:38.

Single sculls—Won by Ernest George, Boston A. A.; second, Robert P. Blake, Union B. C., Boston; time 9:22 2-5. A. W. Paper of Delphin B. C., San Francisco, entered, but did not finish. Claimed a foul by George, but withdrew the claim.

Four-oared shells, without coxswain—Won by University of Pennsylvania; second, Ariel B. C., Baltimore; third, Detroit B. C.; time, 7:50.

Eight-oared shell race for school crews—Won by Boston interscholastic; second, Philadelphia Central High school; time, 7:16. Only two entries.

Pair oared shells—Won by Detroit B. C.; second, Vesper B. C., Philadelphia; time, 8:22 2-5. Only two starters.

Williamsport Was Shut Out.

ALTOONA, PA., July 2.—(Special.)—The hot weather completely thawed out the locals at Columbia park this afternoon, and by superior playing a whitewash was administered by them to the visitors. The pitching of Williams, also the hitting of Davis and fielding of Smith were brilliant features of the game. The score:

AN UGLY ACCIDENT MARRED YACHT RACE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEWPORT, R. I., July 2.—For the first time in the history of American 90-footers a fatal accident occurred today. Carl B. Olsen, a seaman on the old cup defender, Columbia, was washed from the bowsprit just before the yacht reached the first turn in today's race and was drowned. When the yacht lifted from the big wave into which she plunged Olsen was seen almost under the stern clinging to the bobstay, but before assistance could be given him the sloop dipped into another great comber and he was not seen afterward. Out of respect to the dead man the Columbia withdrew from the race.

At 9 o'clock tonight the regatta committee posted the following bulletin at the club station: "The Newport series for 90 footers will not be finished. There will be no more racing until the yachts start on the New York Yacht club's cruise."

Today's race was also marred by a mishap to the Constitution. Soon after the start she carried away the jaws of her gaff and the great steel spar swinging forward, buckled in the center.

The Reliance received the severest buffeting she has had since being launched. The sea was a terrific one for racing yachts, and when the yacht reached her goings it was noticed that she had a big dent five feet long in the bronze plating close to the waterline on the port bow. The indentation was similar to that the Constitution sustained two years ago.

The Reliance sailed splendidly in today's event. The wind blew more than 20 miles an hour and all three yachts found that they could not carry small working topsails to windward so they went off under the three lower sails only. It was the stiffest breeze and hardest sea that the boats have been cut in since the season's racing began and had there been no accidents the record for a 30-mile triangular course would have been cut down considerably. As it was the Reliance, with no craft to push her and with only a number one jib topsail hoisted in addition to the three lower sails came to the finish line from the second turn in 47 minutes 10 seconds, the fastest 10-mile leg ever sailed. The rigging and spars of the Reliance went through the test in splendid style, not a strand of wire being started.

JENNINGS AS MANAGER.

Will Have Charge of Baltimore—Deal in Players.

NEW YORK, July 2.—(Special.)—The Brooklyns and the Baltimore team of the Eastern league completed tonight one of the biggest base-ball deals of the year. Manager Hanlon of the Brooklyns and Wilbur Robinson of the Baltimores, after a conference lasting three hours, announced that Brooklyn will secure Outfielder John Haydon in exchange for Hughey Jennings, Outfielder McCreedie, Catcher Ahearn and Pitcher Pounds.

Jennings, it is announced, will become manager of the Baltimore team and will play at shortstop. Robinson resigned the position as manager tonight, but will remain with Baltimore as catcher. Jennings, Ahearn, Pounds and McCreedie will join the Baltimores immediately and will probably play against Toronto tomorrow. Hanlon, who is interested in the Baltimore club, summoned Robinson here yesterday. He told him that he was dissatisfied with the showing the club has made this year. Hanlon is after the Eastern league pennant, and it is on account of this that he transferred four of his best players to Baltimore.

WATERBOY WON SUBURBAN EVENT

Thirty Thousand People Were at the Race and Saw the Track Record Broken.

THE FAVORITE WAS BEATEN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—Before a crowd of 30,000 persons J. B. Haggin's Waterboy, with Odom up, won the suburban renewal, worth $12,000, at Sheepshead bay today. The black son of Watercress broke the track record for the mile and a quarter by covering the distance in 2:04 3-5, which is two-fifths of a second faster than the previous record made by the mighty Salvator in 1890. The Brooklyn handicap winner, Irish Lad, was second, and Goldsmith, the favorite, a bad third.

The crowd began to arrive early, and by the time the big race was run the grandstand was a mass of bright colors. The weather was a trifle hot, but just suitable for a record-breaking performance.

Goldsmith, from the W. C. Whitney stable, was made a hot favorite, with Whitney & Duryea's Irish Lad second choice, and Waterboy next in demand. Only a few moments was lost at the post, and they were sent away to a good start. Blues was first to show, with Irish Lad second and Waterboy third. Goldsmith was fifth.

Blues showed the way around the first turn and into the back stretch, with Irish Lad second. Going down the back stretch Blues opened up a gap of two lengths on Irish Lad, with Waterboy right at the latter's heels. The favorite was running in fifth position. Rounding the far turn, Burns on Irish Lad, and Odom on Waterboy, went after the leader, Blues. Foot by foot they closed the gap and at the mile pole both had Blues beaten.

Coming into the stretch Waterboy and Irish Lad were running like a team, both boys reserving their strength for the final effort in the last eighth of a mile. At the mile and an eighth pole Burns went to the whip, and although the 3-year-old responded gamely, he was never able to head Waterboy, who gradually drew away and won by a length. Irish Lad was second, seven lengths in front of Goldsmith. The fractional time of the race is as follows: :12 1-5, :24, :36, :48 1-5, 1:00 3-5, 1:13, 1:26, 1:39 1-5, 1:52, 2:04 3-5. Summaries:

First race, 6 furlongs, on main track—Unmasked, 110, Michaels, 12 to 1 and 4 to 1, won; Olympian, 113, Gannon, 6 to 5 and 1 to 2, second; Slave, 107, Burns, 7 to 1 and 5 to 2, third. Time, 1:13 4-5.

INFANT IS ABANDONED IN A NEW YORK CHURCH

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—Trying to keep cool, rocked in a little white cradle, and attended by a white-capped, white-aproned nurse in the children's pavilion of Bellevue hospital, is a five weeks old girl that was abandoned in a pew of the chapel connected with St. Francis Xavier's church last evening. It was after 6 o'clock when a woman, well gowned in black, entered the chapel and walked a few steps toward the altar and knelt in a pew. In her arms she carried a baby, which she laid upon the seat as she moved to the altar and knelt in prayer. A minute later she was at the door and gone.

An old woman hunted up the sexton and told him of the incident. When he returned a Miss Lorraine had the child and was taking care of it. She volunteered to hold it while a policeman was sent for. Patrolman McLaughlin of the West Thirtieth street station was the man found.

"Really, Miss," said the policeman, "I am afraid I'd hurt the little thing."

"Why, I'll carry it to the station house," said Miss Lorraine, and she did. There the baby was turned over to Matron Travis, the caretaker of infants found in the Tenderloin. Her experienced eye told her at once that the little one had been drugged with paregoric.

CHAUTAUQUA HAS OPENED HER GATES

Thirtieth Annual Session of the Famous Assembly Is Formally Inaugurated.

AN ADDRESS BY DR. VINCENT

Warns Newcomers That They Must Contribute Something to the General Good in Order to Gather the Full Benefit of the Session.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 2.—The thirtieth annual session of the Chautauqua assembly opened here today. The formal opening exercises occurred in the morning and were under the direction of Dr. George E. Vincent, who is head of the department of instruction. In his address Dr. Vincent said:

"We begin today what the calendar tells us is the thirtieth assembly; at the same time we like to feel that our Chautauqua experience is a continuous thing, that today we simply resume it where it was interrupted. Yet this much ought to be said for the benefit of those who have never been here before: What is it to be at Chautauqua? It is to belong to an institution; and that fact we want to emphasize always. If you have come to Chautauqua with the idea that it is a place out of which you individually are to gain a great deal; if you have looked on it in an individualistic kind of way, you have made a wrong beginning in Chautauqua life. Because we are all here to work together in the building up and enriching of a glorious tradition which now extends over 30 years. This is a precious heritage to those of us who have been here in the past. It is a thing to which we welcome you. But we must remind you that there is an obligation involved. You are not only to enjoy the spirit of the life which has been built up, but you are to make some contribution. Only in that spirit will you gain anything at Chautauqua, and only in that spirit will you add your contribution to the institution which has grown so great.

"President Hadley, in an address to some Yale students, set out what we may call the Chautauqua philosophy very well. He said: 'Remember that life is a measure to be filled, and not a cup to be drained,' and so, if we come with the idea that each one of us is to contribute something to this rich life, then indeed we get out of it all its best things. If we come to it thinking of it as a thing out of which we individually are to gain something, then indeed we fail to understand what Chautauqua means; we fail to gather from its life the rich purpose which it contains.

"So we welcome new Chautauquans to the brotherhood of Chautauqua; we welcome you to the intellectual possibilities represented here; we welcome you to the spiritual inspiration of the place, and we bid you remember that only that is to be won from Chautauqua which is the measure of what you contribute to Chautauqua."

TURBINE PROPELLERS TAKE TOO MUCH SPACE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Obstructed by the discovery that the increase in size of the turbine exceeds in rapidity the increase in power, the naval engineers who have been preparing plans for a scout ship of very high speed in which to experiment with turbines, have come to a standstill.

Rear Admiral Melville, however, does not propose that this halt shall be permanent. Having given many years to the study of turbines and been in close touch with the experts of electrical engineering companies using turbines, Admiral Melville intends to lay the foundation for a solution of the turbine problem as applied to marine architecture before he retires from the department, in August.

"The ideal ship for experimenting with the turbine," said Admiral Melville, "is, in my mind, the scout ship, such as was recommended by the general board. This ship would have 1,200 tons displacement, and a speed of 24 knots. According to calculations the turbine necessary to propel this vessel could be inclosed in an enormous castiron casing 16 feet in diameter, thus occupying considerably more space than is available under a protective deck. Unable, however, to secure cross-sections for this type of ship, the question of fitting them in torpedo boat destroyers has been under consideration."

GANGPLANK BREAKS AND CHILDREN DROWN

NEW YORK, July 2.—Many children struggled for their lives and at least one boy, and perhaps three, was drowned today in the East river when a gangplank running out from the Thirty-fourth street pier to the public bath for boys broke and the float turned turtle. Several men jumped into the water and rescued many of the little fellows.

KEELING TERRORIZED BY SLAV LAWLESSNESS

Cutting and Shooting Affrays and Hold-Ups of Almost Daily Occurrence.

Keeling, a new coal mining town on the Wheeling division of the Baltimore & Ohio, is terrorized. It is near the southern end of Mifflin township and has a population of several hundred, mostly foreigners. The Pittsburgh Coal Company and other coal companies have recently opened mines, and a large number of foreign miners have been attracted to the place. Fights and drunken brawls are almost daily occurrences, and several serious cutting and shooting affrays have taken place in the village during the past month, but no arrests have been made, as there is no police protection in the place.

During a drunken fight at a Slav wedding Sunday last two men were shot by one of the guests, and the other guests at the wedding tied the assailant to a tree and nearly beat him to death with clubs.

Wednesday night a Slav christening was celebrated and a riot broke out among the visitors. George Yanowiski and William Nesson were nearly killed, and yesterday they made information against their assailant, George Pilipiski, before Justice J. B. Jones of Homestead.

It was stated by a resident of the place yesterday that robberies and holdups are common occurrences, but owing to the location of the place details of the crimes never reach the outside world.

Constable Thomas Shinton of Homestead went to Keeling yesterday and was surprised at the tales of disorder told him by residents. The matter will be reported to the county authorities by Shinton today.

PITTSBURGH HOME TO BE GIVEN UP BY COREY

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 2.—W. E. Corey, assistant to the president of the United States Steel Corporation, will go to Pittsburgh tomorrow night to make arrangements for moving to this city. He will return within a short time and take up his residence temporarily at the Waldorf-Astoria.

He was asked by The Gazette correspondent whether or not a new president of the Carnegie Steel Company would be named, and Mr. Corey very politely replied that he did not know. He spent a busy day at his new quarters in the Empire building and returned to the Waldorf about 6 o'clock, where later he dined with W. B. Dickson.

"It is my intention, of course," said Mr. Corey, "to move my family to New York. I have not decided where I shall live, but in the meantime my residence will be at the Waldorf-Astoria."

Mr. Corey at present occupies the residence of Attorney General Knox in Ellsworth avenue. What disposition will be made of this property is not known. Attorney General Knox, by the way, quietly slipped into New York last night, but was not seen by any newspaper representatives.

News of the Rivers.

The steamer G. W. Thomas was not sent out on the recent rise. She left yesterday for Point Pleasant for a tow of empties.

The Ben Hur from Parkersburg was the the only down river packet to arrive yesterday. The Greenwood was due to arrive during the night from Charleston and the Lorena from Zanesville. The Ben Hur left yesterday afternoon and the Greenwood leaves this afternoon. The Virginia to Cincinnati and the Lorena to Zanesville, leave tomorrow afternoon.

The coal fleet which left this week is making good time. The John A. Wood, Raymond Horner and Gleaner have left Louisville for southern ports. About 250 coalboats are tied up above the Louisville falls on account of the mud in the canal. The James Moren will take the tows of the Stella Moren and Rover and give empties to these steamers to bring back. The Voyager and Charlie Clark will turn their tows over to the Iron Age.

Want State to Settle Strike.

NEW YORK, July 2.—At a meeting of the direct legislation conference tonight a resolution was adopted requesting the government to call an extra session of the legislature to pass such a law as will settle the present strikes and prevent such labor troubles in future. The resolution will be sent to the 700 local unions in New York. If a majority agree that this is the best way to proceed the resolution will be forwarded to the governor.

One Died from the Heat.

BALTIMORE, July 2.—Annie Geissman, aged 16 years, was prostrated by heat today and died this evening. Four laborers were prostrated during the day, but it is thought they will recover.

PITTSBURGHER SAVED FROM DEATH

Howard Smith Becomes Exhausted While Bathing at Atlantic City.

TWO GUARDS TO THE RESCUE

Shore Was Reached Only After Hard Struggle—Smith Was Resuscitated and Taken to His Hotel—Summer Crowds Now Throng the Boardwalk.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 2.

A daring rescue of Howard Smith of Pittsburgh was performed late this afternoon just alongside Young's pier. Smith had been in the water but a short time when he was observed by Guard Asa Parker to be in distress. The guard summoned Guard Penny, and together they dashed through the surf in the direction of the sinking man. Mr. Smith managed to keep afloat until the two men reached him, and then began the struggle back to shore. This was the most dangerous and difficult part of the whole business, for the surf was rushing in in a cross direction that carried all three in the direction of the piling of the pier. However, they managed to get ashore in a much exhausted condition, and then began the work of reviving Mr. Smith, who had fainted from his experience. He recovered and was taken to his hotel and he quickly regained his normal condition. He was seen on the boardwalk this evening not much the worse for his experience.

Many Pittsburghers Arrive.

Gradually the boardwalk is assuming a normal aspect and gradually the crowds are increasing. Today the largest contingent from Pittsburgh that has been seen here for some time put in an appearance by the morning and afternoon trains, and the general impression is that more will appear up to the Fourth.

EXURSIONISTS ENJOY RIVER.

Packets and Pleasure Boats Are Working Overtime During the Sizzard.

Now that the hurry to get coal out is over, conditions are becoming normal along the wharf. The excursion and packet steamers are now getting busy. The warm spell makes vacation a topic of interest and the river is getting its full share of pleasure seekers.

The Queen City had the largest trip of the season and it was necessary to procure several dozen cots to accommodate the large crowd. There were over 300 passengers on her decks when she left East Liverpool, O. This is a record breaking load.

The Columbia left yesterday afternoon for Morgantown with crowded decks, having the largest passenger list for the season. A large number of persons are leaving the city to spend the Fourth of July in quieter places, and in many instances this is their annual vacation.

The excursion barge Beauty had the largest excursion of the season yesterday. She landed at the Water street wharf with the Epworth League excursion from Rices Landing and surrounding country, last evening, and after a few hours stop returned. The excursionists started at 7 o'clock yesterday morning and will not reach home until 7 o'clock this morning, making an excursion of 24 hours. The Mayflower had a big excursion yesterday, having the Holy Cross church outing aboard. Big excursions are now being held almost daily, and the biggest season ever experienced on the local rivers is looked for. The other river packets are also carrying heavy passenger lists, but a noticeable drop in freight has taken place in the past week.

Society and Women's Clubs

AN ENGAGEMENT was announced a few days ago in Bridgeton, N. J., in which a number of Pittsburgh people are interested. It was that of Miss Alice Potter, daughter of Mrs. Alice G. Potter of Bridgeton, and Charles P. Elliott, now of New York. Mr. Elliott is a former Pittsburgh man, coming originally from Mercer, and in January he went to New York to live. He is a nephew of George Pearson of Denniston avenue. Miss Potter is a niece of Mrs. George W. Biggs of Craig street, Bellefield, and has visited in Pittsburgh several times, her last visit being four seasons ago. This engagement constitutes another link in the friendship existing between the Pearsons and the Biggses, which was formed by the wedding a few weeks ago of Miss Helen Pearson and George W. Biggs, Jr. Miss Potter and Mr. Elliott will be married in October in Bridgeton, N. J.

Another fall wedding will be that of Miss Elizabeth Atwood Biggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Biggs of Craig street, and William Kuhn Dunbar, whose engagement was announced a short time before the wedding of Miss Biggs' brother.

Mr. and Mrs. George Biggs, Jr., are living temporarily in the East End until the completion of their new house in East End avenue, which will not be finished until fall. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bushnell, Mr. Bushnell being a nephew of Mrs. George Biggs of Craig street, yesterday moved to their own new house in Murray Hill avenue. They have been staying at the Schenley since they came to Pittsburgh after their wedding trip. Their marriage took place near Washington, D. C., at the summer home of Dr. Loren Taber Johnston, the bride being Miss Edith Taber Johnston, a sister of Dr. Bascom Taber Johnston, who wedded Miss Edith Oliver a couple of years ago.

St. John's Hospital Benefit.

The annual lawn fete given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of St. John's General hospital was opened successfully yesterday afternoon on the Dahlinger grounds, in California avenue, near High bridge, Bellevue. The booths were erected about the place and gaily decorated with bunting. The grounds were brilliantly lighted and during the evening were crowded with people. Seldom have the women been favored with such pleasant weather on their opening night. The tent where supper was served was continually filled with people, while the ice cream tables were always surrounded by a hot group of young people. Many who intended passing on the cars got off and patronized the affair liberally. Large and efficient committees of women presided over the booths and tables last evening and they will conduct the lawn fete again this afternoon and evening.

The proceeds of this entertainment will be devoted to furnishing the new wing being added to St. John's General hospital.

Fox—Gearhart.

M. F. Gearhart and Miss Mary Fox, daughter of the late Joseph Fox, were married in Bellefonte, Pa., at 6 o'clock last evening at the parsonage of the Catholic church, the Rev. Father P. McArdle officiating. Fifty friends were present. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Anna Fox, as bridesmaid, and R. Russell Blair was the bridegroom's best man. The bride's gown was of white silk chiffon over silk, with old point lace trimmings. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The bridemaids wore white silk trimmed with heavy cream lace and carried roses. Following the ceremony a dinner was served at the home of the bride's mother, after which Mr. and Mrs. Gearhart left for an eastern honeymoon. They will be at home in Bishop street, Bellefonte, after July 15.

Cramer—Goshorn.

A pretty wedding took place last evening at the home of the bride, No. 102 Lobingier avenue, North Braddock. The bride was Miss Lulu Cramer and the groom Merle Goshorn of Duncannon, Pa. The service was performed in the presence of 50 friends and relatives by the Rev. Thos Lowe, pastor of the Fourth Street Methodist church of North Braddock. The bride wore a gown of white mousseline de soie and taffeta and carried white carnations in a shower bouquet, while her maid, Miss Clara Cramer, a cousin, was dressed in pink crepe de chine and carried pink carnations. There was a wedding supper and later the bride and groom left for an eastern trip. They will reside in Duncannon.

Dinner on the Lawn.

The second of the fortnightly Thursday nights at the Country club during the summer season was eminently successful yesterday. The weather was all that could be desired and dinner was served at the tables spread beneath the trees in the orchard. Several hundred people drove out for dinner and stayed during the evening for the concert by the American Military band. These Thursday evening entertainments will be continued on alternate Thursday nights throughout the season.

Last evening there were scores of informal little dinner parties. The grounds were well lighted after twilight by Japanese lanterns and electric lights and the scene was especially picturesque.

Bridge Whist at the Golf Club.

Mrs. David [illegible] Stewart gave a bridge whist yesterday afternoon at the Pittsburgh Golf club which was one of the most enjoyable affairs of the season. The club house was cool and comfortable, the breezes sweeping over the knoll upon which it stands, though the mercury recorded a genuinely hot summer day. There was little attempt at decoration and everything was conducted as informally as possible. A few flowers and ferns added to the charm of the interior of the house. The tables were surrounded by bridge whist enthusiasts of the East End and Shadyside.

Loughner—Smouse.

At the home of the bride in Hamilton street, Lodwick, last night Miss Carrie Loughner and Edgar Smouse of Jeannette were married by the Rev. W. R. Corter, pastor of the First Christian church of Greensburg. The attendants were Miss Mary Newman of Woodville, Pa., and Miss Sara Loughner, a sister, as bridemaids, and Joseph Scholtes of Shamokin as best man. Guests were in attendance from Pittsburgh, Braddock and Jeannette. Mr. and Mrs. Smouse will be at home in Jeannette after August 1.

Dinner at Penham.

Miss Mary L. Jackson gave a dinner last evening at "Penham," her home in Penn avenue, Homewood. It was a very informal affair for a few friends who will soon be leaving for their summer homes.

Bessemer Made New Ore Record, Hauling 556,000 Tons in June

A new record for average daily shipments in any month in its history, has just been made by the Bessemer & Lake Erie in its ore traffic for June. The reports show that 556,000 tons were handled. This figure comes within 20,000 of the topnotch figures of last August, the highest month in the history of the railroad. The business was greater than in any previous June and if there had been 31 days in June, as in August, even the record of last August would have been excelled.

It is the confident expectation of the Bessemer officials that the ore traffic of this month, August and September, will exceed the same months in all previous years. August is yearly the heaviest month, and a new high mark for all is expected to be made at that time.

The Bessemer ore is far from being the only ore brought to Pittsburgh. The Pennsylvania lines, the Baltimore & Ohio and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie all take a large part of this business. One of the principal reasons for the purchase of the Ann Arbor by the Wabash was to secure through it a Wabash line to tap the ore districts and link them with the Pittsburgh district.

Operators of P. R. R. Send Committee.

General Manager W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania railroad has now under consideration the propositions made to the railroad by its telegraph operators looking to bettering the condition of this important class of employes. A committee of about 25 of the operators has just finished a two-day meeting with Mr. Atterbury. The request is for relief days, vacation with pay and some little equalization of wages. The Pennsylvania claims that its telegraph operators receive better treatment than those on any other road. In all important offices eight hours' work prevails, and within the last year and a half fully 20 per cent of the offices working over eight hours have been put on that level, it is claimed. Only in comparatively unimportant points now do the operators work 12 hours.

A. H. Smith Had Rapid Rise.

From messenger boy at $4 a week to the general managership of the New York Central railroad 25 years later is the story of the rise of Alfred H. Smith, the new head of the Central's operating department, who took charge July 1. He is but 39 years old. He started with the Lake Shore at Cleveland. After his service as messenger boy he became one of a track gang at $1.50 a day. He was soon the best man on the gang and was made foreman. Then he became a brakeman, conductor, telegraph operator, train dispatcher, division superintendent and general superintendent. His rise is almost identical with that of W. C. Brown, vice president of both the New York Central and the Lake Shore.

C. P. A. at Cambridge Springs.

The Central Passenger association will meet in Cambridge Springs next Wednesday and Thursday. Two important subjects are to be considered. One will be the question of allowing different routes coming and going for those making the trip to San Francisco on account of the G. A. R. encampment. The other will be the equalization of rates through the St. Lawrence gateway, with those through the more southern Atlantic gateways. The Canadian lines are insisting upon representation in this way.

Railroad Notes.

W. W. Dunnavant, traveling passenger agent of the Queen & Crescent, reached Pittsburgh yesterday on a business trip.

J. B. Cameron, assistant division engineer of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern, with offices at Chillicothe, O., has been appointed division engineer of the Baltimore & Ohio at New Castle.

The Baltimore & Ohio announces the closing of the real estate purchases in Youngstown for the station site in Mahoning avenue and other improvement work there. About $300,000 has been set aside for this work, which will render the Baltimore & Ohio the best equipped road for passenger traffic in Youngstown.

The Pennsylvania proposes to consolidate the Cambria & Clearfield, Pennsylvania & Northwestern, Millersburg, Creston & Irvena, Ebensburg & Black Lick and Tyrone & Clearfield all into one corporation, known as the Cambria & Clearfield. The formality of voting this through will take place at Philadelphia July 17.

The Pennsylvania railroad voluntary relief department reports payments for the month of May as follows: On account of deaths, $27,202 99; accidents, $23,328 25; sickness, $36,441 40; total, $86,970 64. Since the organization of the department, on February 15, 1886, there have been paid benefits aggregating $19,820,453 69. Spencer Meade is superintendent of the department.

The house of commons at Ottawa has passed a Grand Trunk Pacific railroad bill without making any important changes, and R. S. Logan, assistant to the vice president and general manager of the Grand Trunk, states that work on the Pacific project will be pushed as expeditiously as possible. Preliminary surveys are all completed and construction work will be started at once.

Shipments of coal and coke originating on the lines of the Pennsylvania railroad east of Pittsburgh and Erie, for the week ending June 27, aggregated 852,378 tons. Of that amount 104,201 tons were anthracite, 541,132 tons bituminous and 207,045 tons coke. For the year to the above date these shipments amounted to 20,468,675 tons, an increase over the corresponding period of last year of 1,862,755 tons.

Women's Corner

The Wife's Purse.

Every married woman should have a purse of her own. Be it ever so small she should feel that she has a certain amount which is hers to spend without question or account. It is all very well to keep a strict account of all the household expenses, and with the help of the husband these should be attended to as economically as possible. The question of clothes may be discussed and between themselves and the question of money for little luxuries and amusements. After this, however, every woman should have a little money, even if it is no more than a dollar a week, which is hers for little things, and with which she may feel absolutely independent. Some men make the mistake of thinking that when a woman has a comfortable home, clothes and amusements provided and paid for by him, that she needs nothing more. No woman likes to feel dependent, and a man of sense will not expect his wife to come to him for every cent which she wishes to spend, while he hands it out—or denies it—with a certain superiority of feeling which is unconscious, perhaps, but nevertheless present. That women do not know how to manage money is a favorite fiction with some men. Grant it that some women do not—for that matter, some men do not, and a woman is not likely to learn practical business-like ways without any practice, and she will go much farther when she has something for herself to look forward to than when she must feel barred from independence.

SALLIE CARROLL.

In the Shops.

Turban hats made entirely of blue cornflowers have succeeded the geranium hats of last year. They satisfy the demand for brilliant hues, but in another color.

Hand-painted gauze or muslin will be in evidence for smart evening gowns. It is exquisite on china crepe silk and all kinds of light materials. When made up over colored transparencies the most delightful effects are produced.

DuBarry fans, rounded at the top and covered with sequins are the newest for ball room use. The sticks are of tortoise shell or mother-of-pearl.

Pongee in the natural color, trimmed with bands of oriental embroidery, makes a pretty summer wrapper.

* * *

Morning Gowns.

Two absolutely distinct styles for the morning are to be seen this summer. One style is even more elaborate than the morning dress of last year, and the other is severely simple, somewhat on the shirt waist gown design, but with a few distinctive features.

The question of how to dress in the morning is by no means easily solved, for in different places quite different styles are required. If a woman is to spend the summer in a part of the country where there are large country houses, and where the life, while supposedly formal, is in reality very informal, she will require smart but simple morning gowns. White linen, white duck, and white pique skirts with waists to match, or with a coat and shirt waist, simple muslin frocks that can be laundered and made without much, if any, trimming, are the best fashions of all.

But if a woman is to spend the summer at a fashionable watering place, she requires a most elaborate style of morning gown—as elaborate, in fact, as is necessary to wear at a garden party; the only difference is in the material, for as yet it is not thought smart to wear silk morning gowns. This elaborate style of dress prevails at the fashionable watering places, and is supposed to be put on by 11 o'clock in the morning, while, oddly enough, a much simpler style of dress prevails for the afternoon, unless there be some entertainment to attend.—Harper's Bazar.

Bits of Wisdom.

Will N. Harben's novel, "The Substitute," is full of bits of homely wisdom. Here are some examples:

"Bein' afeard you hain't as good as other folks is the biggest drawback on earth."

"All the ancestry an' family trees an' blue blood royal on earth cayn't keep a woman's heart from floppin' jest the way it wants to flop."

"She's jest a woman, George—jest a woman, after all, and they are all pine blank alike except in the sight of the different men who dote on 'em."

"A woman knows a woman, no matter how different they've been raised."

"Nothin' ain't smooth in this world, an' why should married life be an exception?"

"A good un—with a soul and heart. * * * Lovin' a woman like that's jest ambition, an' ambition's right an' upliftin'."

"It's plumb foolishness to try to lay down rules for other folks to live by."

"That never was a quicker way to kill courage in a feller than to fight his fights for 'im."

Ankle Length Skirts.

With the coming of summer heat, the lack of rain, and the frequent clouds of dust on pavement and roadway, women should betake themselves to wearing walking dresses cut off at ankle length. It is no especial pleasure to a girl to return from a walk down the street and find her tussore or foulard cut out at the hem, or smeared by pavement dust, and to find her white petticoat discolored by the sweep of the out skirt upon it.

While our streets are so dusty the ankle-length skirt is the only sensible attire for a promenade out of doors. The best dressmakers now insist on chopping off the hem of a walking dress, notwithstanding the protests of the woman who has not yet become accustomed to a skirt abbreviated of all dip, train or drag. It used to be a concession if the gown just "touched" the ground and did not drag, but the distinction is sharply drawn nowadays.

A carriage dress is one thing, and a walking dress quite another.

If the skirt be not cut too long in the front it will not look short in the back, even if it has no "traine" or demi-traine."

STOCK MARKETS DULL AND LOWER

Both in Wall Street and in Pittsburgh the Trading Was Extremely Light and Prices Closed at the Lowest.

By JOHN C. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The stock markets yesterday relapsed into extreme dullness. In Pittsburgh the volume of business was the lightest of the year, while in Wall street the sales reached only 256,000 shares. Part of the dullness was due to the impending double holiday. The declines which occurred during the latter part of the day represented selling by discouraged professionals who saw all their efforts to arouse public interest come to naught. London quotations were fractionally lower, and slight concessions occurred in the early dealings. The changes, however, were not sufficient to attract any particular notice, and the trading gradually dwindled until it became almost stagnant. The largest price movement of the day was in Hocking Valley, which was again very weak, breaking from 89 to 84½, representing a loss of 10 points in two days. Pennsylvania fluctuated within very narrow limits until late in the session, when it declined to and closed at 125¼. Baltimore & Ohio fluctuated to the extent of only ½ per cent. Notwithstanding the crop reports were favorable, which were reflected in the further decline in grain, the western railroad stocks gradually sagged to the close, and final prices were the lowest of the day. Missouri Pacific, which was quoted ex-dividend, sold off from 103¼ to 102⅛, being depressed by the Missouri state crop report, which estimated the yield of wheat at 25,000,000 bushels, as compared with 56,000,000 bushels last year. This decline affected Atchison, which sold off to 67½, and Rock Island, which sold off to 33⅝. St. Paul declined to 150⅝, and Union Pacific to 81¼. As an offset to the Missouri state report, a trade authority estimated the total yield of winter and spring wheat at 725,000,000, and a foreign authority estimated a shortage in the European crop of 160,000,000 bushels. Industrial stocks followed the general course of the railroads. Amalgamated Copper declined to 54½ on the reduction of a quarter cent a pound in the price of the metal. United States Steel common and preferred each declined about a half point and closed at the lowest. Tennessee Coal & Iron declined 1¾ per cent to 51, and Colorado Fuel & Iron, after advancing to 63¼, sold off to 61⅛. The general market closed very dull and listless.

The dullness of the market permitted of more attention being devoted to the railroad reports for the month of May and for the fiscal year to date. The showing made by the Pennsylvania railroad was a distinct disappointment, so far as net results were concerned. On the lines directly operated there was an increase of $722,700 in gross earnings, but a decrease of $89,000 in net. For the five months of the fiscal year there has been an increase of more than $5,500,000 in gross earnings and a decrease in net of $441,000. The congestion which occurred earlier in the year proved to be very expensive, but it was expected that May would show up favorably in net as well as in gross. So far as known there were no weather or other special causes that would account for the extraordinary expenditures. The St. Paul report for May was also rather disappointing, showing an increase of $218,000 in gross earnings and a decrease of $6,200 in net. For the 11 months of the fiscal year the gross earnings increased $1,872,000 and the net increased $750,000. Union Pacific reported for May an increase in gross of $452,000 and an increase in net of $119,000, but the mileage this year was 101 miles larger than for the corresponding month last year. For the 11 months of the fiscal year the gross increased $2,934,000 and the net increased only $264,000. Southern Railway is also not up to expectations. For May the gross increased $269,500 and the net only $50,000, while for the 11 months the gross increased more than $4,000,000, but the net increased less than $400,000. Louisville & Nashville reported an increase in gross for May of $399,000 and an increase in net of only $8,600. For the 11 months the showing is a little better, gross increasing $4,340,000 and net increasing $1,600,000. The exhibit made by the hard and soft coal companies is altogether different. Following the splendid statement made by the Reading, the Lehigh Valley reported an increase in gross earnings for May of $924,000 and an increase in net of $782,000. Ontario & Western reported an increase in gross for the month of $251,200 and an increase in net of $160,000.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

Forecasts on today's bank statement were of a less positive character than usual, owing to the fact that in addition to the changes usual to the season, the payments in connection with the Pennsylvania railroad must be taken into consideration. Through sub-treasury operations the banks have lost nearly $2,000,000 since last Friday, and the offset in the way of receipts from the interior is estimated to have reduced the net loss for the week to $975,000. So long as the stock market remains as dull as at present, however, the money market will not be a source of anxiety. Yesterday the rates on call loans ranged from 4 to 5 per cent, closing at 4 per cent. The absence of stringency this week has been a matter of general comment. The rate got as high as 10 per cent, but remained there for only a moment, and time loans have been sympathizing with the easier tendency in call loans. It is nevertheless true that there is more discrimination as to collateral than there was a year ago.

The total sales on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday were only 1,709 shares stock, the smallest for a long time. Pittsburgh Coal was firmer, the common advancing to 28½ and the preferred to 87. On the other hand the steel stocks were heavy, and on light transactions declined ¼@¾ per cent. Westinghouse Electric first preferred was ½ lower at 95½, but there were no sales of the second preferred. Airbrake was offered at 157½. In the banking group Industrial National advanced 10 points to 145, a new high mark, and American Trust advanced 10 points to 500. There were no transactions in Colonial Trust and no quotations for the stock. Dollar Savings Fund & Trust declined 6 per cent to 335. Real Estate Trust was unchanged at 293. There were no transactions in bonds.

Only Two Sides, But—

The future of the stock market was under discussion in a Fourth avenue brokerage office yesterday, when one of the most experienced men in the street remarked:

"There are only two sides to the market, the buying side and the selling side, but the man who tries to analyze the situation and then select the right side has the greatest problem in the world to solve. One-fourth of the proposition may be said to deal with actual legitimate factors, as the crops, commerce and cash credits. The other three-fourths deal with sentiment, and that embraces the mental attitude of 10,000,000,000 men and women who are in some way directly interested in stocks and bonds quoted on the exchanges. When you calculate the 'average' mental, physical and financial condition of that multitude you have guessed the right side of the stock market; but only for that day, or possibly for that hour. The average sentiment of the great mass of the trading public is a fluctuating quantity, and trifles light as air sometimes count in the balance. Every merchant and every broker knows the effect of gloomy, unseasonable weather. Of course there are slow and continuous movements in the market, just as there are tides in the sea, but the daily fluctuations are the result of the innumerable little things that influence sentiment among a multitude of people all over the world."

Promoters' Occupation Gone.

The report of new corporations chartered in the leading eastern states during the past month shows a large falling off in the business of promotions. There were only three companies organized during the month, with a capitalization as large as $10,000,000. Following are comparative figures, showing the aggregate of new companies with a capitalization of $1,000,000 or more, for June and for the six months ended June 30:

	1903.	1902.	1901.
Jan.	$177,390,000	$146,950,000	$105,250,000
Feb.	175,975,000	294,850,000	79,500,000
Mch.	144,975,000	158,150,000	186,500,000
Apr.	243,200,000	231,575,000	1,619,650,000
May	307,666,000	226,500,000	177,980,000
June	135,695,000	198,182,800	303,450,000
Total 6 mo.	$1,185,501,000	$1,254,207,800	$2,476,330,000

The total for the corresponding six months in 1900 was $1,584,500,000. In 1901 the figures were swelled by the United States Steel Corporation.

The total in June was distributed among the states covered by the compilation as follows:

Maine	$47,400,000
New Jersey	34,145,000
New York	22,850,000
Pennsylvania	20,800,000
Delaware	10,500,000
Total	$135,695,000

NOTES AND COMMENT.

A great deal of relief will be experienced in local financial circles when the pending bank and trust company deal is finally consummated. In one shape or another it has been hanging over the market since last April, and it is held responsible in some measure for the stringency in the local money market. Another matter which the street would like to see accomplished is the issue of permanent certificates for the American Window Glass Machine stock, which was issued in exchange for the $13,000,000 American Window Glass common stock. The latter was at one time the speculative leader of the local market, but since the conversion into Machine stock there has been no trading in or quotations on the latter. Meanwhile the trade situation is anything but flattering, and in some quarters doubt is expressed as to whether any dividend will be declared this year on Machine Company preferred stock.

Union Switch & Signal rights were quoted at $1 yesterday, 400 selling at that price. The stock was quoted at 70 bid, 80 asked.

The transactions on the Pittsburgh stock exchange for June, as reported by Secretary Chaplin, amounted to 340,511 shares, against 388,024 shares in May and 300,930 shares in June last year.

The directors of Rock Island were scheduled to meet yesterday to take action on the dividend, but owing to the absence of a quorum the meeting was postponed until today.

London cables yesterday stated that there was some discussion in foreign financial circles regarding the possibility of friction between the United States and Russia over the presentation of the petition in relation to the Kishineff incident; but Wall street did not regard the matter as worthy of any thought.

The Bank of Secured Savings of Allegheny has declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent, payable forthwith.

The Federal National bank has declared a quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent, payable July 15, to stock of record July 10.

The Mercantile Trust Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable July 10.

The Allegheny Bridge Company has declared a dividend of $1 25 a share, payable today.

The Chicago board of trade will be closed today as well as tomorrow.

The Pennsylvania National bank interests have organized a savings bank, to be known as the Pennsylvania Savings bank, which opened for business this week in the same quarters occupied by the national bank. The new institution has a capital of $100,000 and a surplus of $25,000, the stock having been sold at 125. The control of the bank is held by the national bank interests, but a considerable portion of the stock was sold to outsiders.

American Sewer Pipe was quoted at 19 bid, 20 asked.

A seat in the Boston stock exchange sold this week at $21,000, as against $23,500 last March.

The approximate gross earnings of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company for the fiscal year ended June 30 will be $16,000,000, an increase of about $2,000,000 over the previous year, and the net earnings, after deducting fixed charges, operating expenses and amounts spent for improvements, will be about $1,500,000.

The earnings of the Bethlehem Steel Company for the year ended April 30, 1903, shows manufacturing profits of $2,518,264 and a surplus of $2,000,714. The report for 1903 to the United States Shipbuilding Company reorganization committee shows that a net amount of $1,111,363 was carried to profit and loss for the year. The total credit as of April 30, 1903, was $4,500,000. A dividend of $250,000 was paid to the Shipbuilding Company to meet six months' interest on the $10,000,000 collateral trust bonds which C. M. Schwab received. It is said that the company has at present $12,000,000 worth of uncompleted orders on its books.

During recent years the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has three times disposed of new issues of its stock at prices well above par, first at $60 per share or 20 per cent premium, then at $70 per share or 40 per cent premium, by converting bonds into stock at that price, and now $60, or 20 per cent premium. Unfavorable general conditions and the very large amount of the recent issue threatened to disrupt the whole plan so that it became expedient to have it underwritten and the question now is whether the danger of the collapse will not hereafter deter the management from ever again attempting to put the company's stock out at a price above par. If a corporation were going to make an issue of 5 per cent bonds it would expect to sell them at par. This being so why should any corporation expect to float new stock above par? In the case of the Pennsylvania railroad the shareholders have reasoned that when they paid a premium into the treasury of the company they were in reality simply putting the money into their own pockets. Their confidence in the management has been unbounded, believing as they do that every dollar of fresh capital contributed will be so invested as to give a very excellent return to the shareholders. The taking of stock at a premium of 20 per cent is one of the greatest indorsements from the shareholders that could be given to the administration of President Cassatt. While the Pennsylvania railroad will not need to issue any more new stock for some years, yet the time will surely come when another issue will be necessary. By that time conditions may be very much more favorable than they have been during the past few months and moreover the great ultimate success of the recent issue may be reassuring to the management and shareholders alike.—Philadelphia News Bureau.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A recent discovery of rich ore in Deadwood gulch is attracting considerable attention to that locality and numerous locations are being made.

The Reins Copper Company, the combination of Butte and Pittsburgh capitalists formed to work the Combination mine, will begin at once to sink the main shaft another 500 feet. This will make the shaft 1,000 feet deep. Massive hoisting machinery is practically in place, and it is proposed to begin active development.

Henry Savage of Cripple Creek, Col., after visiting the mines of Tonopah, says he was most favorably impressed. In his words, it is the making of a camp that must compare with any in the history of the west.

George Morehouse, superintendent of the Erie Mining Company's copper-bearing properties on the great belt at Milford, says he has no doubt concerning its ultimate productiveness, as the shaft at a depth of 220 feet is in rock which shows a red oxide of copper, not to mention copper in native state, while the ledge is a strong one and should begin making tonnage very rapidly in a short time.

The Anaconda, Neversweat, St. Lawrence, Mountain Consolidated, Diamond, Bell, High Ore, Moonlight and Parrot mines—all the properties of the Anaconda, Washoe and Parrot companies—closed Tuesday, throwing 2,500 men out of employment. Announcement is made that the Gagnon mine of the Colorado will also be [illegible]. The mine employs 400 men.

The Venture Corporation of London and the Guggenheim Exploration Company of this city, through the advice of John Hays Hammond, have purchased the Esperanza mine, one of the well-known, thoroughly equipped and large producing gold mines of Mexico. The price is in the neighborhood of $500,000.

The Cripple Creek output for June was 47,360 tons of $1,904,457 gross value. The smelter grade ore was 12,900 tons of $69 gross value each. Mill grade ore values differed from $2 20 per ton on 430 tons treated by the Gillett cyanide mill and $4 per ton on 300 tons treated by the Globe and Goldwell to $30 on 5,000 tons treated by the Portland. The production record for six months past reached $11,525,972.

The Pittsburgh & Montana Copper Company is making rapid progress in the erection of its new smelter, and in the meanwhile development work is still going on in the mines. The company owns about 300 acres of land on the east side of the old Butte district and it is generally understood that it has developed vast copper resources. The smelter buildings are being put up at a cost of $400,000, and will eventually have a capacity of treating 1,000 tons a day. The feature of the plant will be 12 Garretson furnaces, a new method of pyritic converting. It is claimed that so great is the economy from that method of smelting that the saving in metal and cost of treatment amounts to more than $1 a ton over the old methods employed in Butte, or a saving on the present output of the Butte mines of $12,000 a day. Franklin Farrell is quoted as saying that with Garretson process, copper can be produced at a cost of less than one cent a pound.

WALL STREET MARKET IN A HOLIDAY HUMOR

Prices Eased Off and Active Stocks Scored Noteworthy Declines.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, July 3.

The Herald this (Friday) morning says: Trading on the stock exchange yesterday came to all but a standstill. Wall street attributed the apathy to the near approach of the holidays, and that theory provided as satisfactory an explanation as any at hand. The rank and file of the brokers rather expected that the governors of the exchange would grant the petition to close on Friday. But since the governors decided otherwise, the large traders began "evening up" contracts, with the apparent intention of making it a holiday in fact, if not by formal action. Brokerage offices were deserted of customers and many brokers left the city yesterday. Prices sagged off and active stocks scored some rather noteworthy declines, but the recessions seemed to be due more to inanition than anything else.

The news developments of the day were again of mixed variety, leaning, if at all, toward the favorable side of the market. The Missouri state crop report, reporting a condition of corn of 74 per cent, against 102 per cent last year, and this on a reduced acreage, was the most unfavorable feature of the day's developments. It was practically void of influence on the market and elsewhere crop and weather news was better. Cotton ruled fairly steady and the next year's options advanced on expectation of a rather poor government cotton report today. Railway traffic returns were mixed and the Pennsylvania statement did not show up as well as expected. The money eased and call money hardened. Demand sterling advanced sharply and with the easier tendency of sterling at Paris discussions of possible resumption of gold exports were revived.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Spot tin declined 15s in London to £127, while futures lost £1 2s 6d, closing at £125 17s 6d. The local market, influenced by foreign weakness apparently, was weak and lower, spot closing at $27 87½@28 12½. Copper was lower in London, spot there closing at £57 7s 6d and futures at £56 17s 6d. Locally, copper was dull and nominally lower. Lake Superior and electrolytic being quoted at $14 25@14 50 and casting at $14 00. Lead lost 1s 3d in London, closing at £11 15s, while here it was unchanged at $4 12½. Spelter was unchanged in London at £20 and locally at $6 12½@6 25. Iron closed at 52s 6d in Glasgow and at 46s 10½d in Middlesboro. Locally, iron was quiet and nominally unchanged. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $19 50@20 00; No. 2 foundry northern at $18 50@19 00; No. 1 foundry southern and No. 1 foundry southern, soft, at $19 00@19 50.

OPTIONS WANTED ON ENTIRE BLOCK

Hazelwood Property Valued at $150,000 Being Picked Up for Railroads.

FINE SITE BOUGHT FOR $60,000

Residence in Ivy Street Brings $21,500. East End Railroad Talk Has Started Realty Speculators—Sales of Small Properties Above the Average.

Within the last week agents have obtained or sought options on a whole block of property valued at $150,000, in the Twenty-third ward. The property is bounded by Lowry street, Hazelwood avenue, Shippen and Lafayette streets, having a frontage of 200 feet in each of the first two and 479 feet in each of the last two streets. The four frontages are nearly built up with small houses rented to employes of the mills. There are about a dozen owners, and it is said a majority of them have granted options. Much interest is being manifested in the dealings as it is not known whether the agents are acting for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company or for the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company. The property is just across the street from the George Wilson holdings, which the latter company bought recently. It adjoins the holdings of the Baltimore & Ohio and would give that road a large addition to its track room. On the west side of Lowry street the Jones & Laughlin company owns all the property adjacent and it is thought by many that this deal is being made for them. If this is true, they are probably securing the property for a Wabash entrance to their mills. The Wabash has a charter for a bridge over the Monongahela river at this point, and by coming from Finleyville down Becks run, as has frequently been stated would be done, this purchase would give them a direct entrance to the Jones & Laughlin territory by elevating their tracks over the Baltimore & Ohio road.

Completed a $200,000 Purchase.

Through Samuel W. Black & Co. the buyer of the John H. McKelvey homestead in North Negley avenue, has secured a part of the A. H. King property, to the north, for $60,000. Two weeks ago the McKelvey homestead was sold by the same brokers for about $140,000, so that the total investment is now $200,000. No intimation has been given as to whom the buyer is, further than that he is a local capitalist who will occupy the property as a home. The King property, bought yesterday, has a frontage of 118 feet on the west side of North Negley avenue and runs back 750 feet to King street, which is not yet opened. It is a vacant tract. The McKelvey property has a frontage of 380 feet in North Negley avenue with the same depth. About nine acres are included in the two plots, which embrace all the property on the west side of North Negley avenue between Wellesley avenue and Hampton street, and running back to King street. The site is one of the most beautiful in the city and the grounds will be improved to make it an elegant home. The McKelvey mansion is a stone house containing 22 rooms, and is finished in mahogany.

East End Residences Change Hands.

The Kelly-Wood Real Estate Company sold for Margaret E. Ullom to Arminta M. Coyle a fine residence on the west side of Ivy street, near Ellsworth avenue, for $21,500. The lot measures 30x99.5 feet and the house is a center hall brick, containing 12 rooms. The buyer will occupy the property as a home.

Thomas Travers of Gault & Giffen sold for the Aaron French estate to Edward Kern No. 131 Roup street, for $10,500. The property consists of a three-story brick house, on lot 45x142 feet, and was bought for a home.

John Frazier has bought from Joseph Goldberg a residence property 48.5x106 feet, at the southeast corner of Center avenue and Charles street, Thirteenth ward, for $10,800.

James T. Golden has sold to Ernest E. Weniger a residence property, 30x140 feet, on the east side of Craig street, near Center avenue, for $10,000.

G. E. Gandelot has sold to M. Klein No. 1001 Lincoln avenue, at the corner of Rowan street, Twenty-first ward, for $11,500. A three-story brick dwelling containing one store room and seven living rooms is the only improvement.

Speculators on the Ground Early.

Since E. M. Bigelow's declaration that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company means to make the East End headquarters for its passenger business and establish the passenger terminal near the present East Liberty station there has been a lively tilt in prices. This week speculators have been seeking options on all the property on both sides of Penn avenue from the bridge eastward to Denniston avenue. Lots that six weeks ago were on the market at $150 and $200 a front foot are now held at $400 and $500 a foot in consequence of the railroad boom. On adjacent streets, within two squares of the station, prices have gone up proportionately. Very few options have been secured, for most of the owners are content to hold their property until the railroad makes some definite move. If a large station should be erected soon after the small passenger station now assured, or a group of passenger terminals should be built, the center of business activity in the East End would be rapidly shifted eastward and prices on Penn avenue locations would be sure to go up. With the West Penn, the Allegheny Valley, the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroads dumping their passengers at East Liberty, along with the main lines, as has been stated will be done, that section of the city would build up with good business houses at once and the real estate boom now in its infancy might have a very healthy growth.

GRAIN MARKETS WERE UNUSUALLY INACTIVE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, July 2.—Dullness characterized trading today in the grain and provision pits and after some show of firmness wheat ruled weak, September closing ⅛@¼c lower. September corn was off ¼c, but oats were a shade higher, while provisions were from 10@12½c to 20c higher.

There was only a small trade in wheat, owing to the fact that the board will be closed until Monday and the general sentiment was rather bearish. Opening prices were weak on heavy rains in the Red river valley and on the break of the blind pool at St. Louis, September being ¼@⅜c to ½@⅝c lower at 75@75¼c. Commission houses were good buyers at the decline and only with light liquidation the market advanced moderately the first hour, September selling up to 75½c after which prices held comparatively steady until the closing hour. A renewal of the selling pressure caused weakness late in the day, and the close was at the bottom, with September ⅛@⅜c lower at 74⅝c. Primary receipts were 302,600 bushels, against 367,700 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 230 cars, which, with local receipts of 22 cars, none of contract grade, made total receipts for the three points of 252 cars, against 209 cars last week and 366 cars a year ago.

Corn was rather unsettled, with business mostly local and of an evening up character. There was no important trading by any one. The weather was still very favorable for the crop, which, with the weakness in wheat, caused lower prices at the start, but buying by small commission houses on the decline soon resulted in a rally. The market again declined late in the session, along with wheat, and September closed ¼c lower at 49⅞c, after selling between 49⅝c and 50½c. Local receipts were smaller at 346 cars.

Oats were extremely dull and prices kept within a narrow range. The opening was easier in sympathy with wheat and corn, but there was a fair scattered demand on the decline and all of the early loss was recovered. The close was steady, with September a shade higher at 33⅞@33¾c, after ranging between 33½c and 34c. Local receipts were 197 cars.

Provisions opened weak on the bearish showing of stocks in this market, but with fair buying by packers a firm tone developed and the close was near the top prices of the day. September pork was up 12½c to $15 90, September lard was 10@12½c higher at $8 40@8 42½, while ribs were up 20c at $8 91.

SUMMER WEATHER MAKES PRODUCE LOWER

New Potato Quotations Decline. Sharp Cut in Southern Egg Plant.

Responding quickly to more favorable growing conditions an easier feeling is noticeable in the produce market, prices for several lines having gone off slightly from quotations of the early part of the week. In no line was there any advance, while a weaker tone is evident throughout. New potatoes are quoted at $2 25 to $3 50, with the lower price ruling in all sales of a wholesale nature. Old potatoes are hard to find, the market being well cleaned up, and if they are offered at all it is at about $1 25 per bushel. Home-grown cucumbers are lower and are in good supply. Radishes are much cheaper. Home lettuce is down. Southern egg plant has had a decided drop, quotations being brought down from $1 25 to 75 cents per dozen. String beans are lower for southern stock, but home-raised are as yet in limited supply and former prices prevail. Southern peas are lower. Asparagus is about gone and is no longer quoted. Berries were in moderate supply yesterday, black raspberries holding to quotations which have ruled for several days. Red raspberries will be past their prime with the end of this week, while black will be in good condition for another week. Blackberries and huckleberries are now coming forward in fairly plentiful quantity. Currants are still scarce and gooseberries are not abundant. Watermelons and cantaloupes are in good supply and are just about steady as to price. Some green corn is arriving, but it is yet scarce and not altogether satisfactory as to quality.

Hay is easier now than it was last week, but there is little on the way to arrive soon, so that prices are expected to rule firmer for a few days. Oats are easy and quotations went off another small cent yesterday. Millfeed is weak. Quotations are nominally held at former figures, but there is light call and some pressure to sell. Corn is holding its own, with the market fairly strong, although buyers are not showing much eagerness to purchase.

Poultry is easier and quotations now named represent the top of the market for values in all lines. Supplies of chickens are not so limited as they were a few weeks ago, and demand is less active. Spring chickens are growing larger, and are being shipped in with more freedom, this fact working to the weakening of the market for old fowls, which are in lighter request as springers grow larger. Ducks are just about steady.

Despite the weaker wheat situation there is no change in flour prices, millers asking as much for their product now as they did a week ago. A continuance of the present growing weather in the northwest is looked to, however, as likely to have some effect on the situation, as it will cause the speculative market to go off, and this always affects cash wheat. Other grocery staples remain as heretofore in the local market.

Butter is steady, cheese firm and eggs unchanged. Demand for fresh eggs is not so heavy as it was two weeks ago.

In the Oil Fields

Developments in the lower southwest oil fields were light again yesterday. Small wells and a few dusters were the result of the day's work in West Virginia and Southeastern Ohio. In the lower end of the development in Wetzel county, No. 2 on the Samuel Talkington farm, which came in at the rate of 225 barrels, has dropped down to 180 barrels a day. In this and other deep-sand territory the wells, once large producers, have declined till there are not a dozen with an individual production of 100 or more barrels a day.

The South Penn Oil Company's No. 1 on the Thomas J. Showalter farm, northeast of the Pine Grove extension, in Wetzel county, is weakening a little, as shown by the last 24 hours' gauge, which was a little below 500 barrels.

In the older part of the Pine Grove field, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 5 on the Jesse Shuman farm 15 feet into the stray and has a small showing of oil.

In the old Fairview district in Marion county the South Penn Company has drilled its No. 5 on the M. E. Brookover farm 107 feet into the Big Injun sand and has a small show of oil.

In the Calcutta district, Pleasants county, Urquhart & Co. have drilled their No. 28 on the Zachra Jones farm through the Cow Run sand and have a 5-barrel pumper. No. 29 on the same farm is drilling.

In the Bonds Creek district, Ritchie county, the McKelvey Oil Company has completed and shot its No. 4 on the McDoughal farm and has a 15-barrel pumper in the Keener sand.

In the Whiskey Run extension and 1,500 feet southeast of the good producer on the Mahaney heirs' farm, the Carter Oil Compnay has drilled in a test on the J. J. Mahaney farm and at 15 feet in the Keener sand has a show for a producer good for 150 barrels a day. This indicates that the southeast end of the development may furnish several new locations.

North of Cairo, on the big Harkness tract in the same county, the Hudson Oil Company has drilled in its No. 21 and has a show for a 100-barrel producer from the Keener.

Down in Calhoun county in the Yellow Creek district, the Lowther Oil Compnay has drilled its No. 5 on the Susannah and W. H. Taylor farm into the Berea grit and has a 50-barrel producer in that formation.

In the Proctor district, Wetzel county, the Tri-State Gas Company has drilled its test on the M. Yoho farm into the Gordon and has a fair gasser.

On the Ohio side in the new development on Sheets run, near Highland, Washington county, Stewart, Newman & Co. have drilled their second test on the Isaac Soles farm into the Keener sand and have a producer, good for 100 barrels a day.

Near Joy, Morgan county, J. C. Schramm has completed a test on the Henry Porter farm and has a 5-barrel pumper. On Millers run, Monroe county, the New England Gas and Oil Company has completed a test on the Orren J. Daniels farm, good for about 10 barrels a day in the Big Injun sand.

ASK THAT DEED BE CANCELLED

The Prudential Trust Company Charges F. G. Kay and Harry Darlington With Fraud.

$47,000 INVOLVED IN DEAL

Denholm Bros. Company, in Answer to the Suit of Amelia R. Speer, Deny They Penned Up Cattle for Days Without Food.

A bill in equity was filed by the Prudential Trust Company and others against Frederick G. Kay and Harry Dalington, in which it is asked that a deed for property be cancelled.

The statement sets forth that the Pittsburgh Construction and Manufacturing Company made an assignment to the trust company and J. B. Flint was elected co-assignee. At the time of the assignment the company had on hands contracts for many unfinished buildings, and these were completed by the assignees under an order of court. It is alleged the defendants were owners of property on Homewood avenue. They had interested others in the improvement of the property, it is claimed, and West & Wilson had been given the contract for the erection of houses to cost $60,000. The contract was assigned to the Pittsburgh Construction & Manufacturing Company and under the direction of the court, it is said, the plaintiff expended $47,000 in the completion of the houses. As an arrangement of settlement, it is alleged, the property was sold to the plaintiffs, and a deed was made to the defendants. It is now charged that the conduct of the defendants was fraudulent and if they are permitted to retain title, it is said, the assignees will lose $47,000. It is asked that the defendants be restrained from disposing of the property and that the sheriff's deed for the same be cancelled.

An answer was filed to the equity suit of Amelia R. Speer against Denholm Bros. Company, an action to restrain the defendants from maintaining a slaughter house in the Homewood district. It is denied by the company that it has penned up cattle and swine for many days at a time without food, thus causing the animals suffering and annoying the neighborhood by their outcries. It is stated by the company that every precaution and appliance that is required for the due regard of neighboring property owners is used; that the defendants holdings are valued at $25,000 and that the slaughter house is not a nuisance.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

An execution was issued by J. A. Wakefield, as trustee, against William Groves for $11,025.

Timothy Corrigan and wife entered suit against James Quinn for $10,000 damages for alleged false arrest on a charge of alleged larceny.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed against J. D. Miller & Son of Rockwood, Somerset county. It is alleged the firm owes $25,000. The creditors are eastern firms.

In the United States circuit court suit was entered by the Westinghouse, Church, Kerr Company against the Lewis Foundry and Machine Company for a balance of $2,705.82 on machinery alleged to have been purchased. It is said the defendant refuses to settle.

In the United States district court a petition in bankruptcy was filed by William Dickey Arthur, a retail jeweler of Pittsburgh. His liabilities are placed at $11,327.29 and his assets at $9,445.86, the greatest part of which is in account for jewelry sold on time.

The master in the divorce case of Edward P. Gass against Carrie Gass filed his report, recommending that a decree be granted. They were married August 26, 1897. The testimony shows that on December 24, 1898, the wife went home to her mother and never returned to her own home.

Mary E. Ansell, Aubrey P. Wilson and Julia Ford entered suits against the Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago & St. Louis railway yesterday for damages for alleged personal injuries received on May 12, 1902, at Sheraden during an explosion of naphtha. Mary Ancell asks for $1,000 and the others $5,000 each.

Application was made for a new trial for Joseph Canovsky, who was convicted last Tuesday for the murder of his wife at Minersville, near the Washington county line. It is alleged the court erred in its charge and that through fear the defendant, while on the stand, told an improbable tale and one conflicting with a version of the affair previously given.

Judge Marshall Brown had John Mullin, John Freeman, John Fullerton and Willard Walker before him in juvenile court. The boys are all of the Oakland district and were arrested on charges of stealing pocketbooks and breaking open slot machines. Their ages range from 12 to 14 years. Mrs. Alice B. Montgomery, probation officer, interested herself in the case. They were held over until next Thursday.

In criminal court Robert Thompkins was found guilty of a charge of aggravated assault and battery preferred by Lewis Lynch, the son of the injured man. It is alleged by Lynch that Thompkins struck his father, Timothy Lynch, on the head with a brick on May 20, cutting his head and otherwise injuring him. He was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse, the jury recommending him to the mercy of the court.

BONES OF MAMMOTH SIZE.

Fossil Hunters Discover Remains of Prehistoric Men and Animals.

BIG TIMBER, MONT., July 2.—Wonderful discoveries of fossils and bones of prehistoric men and animals are being made in the Fish creek country by Prof. M. S. Farr and a party of students from Princeton university. In the remains of a city belonging to the stone age Prof. Farr found the bones of animals of immense size, and various crude instruments, many of them ornamented with gems.

Near the creek was found, almost complete, the skeletons of a man, nine feet high and another skeleton, somewhat smaller was found near by, probably being that of a woman. Bones believed to have belonged to a dog the size of a horse were also discovered.

PRISONERS' EFFECTS SOLD.

One lot consisted of 322 revolvers and were knocked down at 40 cents apiece. Watches, of silver, tin and brass brought from $1 to $1.50 each, and a lot of brass $26. Several bicycles sold at $2 each and half a dozen ancient corsets brought 50 cents. A trunk full of clothing was sold at $2 and several cheap satchels brought from 50 to 75 cents.

FRUIT BEVERAGES FOR HOT WEATHER.

Hot weather brings to every human constitution a craving for larger quantities of refreshing liquids than may seem in accordance with rules laid down by dietitians—yet these innocent cravings cannot be misplaced or can it be wrong to minister to them unless there is manifest depravity in the kind desired. Even normal taste demands that they be cooling as well as refreshing, and possessing a quality slightly acid in its nature. The fresh fruits give us a most agreeable variety of delicious flavors that are as wholesome as they are grateful.

Because these drinks are delightful to the taste and harmless in their ingredients do not use them to excess with the idea that no unpleasant result will follow the over-indulgence in iced drinks, whatever their component parts may be. The simplest way to prepare fresh fruit beverages is to crush the fruit, add sugar enough to sweeten to taste and allow to steep until the juices are well drawn out, then pour off. This may be served at once by pouring into glasses partly filled with cracked ice or may be sterilized and sealed in bottles for later use. For strawberry and the sweeter fruit juices add a tablespoonful of lemon juice to each pint of fruit juice.

Strawberry Shrub.

Stem ten pounds of fine ripe strawberries and sprinkle over them 15 cents worth of tartaric acid, cover with cold water and let stand for 24 hours. Macerate, then strain off the clear juice. To make a still richer juice pour this over 10 pounds more of fresh ripe berries and let steep another 24 hours and strain again; add two cups of granulated sugar to every pint of juice. Boil rapidly for five minutes, skim and then let simmer 10 or 15 minutes. When cool pour into bottles and cork. To serve this double shrub use one-third syrup and two-thirds water and serve in glasses with cubes of ice.

Lemon Beer.

To a gallon of boiling water add a sliced lemon and a tablespoonful of ginger and scald well; cool and add half a pint or half a cake of good yeast, sweeten to taste; let stand to ferment then strain into bottles, cork tightly and keep in a cold place.

Black Currant Cup.

To one pint of black juice add two quarts of weak green tea. Sweeten to taste and cool. Serve in glasses with cubes of ice.

Queen's Nectar.

Pare the thin yellow rind from three lemons. Add two quarts of boiling water and two pints of granulated sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved, then cool; add the juice of the lemons, a pound of seeded and chopped raisins, a few chopped figs and six quarts of water; let it stand five days, stirring twice each day; then strain into bottles and cork tightly.

Boiled Lemonade.

Squeeze the juice from five lemons, strain perfectly clear; add seven tablespoonful of sugar. Pour a cup and a half of boiling water over the sugar and juice and set away to cool. Serve ice cold with a few strawberries, cherries or raspberries on top.

Turkish Delight.

Grate a fine ripe pineapple into a bowl and cover with boiling water; let stand five hours, then strain off the clear liquid, sweeten to taste and freeze to a soft snow, serve in glasses with a spoonful of red raspberries in the bottom of each glass.

Cherry Drink.

Wash and stem ripe, red cherries, weigh, and to three pounds of the fruit add three quarts of boiling water. Place over the fire where they will steep for two hours. Make a syrup with one and one-half pints of water and one and one-half pounds of sugar. When it cooks clear let it boil for ten minutes. When the cherries are soft pour into a jelly bag and strain out the clear juice, add the syrup and boil together for ten minutes. Then cool and keep on ice for a day before serving.

Raspberry Soda.

Make a syrup with three pounds of granulated sugar, a little water and six ounces of tartaric acid. To this add three quarts of strained strawberry juice; put into glass jars, shake well and then bottle. For a drink put two tablespoonful of the syrup in a glass of water with quarter of a teaspoonful of soda.

Raspberry Shrub.

Pick over carefully six quarts of black cup raspberries—cover with pure cider vinegar, throw a cloth over the jar to keep out the dust and let stand for 24 hours, then put in a bag and squeeze out all the juice. Prepare six quarts more of the berries and put in the juice; let stand for 24 hours, then squeeze out the juice and strain through cheesecloth. Measure the juice and to each pint allow a pound of sugar. Put the juice over the fire in a porcelain-lined kettle; boil rapidly for 10 minutes, removing the scum as it rises, then bottle and seal. A cup of the shrub to a quart of water makes a pleasant drink.

Raspberry Vinegar.

Pick over 12 pounds of ripe raspberries and add a quart of good vinegar; keep in a stone jar, in a cool place, for 10 days. Then carefully remove the surface and filter the raspberry vinegar. Add an equal quantity of good sugar syrup, mix well and pour into bottles, cork and keep in a cool place.

INQUIRIES ANSWERED.

Mrs. E. H. B. writes: I would like to have a good recipe for whole wheat flour pudding—one with berries preferred.

Entire Wheat Flour Pudding.

Mix two cups of entire wheat flour with half a teaspoonful of soda and half a teaspoonful of salt. Add half a cup of New Orleans molasses and a cup of sweet milk. Mix well, pour into a buttered mold and place in a kettle of boiling water. Boil continuously for two and one-half hours. Serve with foamy sauce. A cup of strawberries, cherries or raspberries may be added to the pudding, first dredging them with flour.

Persian Sherbet.

Miss Rose writes: Please give directions for making Persian sherbert.

Boil six or eight tender green stalks of rhubarb in three pints of water, adding quarter of a pound of raisins or figs, sliced, cook half an hour, strain and stir in sufficient rose water, orange or lemon syrup to taste. Then freeze.

French Scrambled Eggs.

Mrs. G. F. S. writes: Kindly publish French recipe for scrambled eggs.

Four eggs, salt, pepper, two tablespoonfuls cream and one of stock. Beat the eggs slightly, add the cream and stock and turn into a smooth greased omelet pan; stir constantly until the eggs are cooked to a creamy mass; take from the fire and beat briskly with a wire egg whip and serve quickly on buttered toast.

A FLESH FORMING FOOD.

When you buy a package of Mi-o-na, the great flesh-forming food and dyspepsia cure, weigh yourself and see how much you gain in the first week's use.

Druggists Schilling Bros. Company, Penn and Frankstown avenues, will tell you of many of their customers who a month or so ago were thin, haggard and dyspeptic, but who are now, through the use of Mi-o-na, plump, strong and happy, with perfect health and good digestion. They have seen so many instances of the wonderful power of Mi-o-na to restore the sick to health and to make good, natural flesh, that they give their personal guarantee with every package of Mi-o-na they sell to refund the money if the remedy does not prove satisfactory.

Mi-o-na is a purely vegetable preparation that can be used with absolute confidence by the most delicate. It gives remarkable results with children who are weak, run down and without appetite. It builds up the thin, pale, puny girl and woman to perfect plumpness and health. It is the only flesh-forming food of its kind, and in addition it strengthens the digestive organs, aids the food to digest and makes complete and permanent cures of the worst cases of dyspepsia.
